Pirates Conquer

(Above) Learning to "change" with the times, Frank Bruno adapts to Western Thought's unique assignments.

The tide has brought in many changes this year, but no matter how rough they were, we conquered them all.

The changes that occurred this year were not only for the students, but also for the faculty, counselors, deans, and even the superintendent. Dr. Charles Holt retired this year after many years of dedicated service to the Proviso Township. Mr. Jack Stanley became our acting superintendent.

Homerooms are no longer separated by years. The recent change classifies students by their last names. With the new homeroom change, also came the counselor's change. Counselors now handle their students alphabetically, not by years.

A lot of changes were going on in the Main Office this year, too. Mr. Dale Crawford went from assistant principal to our new Curriculum Director. Miss Barbara Gibson replaced Mr. Crawford as assistant principal.

These changes and future changes cannot keep Proviso under the current.

Pirates Strike Back Against RB!

Keeping the spirit of our Homecoming theme, the Proviso East football team did "Strike Back" against Riverside-Brookfield. Winning the game by a score of 20-7 kept the Homecoming Day a huge success. John Cardamone, coming in for Tracy Henderson, who was injured, did an excellent job for our team. He threw two touchdown passes hitting our man both times. That man was Malcolm Nelson. A fourth quarter touchdown pass to Nelson helped us take a commanding lead over RB. Kicking those extra points that are always needed was done by Michael Mastenbrook, who also played an excellent game. The credit for this win should go to the coaches. Our head coach, Mr. Michael Zelenovich, and our assistant coaches Mr. George Ludwig and Mr. Michael Williams.

The Force Moves Us

To conclude the exciting homecoming week, the annual dance was held in the fieldhouse. Hours of planning and hard work on behalf of the Student Council and its sponsors. For only $3.50, one could take part in a priceless and unforgettable evening. With the theme being "The Empire Strikes Back" the gym was transformed into a cosmic paradise. Silver stars, moons, blue and white streamers, and balloons decorated the gym. The dance was a great opportunity for Proviso students to show off the latest fashions. Styles ranged from preppy sports clothes to chiffon dresses, from slinky jumpsuits to long fur coats. Couples "popped," "moon-walked" and smoothed out the "tidal wave" to music played by the New Testament Band. Unlike last year, the change from having records to a live band created an enjoyable atmosphere for some.

Lovely weather added great enthusiasm to Proviso's Homecoming parade. Contestants lined up for the parade from 8:30-9:30 to start the parade at 10:00. The Freshman Float came in first in the judging.

Participants paraded gaily on the two mile march through various parts of Maywood. Spectators gazed in awe as the decorated cars and floats passed by. Proviso's marching band highlighted the streets with sounds of the school song, "On Proviso," as the Pirateers danced in step behind them. Other dancers included Proviso's Dance Club, Color Guards, and a neighborhood dance group called "The Fly Guys." The Cub Scouts and the Cadets added a little patriotism to the parade. Younger spectators were intrigued by colorful little "mice" from Garfield Elementary School.

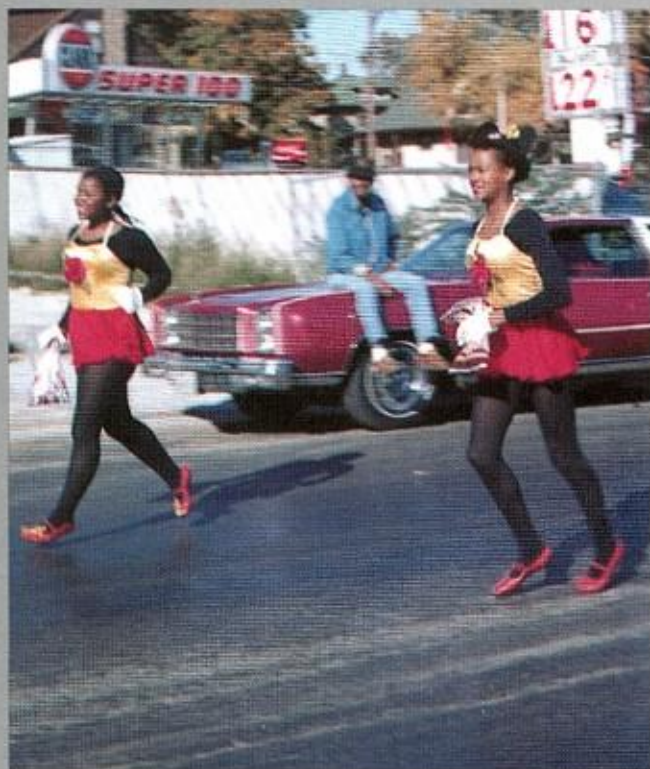

With the end of the parade came the start of an unforgettable day of homecoming activities.

Adding patriotism to the parade are the Maywood Cadets.

The junior float was a colorful attraction to the parade.

Future Fashions

Our 1981 Homecoming Week was a success and was started off with the Fashion Show.

As in the past, this year's Fashion Show was a huge success. Ms. Montoya coordinated this year's fashion show beautifully. Students were able to see the different and unique designs displayed by fellow students. This year's students were judged on their modeling ability. Although it was a difficult choice, the winners this year were Pam McFadden, Leon Brown, and Beverly Harris. This year's theme was "Future Fashions". We may see these designs again in the near future!!

Looking sharp in her shiny outfit, Pam McFadden shows us her winning costume.

Posing with the "Future Focus" Fashion background is Beverly Harris.

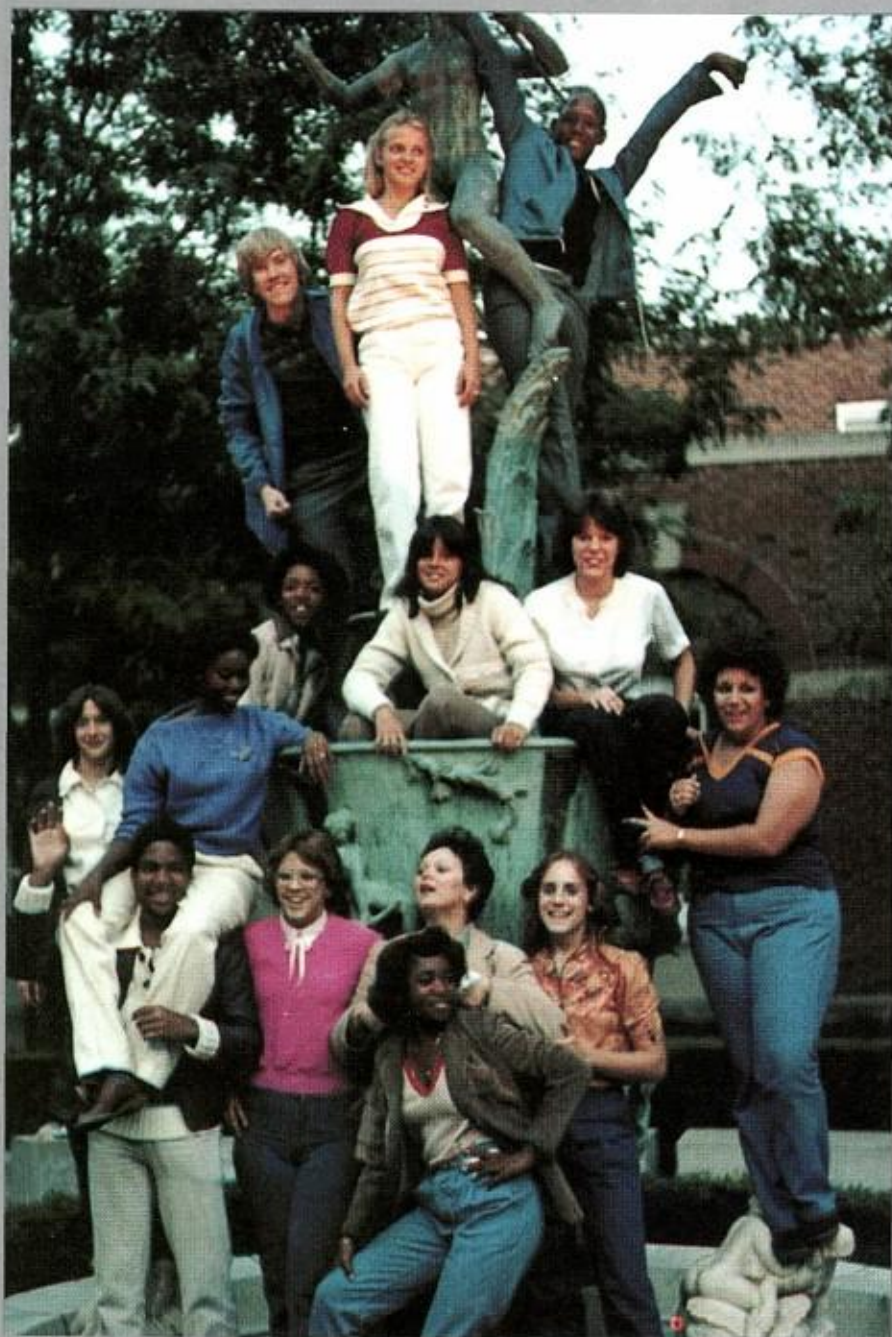

Performing a major part in our Homecoming Week was Mr. Thomas Milikin.

STUDENT LIFE

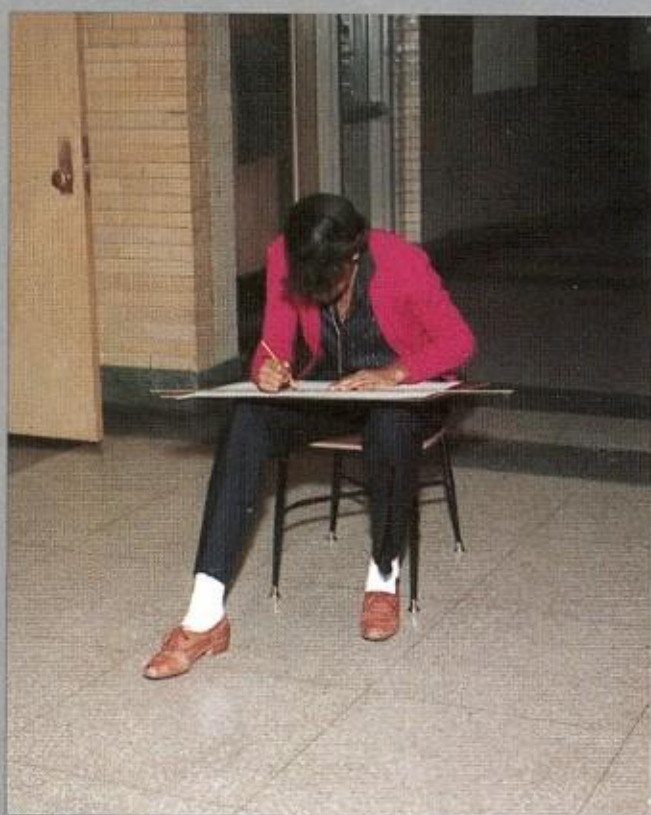

Class Activities Add

Clowning around while down on Champaign's College campus is the 1981 Provi Staff.

Experimenting with the forces that produce acceleration is Senior Glenn Doeing.

The quietness of the hallway helps this student work better.

Posing in a group composition for a painting are Bruce Fair, Liz Manzo, Troy Guthrie, and Myron Miller.

Fun to Learning

Getting down to the bare essentials, Frank Bruno and Bill Yaeger perform a play in Western Thought.

Throwing herself into her cake is Olenda Brown.

Many classes that Proviso East offers take part in different activities both inside and outside of school. The activities are designed to benefit students by helping them understand what they are learning. The Development of Western Thought class helps to broaden the philosophical outlook of students. One way that they do this, which also strengthens their communication skills, is by playing the parts of philosophers in the form of a play. The students enjoy this activity because it is easier and more comprehensible to hear the philosopher's words coming from a fellow student than to read what he says. Another class with a different type of activity is Physics. The experiments done help students to understand the physical world and how things affect one another.

Every year the Provi Staff takes a trip to the University of Illinois at Champaign Urbana. They attend a convention aimed at teaching students and faculty how to put together a better yearbook. Students come from all over Illinois, bringing a sample of their school's books.

Another change occurred when Mr. Margita from Proviso West became our Art Department coordinator. Although enrollment is dropping, it hasn't affected the Art Department. Due to inflation, students' supplies are more expensive. Many projects were dropped to the cost of these supplies. However, student activities in art will go on. For example, in January there is national competition for East students.

Without school activities, trips, and projects, students wouldn't have as much fun learning as they seem to be having now.

The Bus Stops Here ...

After many months of waiting, students finally get to board the bus.

For the first time in over 35 years, West Town Bus Company decided to stop the special school bus service, leaving many students to find alternative ways to get to and from school. Finding new bus routes to school was not the easiest way to start school for many. The bus problem caused many complications for students, along with providing them with a common reason for being tardy. The cutbacks by West Towns Bus Company also forced students to resort to the extremes; J & D Cab Company.

Regional Transportation Authority general manager, Bernard Ford, said the school bus runs were discontinued because of financial and legal reasons. He added that the special bus service runs lose an estimated $300,000 annually.

Principal Thomas Milikin was notified of the decision on August 6 and had to send out last-minute letters informing parents and students of the cutbacks before school started on August 27.

As the year progressed, students learned to cope with the fact that West Towns Bus Company would no longer continue their special school bus service, as well as realizing that the special buses provided by West Town does not stop here at Proviso East.

Cutbacks by the West Town Bus Company forced students to resort to other forms of transportation to and from school.

Inflation Drives Up the Cost of Owning a Car

New cars like this one are well beyond the price range of students.

High School students, along with many other teen-agers, dream of the day when they will get their new car. Many students are awarded new cars for graduation. Others are fortunate to get their new car as soon as sophomore year. But, are these new car owners as fortunate as they may seem? Or are the fortunate ones really the ones with no car at all? Along with a new car comes many expenses, as well as great responsibilities.

As inflation went up this year, so did the cost of buying a car. One may be able to buy a used car for as low as $200. On the other hand, if a used car just "isn't your thing", be prepared to spend about $4000 for a new car, without the luxuries. The buck doesn't stop here.

Insurance is another factor which makes owning a car very expensive, especially for boys under 18 years of age. Insurance for guys under 18 years of age costs as much as $400 every six months. For girls the price is a little more lenient. The average price girls under 18 years of age pay for insurance is about $200 every six months. Don't get discouraged now, we're not finished yet.

In addition to the cost of the car itself and insurance, there is also the cost of gas. Who wants a car with no gas? The cost of gas nowadays is anywhere from $1.14 a gallon to $1.49. The price of gas is expected to rise even higher in a year or so.

A car doesn't run on gas alone. To keep one's car in good running condition required mechanical aid. This includes a tune up about once every year, with the price ranging from $75, not to mention additional odds and ends work needed to be done.

With all this in mind, is a new car really worth it? Or is West Town Bus Company back in service again.

Students are likely to be seen in economical cars such as this one.

This "do it yourself" racer, built by Al Dunker, minimizes the cost of purchasing a new car.

Are a Real Treat

Ghosts, goblins and ghouls couldn't keep the spirit of Halloween away from Proviso this year. Creeping through the halls among the more reserved students were clowns, witches, cowboys, punk rockers, and other creative costumes. It was an unusual change from an otherwise normal day.

There were a lot of activities taking place the whole day to keep everyone busy. Each year the Child Development class plans a party for a group of small children. They play games, have treats, and show off their costumes. Young or old, Halloween was enjoyed by everyone.

M.O.N.E.Y....

The meaning of M.O.N.E.Y. is clear, Its presence, however, is seldom near.

Thus, let us take the time, its meaning to clearly define:

M is for the many things that money often brings.

O is for the Oscar de La Rentas to go with the Gloria Vanderbilt jeans.

N is for the necessities that your parents make you buy — out of all your money saved — boy, it makes you wanna cry!

E is for the efforts you put forth to earn.

Y is for the many many things for which you yearn.

Don't be discouraged, don't be a jerk, come on you all, we've just begun to work.

Talking to the Navy recruiter, Chris Ford prepares for the future.

Making his job a pleasure, Eugene Jackson works diligently.

Jobs Students Hold

The jobless rate of the Proviso East student body is very high. However, working, for the most part, presents itself as a past-time for many Proviso East Students.

"It's almost like playing grown-up", comments Jackie Tillman ('82). "First, there's school, which presents itself as home with fellow students acting as family. Then there's work. Here, meeting people opens a whole new corridor to life. Next there's home, this time real home. Home reminds me, as a working student, of a place for relaxation. You're too tired to do homework, therefore, you just relax and unwind. See it's just like mommy and daddy".

"Working makes me feel independent, and it keeps money in my pockets," says Andre Schaffer ('82).

Mary Papa's job at Universal Design as a key punch operator prepares for a promising future in computer programming in college.

Lynette Richter ('81) has been a salesperson for K-Marts for 1½ years. She's saving money for college. To her, the advantages of working are getting to know people — it makes it easier to talk with people. Working at K-Marts also gives her an insight to how the retailing market works.

"Personally, I find it a challenge to work and go to school at the same time," comments Lisa Courts ('81).

"Now that I'm working I can pay for my own things. I meet a lot of people. Some of my closest friends I've met here at work," states Karen Manak ('81).

"I like working, it gives me a feeling of responsibility, as well as providing me with money," — Paul Boyd ('82).

Here are just a few comments from a few working students here at East. The reasons for working varies. The places of employment differ.

"Working provides me with an outlet for steam. I suppose it's different strokes for different folks," — Tesa ('81).

Lisa Courts enjoys her job at the Maywood Public Library.

Meet The

Welcome to Maywood! Home of the Proviso East Pirates. Population 26,547. It doesn't consist of the fast moving pace of New York or downtown Chicago, nor does it contain palm trees that can be found on the sandy beaches in Hawaii, but what Maywood does have is an atmosphere that changes like the weather. In fact, it frequently appears to change with the seasons. "Riding down Madison Avenue, Maywood's "Main Street" in disguise, in the summer time is like riding in the Rose Bowl Parade, whereas in the winter riding down Madison reminds one of a trip to grandmother's house", says Lisa Courts ('81).

"Maywood is a town full of spirit and spunk. The recreational facilities offer innumerable ways for enjoyment. However, I feel the citizens have yet to realize it. In my opinion, Maywoodians should draw closer together instead of pulling apart. Needless to say, this is home", comments Keith Tillman ('81).

Maywood's recreational facilities and the Little League department give growth and character of mind and well bodies. Such talents of Jim Brewer, Theo Shaw, and Glenn Rivers, to name a few, were nurtured through Maywood's baseball programs.

Maywood's Community Center adds beauty to the community.

Over the years it has continued to grow in size of teams; however, "it has diminished in parent cooperation and participation," commented former graduate of East, Clarence Jackson

('65) vice president of Maywood Little League.

The Community Center is in many ways similar to Chicago's health clubs. Martial arts lessons, dance classes, singing and theatrical performances are all just a few activities enjoyed by the young and old at the Community Center. The outer beauty of the Community Center seems to flow into the inner souls of the people inside willing to work with each other and make it a lovely place to go.

Speaking of beauty, Maywood's new fire department is a beaut. The modern structure clearly demonstrates the town's progressiveness.

National Pride Car Wash is a popular attraction on Madison Avenue.

"Village People"

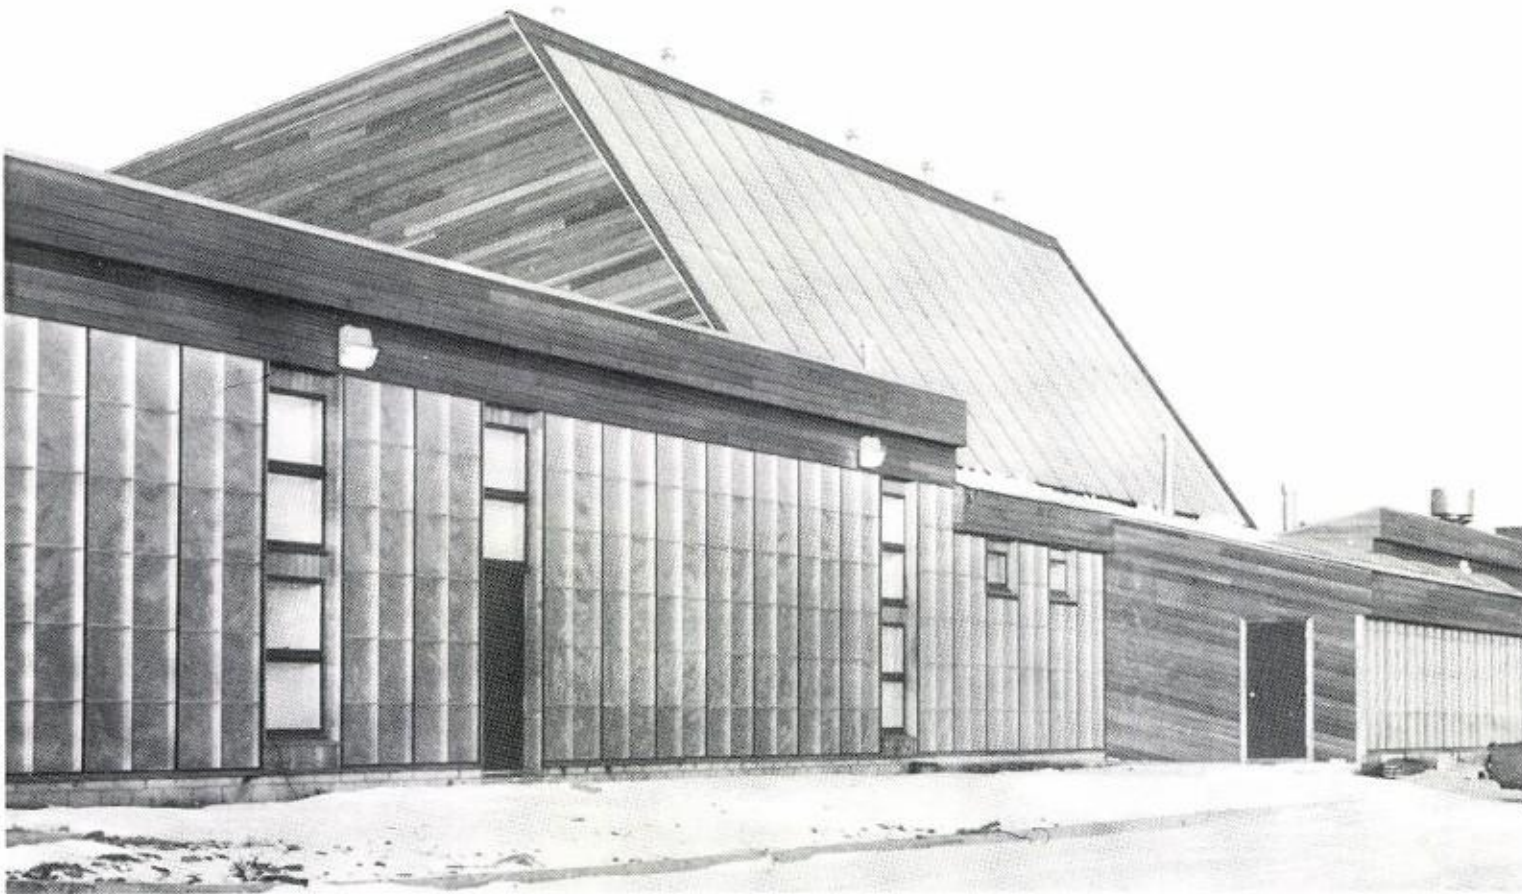

An active participant takes part in Maywood's Little League Program.

"For the most part I'm glad I've spent my entire life living in Maywood. As far as I'm concerned, the people who live in Maywood are what makes the village special. I feel privileged to be a Maywoodian and I value all my friendships here" — Kari Christensen ('81).

Village of Eternal Light

The National Pride Car Wash provides a place for gathering for Maywoodians.

The New fire department. Odd, isn't it? Yes, but it adds beauty to our favorite town.

The Village

Forest Park, The Village With A Smile, has been around for many years. It still is the small town it once was, but it is going through big changes.

The first change occurred when one of the Grain towers on Jackson Boulevard went up in flames. Weakening of the framework for the grain towers caused enough problems that part of the town might have had to be evacuated. Two out of the original towers still remain standing.

Even though their contracts for the 1981 year continued in negotiations, the Forest Park Fire Department was on the scene in minutes. Also there were reporters for all the television stations.

On the corner of Roosevelt and Des Plaines in Forest Park, is the site of the future Mall to be opened in June of 1981.

Still smoldering after burning all night, The Forest Park Grain and Seed Company on Jackson Boulevard is knocked down for safety reasons.

Another change for '81 will be the opening of the new mall on Roosevelt Road. There will be 3 major stores, 70 other different types of stores, 3 cinemas, and much more. Originally named to be the site for a new Post Office, due to petitions from the people of Forest Park, the mall was selected instead. The new mall may be a new hangout, but the old ones will still be around.

The Forest Park McDonalds has been a hang-out for students on their way home from school, and even a few before school earlybirds who want a hot breakfast. On weekends you can always find a friend at McDonalds and sometimes a whole bunch of friends sitting around, exchanging the latest gossip.

Although times have changed, the town looks different, and many people have come and gone, Forest Park is still known to many as home and to others as "The Village With a Smile."

With A Smile!

McDonalds has been one of the hang-outs of East students for a long time.

In the process of being knocked down, the ball hits the tower time after time.

Getting together after a day at school, these 4 students find McDonalds a good place to meet.

Even with their contract negotiations going on, the Forest Park Fire Department is always ready to help.

Growing Up In Broadview

Growing up in Broadview — during the scorching summer months it brings back memories of swimming at the pool, playing ball at the park, waiting in anticipation of the Good Humor man to make his daily run, going to the Ben Franklin to buy a pocketful of candy, just spending most of our time playing with friends from morning to night. During winter it was the same thing — playing with friends, but now taking our sleds to “Suicide Hill,” building snow forts, or learning to ice skate on the frozen-over baseball fields.

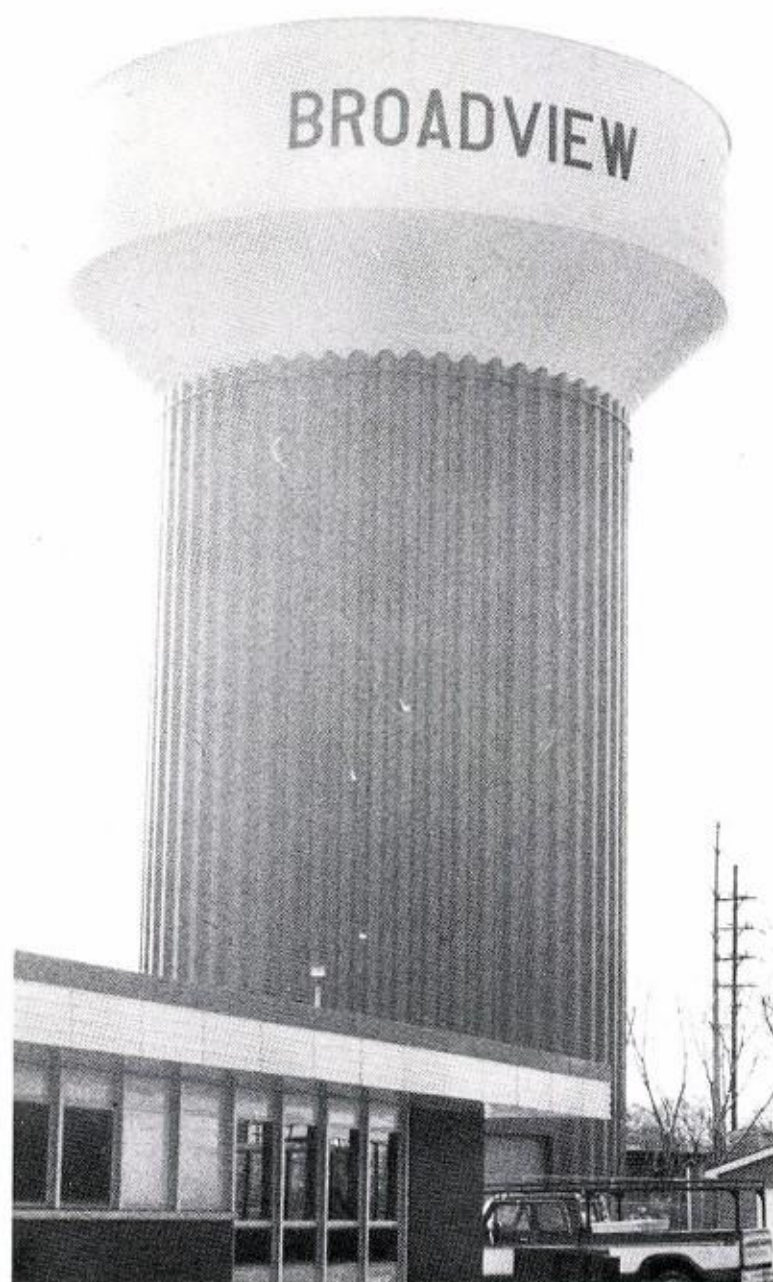

While in grade school there were the usual grade school rivalries — who had the best gym, the nicest school, the best team or anything else we could think of at the time.

Not much has changed since then. Although now many high school students think Broadview is dull. When we were younger, there was always something to do. Now there is nothing to do unless you're younger than 13 or older than 30. Anything in between is an outcast. So what I resort to doing is going into other towns to find so-called excitement. Forest Park, Melrose Park and North Riverside just to name a few. But when I go to visit friends in these other towns, all they have to say is, “Oh c'mon let's not stick around here. This town is boring. Let's go over by where you live, c'mon let's go to Broadview.”

The Broadview Park District facility offers a complete recreational program, catering to all ages and geared for all seasons.

(Above) Broadview, also known as the Balanced community, has a population of approximately 10,000. This year Broadview lost their mayor, Merrit Braga, after more than 40 years of dedicated service as mayor to the community.

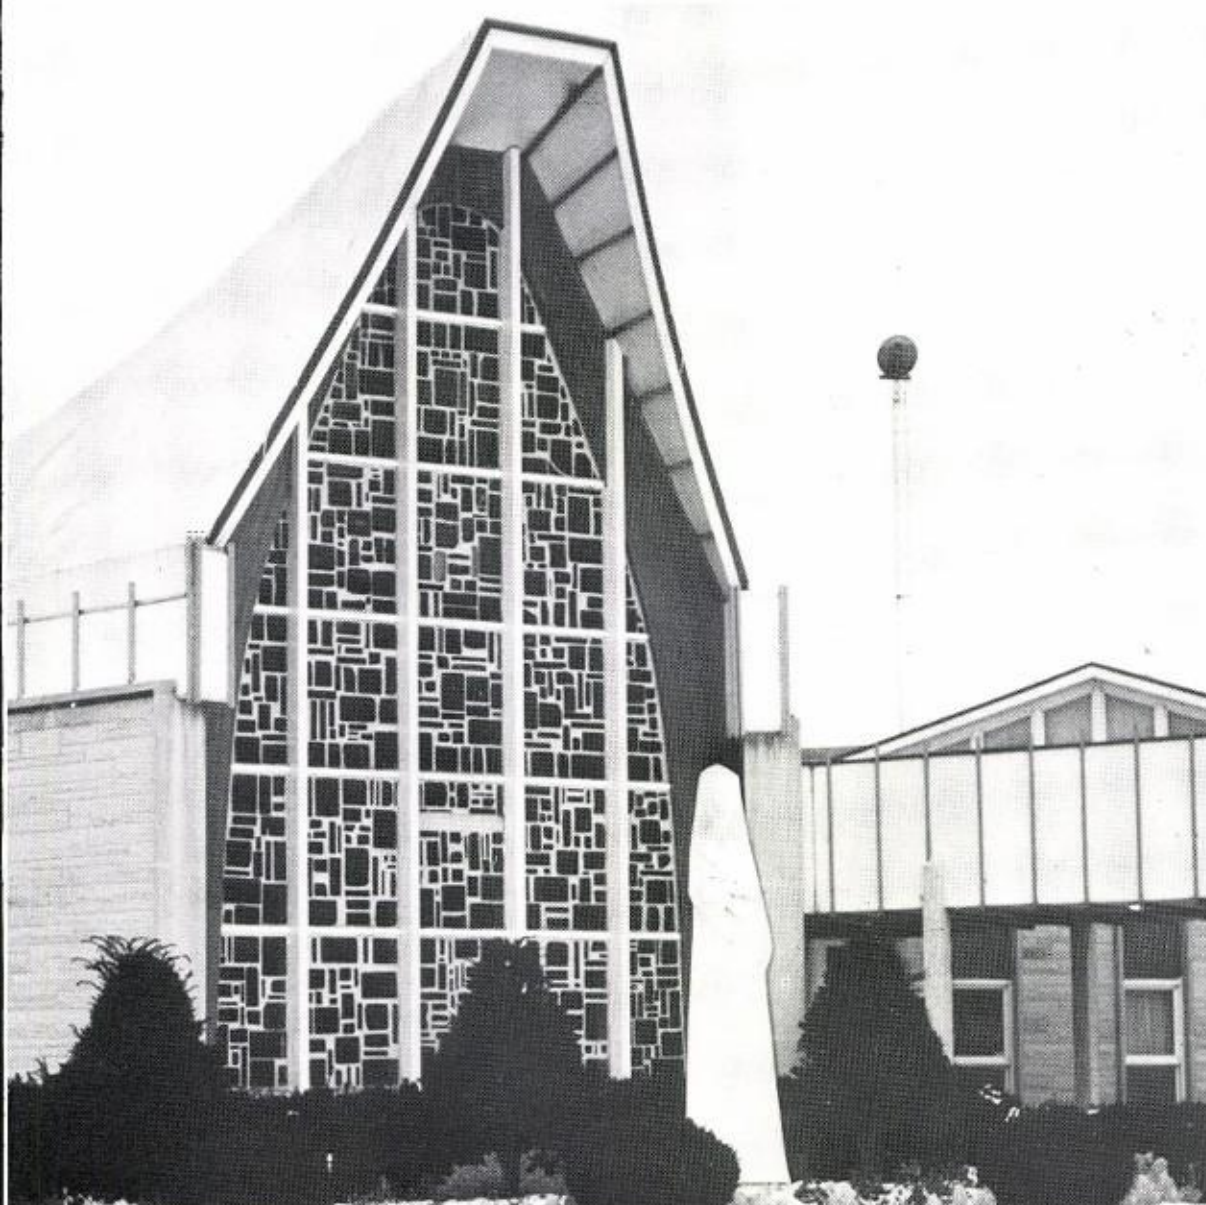

(Below) The Broadview Public Library contains many reference materials for children and adults of any age.

Melrose Park — A Little Touch Of Italy

The Lady of Mount Carmel Church is where the Italian Feast is held every year.

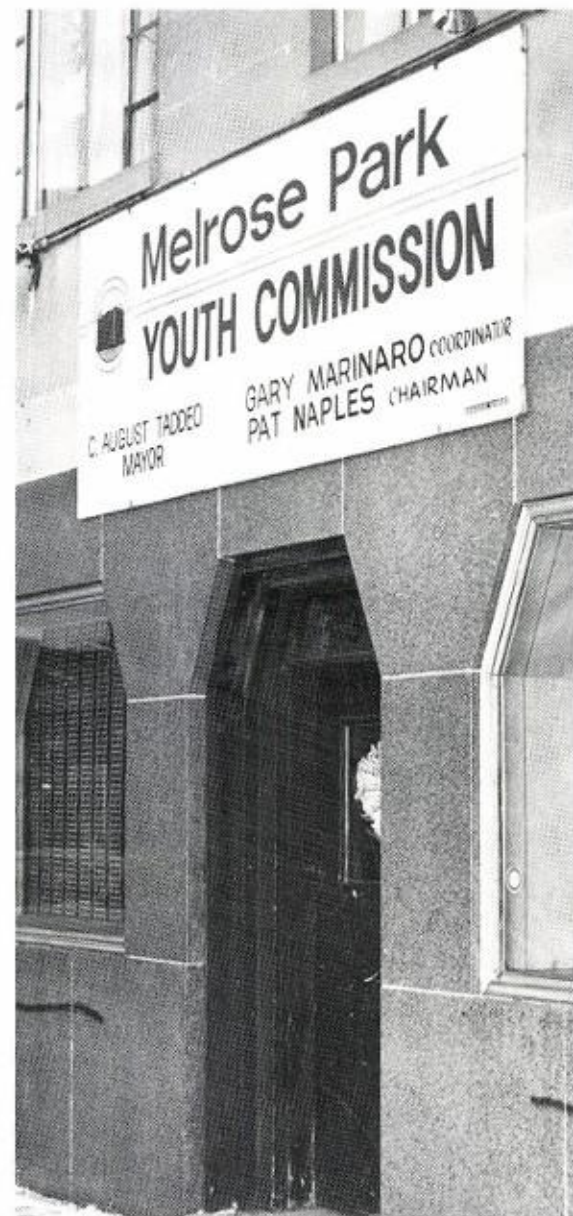

Concluding the week long event, Our Lady is being carried on the shoulders of men for all to worship.

When one thinks of Melrose Park, the Italian Feast may come to mind. This big, exciting, event happens every July. Many families gather to honor the Blessed Mary with a 15 day novena, which is the purpose of the feast. There is also a large variety of Italian food.

Melrose Park is also known as the "Corporate King of the Suburbs." The main plants of many major industries are located there — Jewel, Amlings, International Harvester and Hoover — to name just a few.

The town contains a Youth Commission that sponsors activities which benefit young and old. During Christmas they visited hospitals and nursing homes to spread a little bit of cheer. Annual ski trips and dances all took place.

Melrose Park is not only a touch of Italy, but also a touch of industry, tradition, and a little touch of home.

Many teenagers from Melrose Park take advantage of the activities sponsored by the Youth Commission.

People . . . People . . . People . . .

"I love people and I love to talk!" explains senior Kari Christensen. She feels extra-curricular activities are a very important part in schools. "If it weren't for the activities, I probably would have a bad attitude towards school." Kari was involved with the French Club, Prayer Group, Speech Team, Thespians, Student Council and Madrigals of which she is now president. A lot of her time is devoted to Madrigals. "This group has given me many happy memories and friendships." In addition her major hobby is music, in which she has taken private lessons for five years.

Last summer Kari spent her vacation in a somewhat unordinary way. She traveled to France where she lived with a French family. She was able to learn and be a part of the French culture first handedly. "It also improved my conversational French."

Next year Kari plans to attend a four year college, majoring in Political Science and French. "My ultimate goal is to have a career with the State Department which perhaps means some kind of international relations or foreign service."

Enrolled in Distributive Education and a worker in Jewel's Food store, Eugene Jackson likes to get involved in school activities. "It gives you something else to do with your time besides studying."

Eugene is the Vice President of Student Council and Distributive Education. He enjoys singing and has been a Madrigal singer this year. His job and school commitments keep him very busy, but in his free time he likes building model planes and cars, bowling, going to the movies and just being with friends. After graduation he plans to attend a university.

"I hate people who complain about the things that go on in school but don't get involved. Don't complain or be mad until you try and make it better." This is some advice given by senior Marsha Eaglin. She tries to get a lot of people involved in school activities because it's hard for just a small group of students and teachers to try and make this school better than it is. Marsha is the President of the Senior Advisory Board and also President of Student Council. Student Council not only plans school activities but also helps with community projects such as the annual blood drive, canned food drive, and voters registration.

"Every other Monday night Marsha's voice can be heard on Triton radio station WRRG. This is her chance to tell the community all of the events going on at Proviso. This is also a good experience for her because she would like to major in Communications Broadcasting. After graduation she would like to attend Harvard University.

People . . . People . . . People . . .

Senior Sue Gerhardt has the distinct honor of being one of the first girls in the Lettermen's Club and also elected as secretary. To be in the club Sue had to have at least one major letter from participating on a varsity sports team for at least two years. She had earned a varsity letter in track, gymnastics and diving. Last year she took first place in the high jump at Districts which qualified her for the state meet.

Sue has been on the gymnastics team for four years and has also helped teach gymnastic skills to smaller children at Sokol Tabor. Besides belonging to the Senior Advisory Board and the boy's gymnastic manager, she is also a sports writer for the Pageant. Sue usually writes about girl's sports because "Girl's sports are never covered enough, and I like to give them the recognition that they deserve." After Sue graduates, she plans to go to college and pursue a career in computer technology.

When someone plays on a team for four years, you know he likes sports, but when someone plays on two teams for four years you know they are an athlete. Mike Mastenbrook is an athlete.

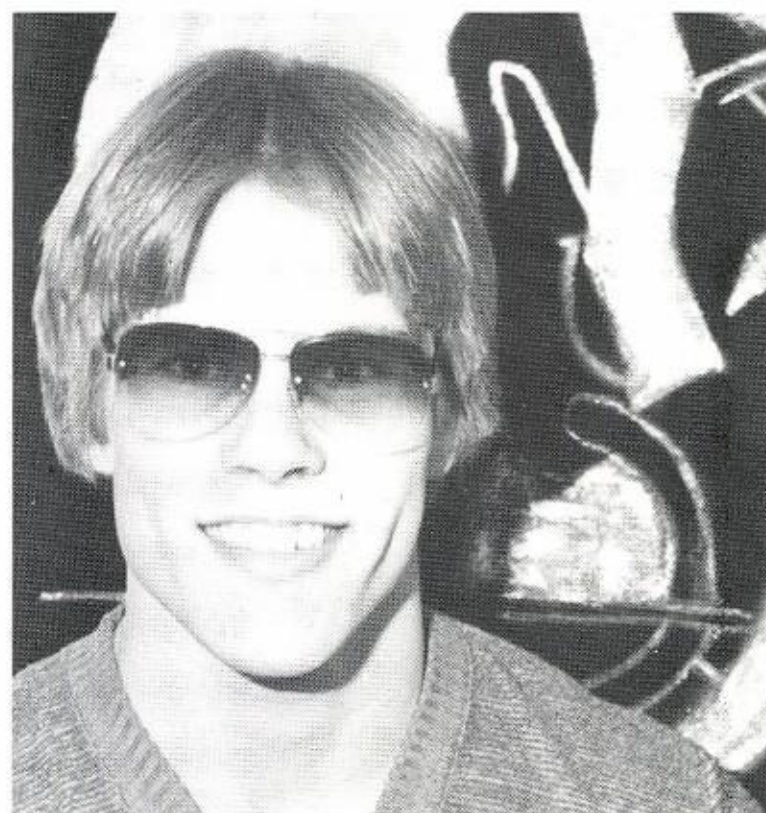

Since moving to Forest Park from Michigan as a freshman, Mike has been on both the wrestling and football teams. Keeping this position is hard for one year, but handling two teams for four years takes many hours of hard work and a lot of effort.

While on the wrestling team his sophomore, Mike was named runner-up to Most Valuable Player and came in first place in his freshman and sophomore year during conferences.

He became this year's kicker for the varsity football team. His position previous to being our "extra point" man was defensive end.

After high school Mike plans to go to New Jersey on a twelve week training program for Sun Chemicals. After his training they will send him wherever he is needed. This gives him a chance to do some traveling before going to college. Once at college Mike plans to become a printer.

"I love activities because they get you involved in the school as a whole, you make new friends and help yourself grow as an individual." Besides having a part time job at a boutique, senior Jane Blumhorst is also active in school activities. She is the president of Thespians and has shown her acting talents in many of our school plays. Making people laugh was one of her roles as being Head Jester in the Madrigal Dinner. Jane enjoys writing anything from poems to news articles and is a columnist for the Pageant.

Upon graduation Jane would like to attend Bradley University where she will major in Broadcast Journalism and Theatre Arts.

The Show Must Go On

Live, on stage, in the Proviso East High School Auditorium, Pirate Playhouse proudly presented, "I Never Saw Another Butterfly" and "Animal Farm." This year's Fall Play was actually two plays.

Both plays were presented under the direction of Mr. John A. Toth, who was assisted by his student directors Lynn Gelfand for "Butterfly" and Rosemarie Madison for "Animal Farm." Stage crew for both plays, an always important and unglorified group of workers, was headed by technical directors Mr. Ken Fryholm and Ms. Phylliss Warr, and stage manager Bruce Fair.

"I Never Saw Another Butterfly," by Celeste Raspanti, was a dramatic production set in the Jewish concentration camp of Terezin. It was based on the book of the same name which is a collection of poems and drawings by many of the children who passed through Terezin. It told the story of Raja Englanderova (Jane Blumhorst) and how she survived Terezin after all the people she loved had gone to the gas chambers of Auschwitz. It showed the life these people led, living each day with the fear that their number would be called next.

"Animal Farm" was based on the novel by George Orwell. It was a satirical parody of the way mankind brings about its own problems. It was set on the fictional "Jones Farm" turned "Animal Farm" when a group of animals rebel. These animals begin to take on human characteristics, including speech, and eventually fall to the spoils of power and greed. During the production, slides were presented representing the humans that the various animals portrayed.

Old Major (Tyrone Bundley) gives an eye opening speech as the animals listen intently.

The head pig, Napoleon (Tyrone Bundley) puts fear in the other animals.

Speaking to the others, Squeezor (Kathy Bus) assures them that all the laws are for the benefit of all.

Working diligently, Leon Brown, Diane Hardin, Anita Pyles, and Jeff Bassett try to rebuild their mill.

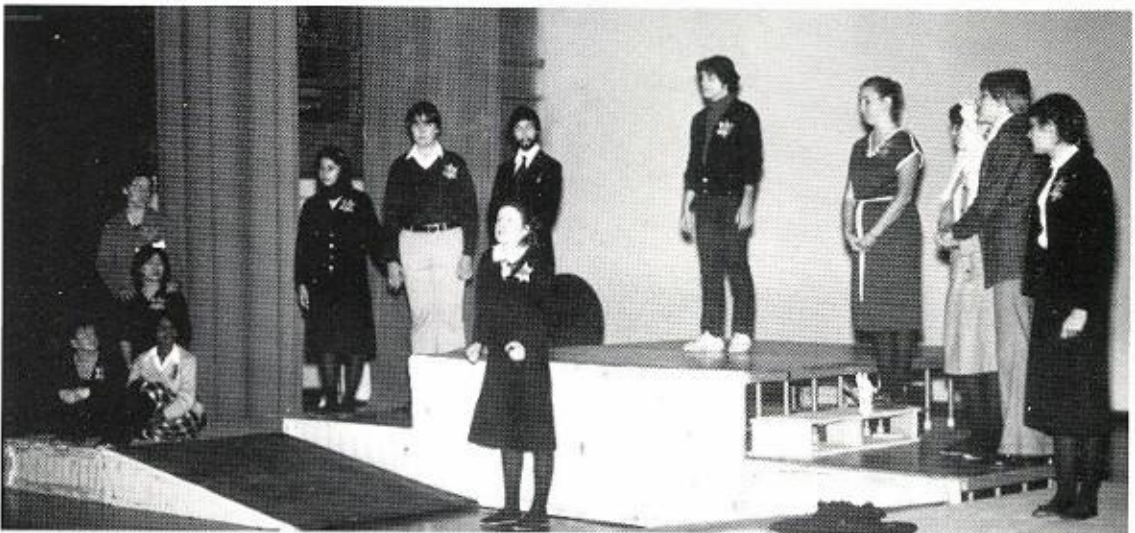

With Joseph (Tom Muszynski) standing near, Anna (Kathy Bus) Angrily tells their son what can truly destroy them.

Raja (Jane Blumhorst) thanks Honza (Carl Puccio) for his gift.

Just arriving at Terezin, a frightened Raja is consoled by Irena Synkova (Diane Bodkins).

In the Final Scene, Raja (Jane Blumhorst) painfully remembers all those that have died.

As Aunt Vera (Lisa Bazeluk) watches, The Rabbi (Ricardo Hernandez) wed Pavel (Pat Keller) and Irca (Irma Martinez), Lisa Gaudio watches from the wings.

Irena (Diana Bodkins) tries to console three of the children of Terezin. (Cozettee Rousell, Lisa Gaudio, and Anna Yee).

Beauty, Charm, Elegance Once Again

"Once again the Proviso East Madrigal Dinner was a sell out. The Madrigal Dinner Concerts of Proviso East were first organized and presented in 1973. That December three dinner concerts were performed to audiences of seventy-two people each evening.

Essentially, the madrigal-dinner-concert is a music/drama within a sixteenth century setting at which guests are served a five course meal. Music, however, is primary. Great care is taken to provide musical examples from the English and Italian Madrigal Schools, as well as music representative of the French Chanson, the German Polyphonic Lied, the Renaissance motet, contemporary chamber music and songs of the Christmas season.

The 36th, 37th, 38th, 40th and 41st dinner-concerts in 1980 marked the 8th consecutive season of Madrigal Dinner-Concerts at Proviso East. Three court jesters provided dialogue throughout the performances while the recorder and crumhorn ensemble, the harpsichordist and the strolling guitarist played music while people dined. The brass ensemble provided fanfares announcing dinner, dessert and dances. Mimes, magicians and jesters entertained guests before the festivities in the Social Room began.

The Madrigal Dinner-Concerts have been written, produced and directed by Misters Salotti of the Music Department and Toth of the English Department.

The International Thespian Society, Troupe #2090 is that sophisticated group of young theatrical entrepreneurs here at Proviso East who bring a bit of dignity to the field of theater. In other words, they're those kids here that are keen on acting and other kinds of theater stuff like that.

The experience needed to become a member of the Thespians is the experience one gets by working on the various theater related productions at Proviso, the Fall and Spring plays, Speech team, Contest Play, Group Interp or Madrigal Dinner. When anyone works on one or more of these productions, by either acting or working on crew or other help, for ten hours, he receives one Thespian point, and when he accumulates ten Thespian points, he is then eligible to be initiated as a Thespian.

This year the troupe had many active and dedicated workers. Jane Blumhorst was elected President, Diana Bodkins Vice-President, Kathy Bus — Secretary, and Tom Heckel — Treasurer of the troupe by the other members. True, the Thespians do have a lot of fun working on the productions but they also learn from hands-on experience what theater is really like. Mainly, they are students who take theater seriously. They put a lot of effort and care into their work, and they see themselves achieve. They know the true enjoyment of theater, which is the bringing of joy to others.

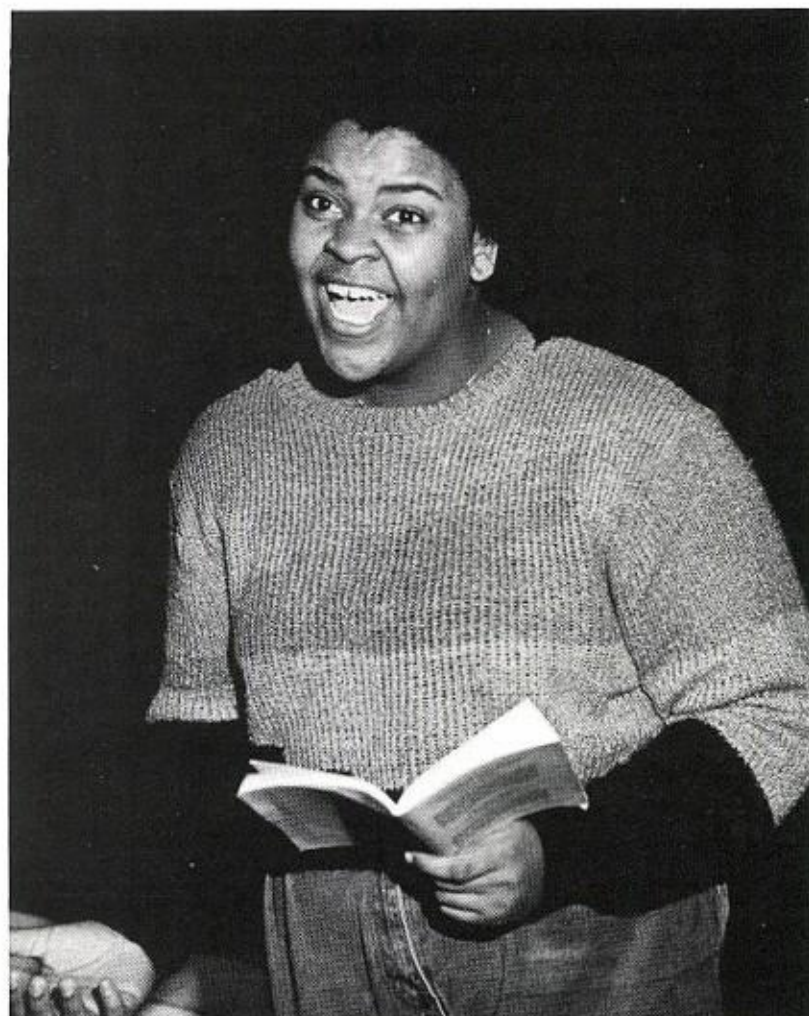

In "Animal Farm," Moses (Kathy Bus) tells all about that wonderful place called Sugar-Candy Mountain.

Maya (Anita Pyles) tells her views on the death of the American family.

The Reader's Theater Selection this year was "Voices" by Susan Griffin. Reader's Theater is a thirty minute production, presented for competition, with no scenery and a minimal amount of movement. "Voices" is a deep insight into the lives of five women. There is Erin (Diana Bodkins) who is suicidal because everyone in her life has either died or left her; Maya (Anita Pyles), a divorcee who is writing a dissertation for her doctorate on the death of the American family, and she is angry and frustrated with her life; Kate (Latanya McDonald) a flamboyant, accomplished actress who tells of her roles and how she is afraid of death; Rosalinde (Lisa Guadio), who is a free spirit and the only character that is in touch with herself and Grace (Kathy Bus), who has been a mother all her life and who is facing her kids growing up and leaving her. Each of these women has reached a turning point in their life and they decide to make resolutions. The production was directed by Mrs. Deist while Irma Martinez aided as student director.

Taking instructions from student director, Irma Martinez, cast members Anita Pyles, Lisa Guadio, Kathy Bus, and Diana Bodkins listen intently.

Murderously Funny

What does one do when he finds out his two sweet elderly aunts turn out to be murderers? This is exactly what happens in Arsenic and Old Lace by Joseph Kesselring, this year's Spring Play. The play involves Abby (Kathy Bus) and Martha Brewster (Irma Martinez), two elderly sisters living in their old Victorian house with their nephew Teddy (Tom Heckel) who happens to think he's Teddy Roosevelt. When their other nephew, Mortimer Brewster (Carl Puccio), finds a dead body in the window seat, he immediately thinks that Teddy has done it. But his aunts inform him that they had put the body there. They tell Mortimer how they killed him so he could be peaceful. He was a lonely old man with no family. By poisoning his wine, they had killed him in just the same manner that they had killed the eleven other men buried in their basement! To make matters more complicated, Mortimer had just proposed to a girl named Elaine Harper (Diane Bodkins) and Mortimer's other brother, Jonathan (Tyrone Bundley), after many years of being in and out of jail has come with another cadaver. All of this blends into a very fast-paced and funny evening of theater. The director for this year's Spring Play was Mrs. Deist. This was Mrs. Deist's first major production at Proviso. Anita Pyles was student director for the production. Mr. Frykholm served as technical director and Bruce Fair was stage manager.

Uproariously Witty

This year's contest play was the comedy The Tiger by Murray Shisgal. The play contains only two characters, Gloria Hamlin (Jane Blumhorst) and Ben (Carl Puccio). The plot revolves around these two characters and the situation that has come about. Ben is a very knowledgeable man who never went to college because he could never pass his French entrance exam. As a result, he feels he needs to take control, whereupon he kidnaps Gloria and takes her to a basement. As the plot evolves, Ben's strict command over Gloria slowly deteriorates as Gloria, being able to speak French herself, uses her wit to gain dominance and get herself out of the situation.

No longer a maniac and his prey, Ben (Carl Puccio) and Gloria (Jane Blumhorst) have become friends.

To keep an eye on her, Ben ties Gloria to a chair.

Forced to obey Ben's every command, Gloria throws off her skirt.

So she will not run away, Ben carries Gloria to a basement.

Gold chains added a sparkle to the year's fashions, as Maurice Moore displays his chain.

This year was truly a year to be fashionable. Whether it was simple or extravagant, East students wore it. A most common fashion was the Western look highlighted with designer jeans. With designer jeans ranging from $35, this style became rather expensive. Gold jewelry put a sparkle in this year's fashion. However, it too was expensive. Thus, students turned to "punk." An inexpensive way to keep up with the style and also to be quite different. C'est Chic N'est pas?

Assassination Attempt

Monday, March 30, 1981, President Reagan finished talking to delegates of the National Conference of Building and Construction and was escorted to his limousine, just outside the Washington Hilton. Suddenly, it was a scene of pandemonium. Six bullets were fired from close range, hitting President Reagan, presidential press secretary James Brady, Secret Service agent Tim McCarthy, and District of Columbia police officer Thomas K. Delahanty. The President underwent two hours of surgery to remove a bullet which was lodged in his lung, just missing his heart. The President's excellent physical condition helped to eliminate problems. Secretary Brady's condition was critical, with a bullet wound through his brain. Although he was expected to survive, doctors could not predict the extent of brain damage. McCarthy's bullet caused internal damage, penetrating his liver, while Delahanty's bullet entered his neck. John Hinkley, 25, was charged with the assassination attempt and attempted murder in the other cases. He left a letter in his room written to actress Jodie Foster, claiming he was going to kill Reagan to prove his love for her.

Hostages

January 20th, day 444, marks the end of the long hostage ordeal in Iran. Proud Americans everywhere were holding signs, wearing yellow ribbons and flying American flags to honor the freed hostages. A wife of one of the hostages, Barbara Deffley, even rang the church bell 444 times for each day of captivity.

After many days of negotiating an agreement was finally made for the release of the hostages. It required the U.S. to lift all embargos against trade with Iran including other European countries, staying out of internal affairs of Iran and also a provision about the Iranian assets that were frozen by President Carter. These arrangements along with the safe release of

Natural Disasters

Our world was hit by an awesome variety of natural disasters, killing thousands of people and ruining vast areas of land all at one time. In the summer months the worst heat wave in 26 years hit the western and southern United States. The scorching weather withered away many crops and destroyed a lot of the livestock. Dallas was the hottest city, with more than 42 straight days of temperatures over 100. The heat had taken its toll, over 1,200 people had died.

Another devastating disaster was the massive eruption of Mount St. Helens in Washington. The once beautiful glistening, snowcapped mountain located in the cascades had drawn many people to its splendor — artists, climbers, and photographers. Some of these people found that looks are deceiving. On May 18th, 400 million tons of hot ash, rocks and other debris had exploded into the earth's atmosphere. The energy of the eruption has been compared to the magnitude of 500 Hiroshima bombs. The eruption had destroyed 200 square miles of forestland, over 150 miles of trout and salmon streams, some 2 million birds, fish, and animals, and 61 people were left dead or missing. During the summer and fall more eruptions occurred but they weren't as devastating as the one on May 18th. It will take at least 300 years for the mountain to regain the beauty it once had.

On November 23rd, in Southern Italy, Europe's deadliest earthquake in 65 years had hit. Some people died instantly while others were buried alive. An estimated count of the dead was more than 3,000. Many of the surviving villagers were angered because of the slow, inadequate and unorganized rescue attempt that was made. The government had many excuses for their actions, but no real reason why had come out.

Free at Last!

the hostages made up the policy. About five hours after everything was set, the hostages boarded a plane heading for Algiers. Once there the custody of the Americans was transferred from Algerian intermediaries into U.S. hands. They were then flown to Wiesbaden, West Germany. There at the American military base they were examined, debriefed, and met by former President Carter. They spent a few days in West Germany and were then flown to New York where they were reunited with their families.

Some say the real heroes of the crisis were the 8 brave commandos who died in April trying to rescue the hostages. Their helicopters crashed in an Iranian desert partially due to a sandstorm.

"Who Shot J.R.?"

That is the question that made T.V. series "Dallas" sky rocket to the number one ratings this year. The producers of "Dallas" went all out for the show to try and capture the viewers' eyes, and they succeeded. The whole world was so involved in the show that people made profits as the result of the program by selling J.R. t-shirts, buttons, stickers, beer, jeans, games and poker cards. A radio station in Chicago held a "Who shot J.R.?" contest where the winner won a "Who shot J.R. party." The answer to this famous question involved practically the whole cast, and left the world in suspense until the final airing of the show. Everybody had their opinions on "who dunit." Some were very surprised to learn that Kristen was the culprit.

Death Takes Its Toll

The entertainment world lost many personalities this year. Alfred Hitchcock, also known as the master of suspense, Steve McQueen, Peter Sellers, who became famous from his role as Inspector Clouseau in the Pink Panther, Jimmy Durante, and Mae West. One death that hit headlines all over the world was the slaying of John Lennon. Tearful fans both young and old gathered around his home bringing flowers and other mementos. Through the night they lit candles and softly sang his songs.

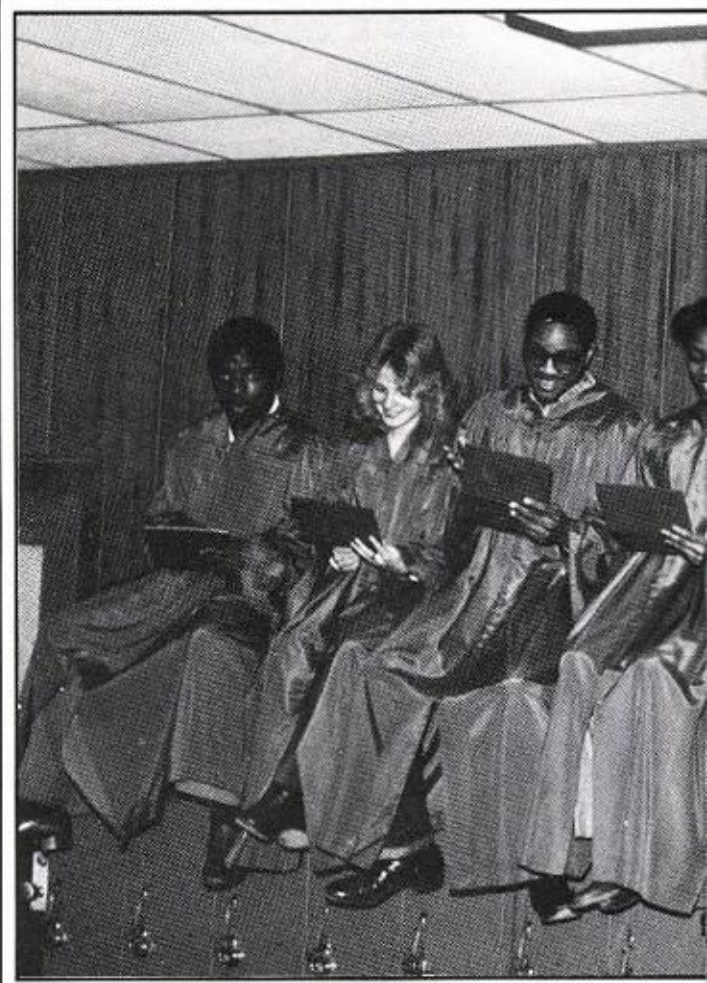

During the past few years Lennon put himself in seclusion, away from the public and recording studio. He wanted to devote himself to raising his 5 year-old son, Sean. Five months ago, on the eve of his 40th birthday, John came out of his retreat. He was "Starting Over" as in the title of his most popular new song. John and his wife had recorded a new album, their first in 8 years. As they were returning home from the recording station, just adding a few more touches to their second album, Mark David Chapman came out from hiding and shot Lennon in the back. Why did someone who admired Lennon for fifteen years want to kill him? The answer is not very easy. Chapman identified himself with Lennon. On his name tag at work he put John Lennon's name over his own, he even married a Japanese woman. Psychologists say Chapman tried to commit suicide twice. He was unsuccessful, so he killed John Lennon instead.

John Lennon will be remembered as a brilliant musician, one who transformed a whole generation, stressing peace and love.

At last senior year arrived for the Class of 1981. The four long years of hard work and fun finally paid off. Every senior has many memories of their high school days but probably the events that will be remembered the most are Prom and Graduation. Tami Ashford says that, "Students go to Prom because it's a tradition. You see all of your friends for the last time before graduation and spend a very nice evening with them." This year the Senior Prom was held at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago. The seniors enjoyed a romantic evening of dinner and dancing in famous Grand Ballroom. The theme of the prom was "Out Here On My Own" and the music was provided by the "Amusement Park" band. The success of prom was made possible by the Senior Advisory Board and Mr. Goodrich, the class sponsor. The day after prom seniors had planned a variety of activities. Some went to Great America, or planned picnics. Others ventured further away from home to the dunes and Lake Geneva. They spent the entire day with their friends having fun, reminiscing about their earlier high school days, and talking about June 2nd, graduation day, the last time they would be together as the class of '81.

While gazing at their diplomas, still in disbelief, are Roy Woods, Diane Leningier, Aaron Moore, Audrey Garth, Bruce Fair, Karen Manak, Evelyn Chapmon, Tami Ashford, and Scott Clary.

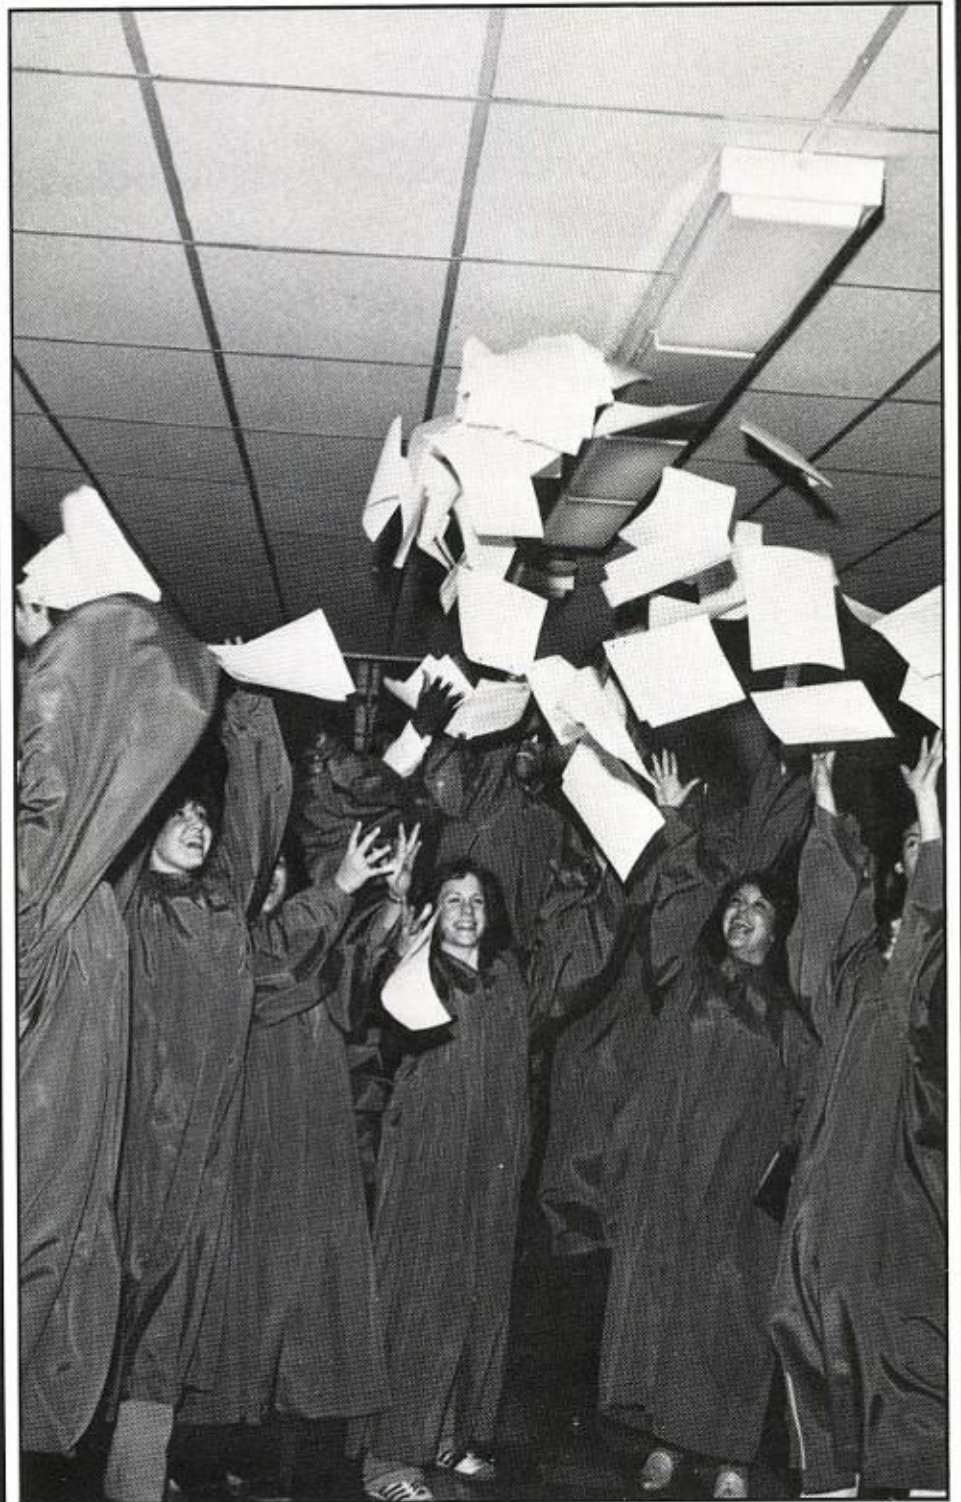

Realizing they are finally leaving Proviso East, Seniors find the nearest exit.

ORGANIZATIONS

Provi Staff

Touching up his artwork for this year's book is artist Myron Miller.

Coming up with new and interesting ideas year after year is a challenge that this year's Provi Staff tackled and has been tackling for a long, long time, with the first yearbook coming out in 1912.

With many new members who were unfamiliar with yearbook tasks, many problems arose. But with some of the "veterans" ready to help, they were soon solved. This year's staff also got a lot of help from the IHSPA convention held at the University of Illinois in Champaign. High School staffs from all over Illinois joined together to exchange ideas and give their opinions and criticisms on how yearbooks are made. Also, different classes were held to help staffs with certain problems they face in the development of a yearbook. Some of these classes were for writing, photography, and drawing.

Another trip was planned, but this one was for fun. This year's staff went out to dinner to celebrate the completion of another yearbook. This tradition has gone on for several years now. They used the money that they made in their annual picture sale.

The picture sale was held this year, as it is held in the past, to sell pictures taken this year, but were not used in the yearbook. These pictures are of groups, individuals, and different scenes in the school.

This year's advisor was Miss Debra Martz. Miss Martz has been the yearbook advisor for the past four years.

Upon her third year on the staff, Senior Mary Papa was made this year's editor. This is a special honor for her since this is her last year at Proviso East. Other seniors on the staff were Diane Leninger, Karen Manak, Evelyn Chapmon and Audrey Garth. Juniors were Monica Olmstead, Tom Muszynski, Ken Barrett, Michelle Tharpe, Myron Miller, and Cres Kaminski. Also on the staff was sophomore, Sherri Achuff.

Makes Memories

Stamping and numbering pictures is slow, but Monica Olmstead handles it well.

Accurate typing is essential, so Evelyn Chapmon strives for perfection.

Showing us she's able to do more than meet a deadline, Cres Kaminski takes a minute from Provi Day to give us a cheer.

During a break in the ISHSPA convention at the U of I, Provi members learned how to build a better staff.

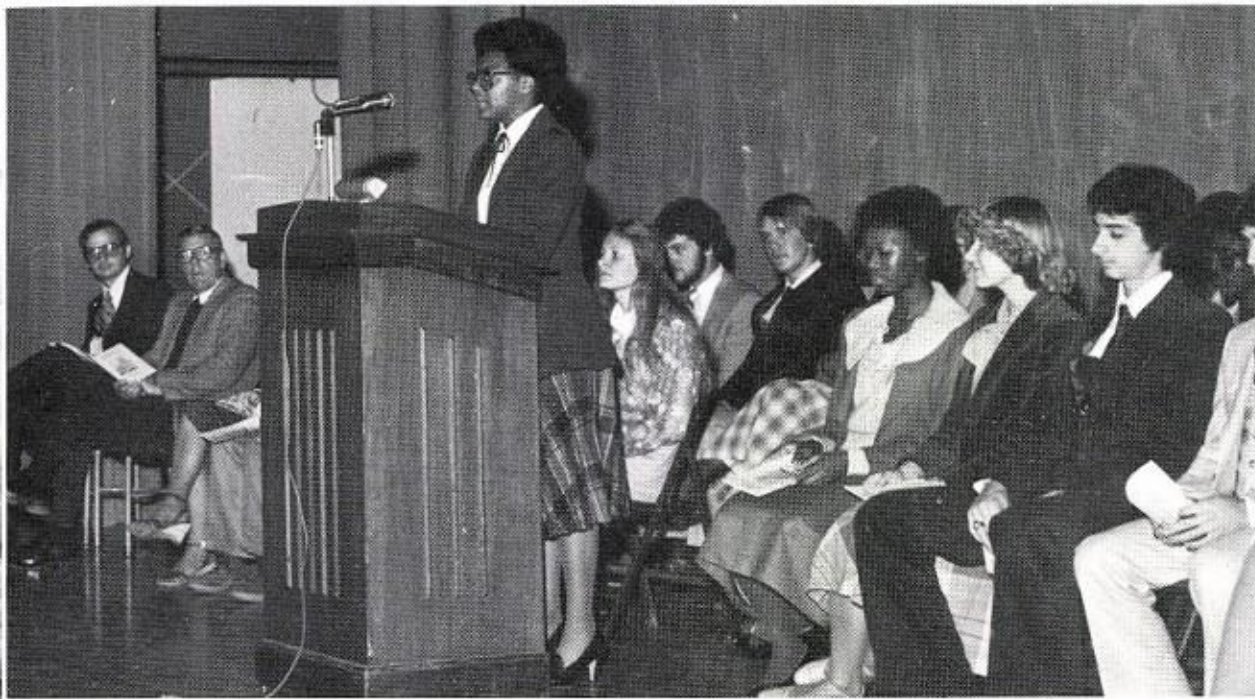

Aiding each other in a few last minute problems are Audrey Garth and Lynette Richter.

NHS Inducts 53

This year fifty-three members were inducted into the National Honor Society on Wednesday, November 19. In order to become a member of this exclusive club, one must have an average grade point of 3 or better through his fifth semester. Then the faculty receives a list containing the names. They are asked to recommend or object to candidates they know. The students are judged on their character, scholarship, leadership, and service. The speakers this year were Jane Blumhorst, Tami Ashford, Diana Bodkins, and Sharon Simmons. Refreshments were then served in Memorial Hall with entertainment furnished by the Madrigal Singers.

Speaking on the subject, "Education, a Basis for Growth" Tami Ashford addresses the audience.

Ending the Night's ceremony, (spon.) Barry Dalaba congratulates the members.

Receiving his award, Paul Berstrom is complimented on his achievement.

Extra! Extra! Extra! Extra!

Extra! Read all about it! The Pageant staff is having another super year of journalism! With Mr. James Nyka as their sole advisor, the Pageant staff manages to put out their bi-monthly paper without fail. The paper that the students publish is truly the product of their own work. Mr. Nyka acts simply as an overseer and many of the responsibilities of the paper fall mainly on the editors and writers. The layout work is done by the students. The editor-in-chief gives out assignments to the writers, decides what the cover story will be and handles all complaints about the paper. The proof-reading is done in part by Mr. Nyka but some is done by the editors. All copy, of course, is written by the students.

Writers must do their own research for their stories and prepare and arrange interviews. It is their responsibility to have their stories turned in on time. The writers' stories are proof-read and edited. After they have been perfected, they are sent to the publisher. The printer sends back a proof of what the story will look like after it is printed up. With the proofs, a layout is then looked over for errors and then sent to the printers once again. Soon afterward, many Proviso students can be seen walking down the hall with their nose in a new issue of Pageant.

Pageant's editor-in-chief: Katherine Sorenson. Theme and news editor: Barbara Schalk. Art editor: Bruce Fair. Sports editor: Donna Kubis. Photographers: Shawn Dahlstrand, Margaret Saflarski. Columnists: Jane Blumhorst, James Ahrens. Artists: Myron Miller. Writers: Jenny Luhman (theme and sports); Maria Kalyvas (sports); Paul Bergstrom (editorial); Tyrone Bundley (news); Julie Tidei (theme); Sue Gerhardt (sports). The advisor, Mr. Nyka, named Jim Ahrens, Jenny Luhman, Barbara Schalk, and Katherine Sorenson as those journalists who have a special talent and who dedicate extra time towards the paper.

Discussing some future articles are Tyrone Bundley and Kevin Allen of the Pageant staff.

Editor-in-chief, Kathrine Sorenson looks over data before giving assignments.

In a lighter moment, Barb Schalk and Bruce Fair enjoy some time to clown after meeting their deadlines.

Hero — Home Economics Related Occupations, a one year course open to juniors and seniors, is designed to aid students in becoming skilled and effective workers. Students receive two units of credit and are in school part time and working on jobs 15 to 20 hours a week. An important FHA-HERO objective is to help youth assume their roles in society through Home Economics Education areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation and community involvement. We are leaders and face the future with courage and high hopes. Also FHA-HERO provides opportunities for members to plan, organize and conduct meetings on many levels. Leadership and special skill are developed by participating in chapter events, action labs, and skill shops. We work on projects on the national level as well as the local level. The program stresses greater knowledge of the world and leisure improved decision-making, and an increased awareness of oneself. In short, HERO endeavors to aid students toward developing self and in maintaining educational strides in family life, in the world of work, and in society . . .

Office Education (formerly called Office Occupations) is a co-op program designed to prepare students for careers in office work. At least one year of typing experience is required for admission to the program. The second year typing must be taken concurrently if it has not been completed. Seniors enrolled in Office Education must take one semester of Business. Students attend classes in the morning. Classroom units include instructions in the following areas: filing, dictaphone, typing handling company mail, job interviews and applications, human relations and a variety of other things. Students fill a variety of office jobs in the afternoon. The types of jobs O.E. students hold include: receptionist, switchboard operator, file clerk, clerk typist, secretary, and accounting. Club activities include Fall Leadership Conference, State

Leadership Conference, National Leadership Conference, Area IX Banquet, Employer Employee Appreciation Banquet, and many field trips. The club meets twice a month during regular class time. Fund-raising activities for the club include selling Dakin stuffed animals and collecting dues. As the director of the program, Miss Conley has the duty to assist students in securing training stations related to their interest, visit the job sites during each grading period for evaluation from the employer, teach the related class, keep everything together, and work out all problems which occur. There are several advantages for enrolling in O.E. Students in the program receive 2 credits for the year, one for classroom and one for the job. They are also gaining valuable business experience, receiving on the job training, and being paid an hourly wage.

Diversified Occupations and Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, (commonly known as D.O. and Vica), are job programs designed to prepare students for various jobs and the handling of money. The students in Vica are very diversified. They have jobs ranging from meatcutting and plumbing, to working with older people and office work. They have a lot of fund raising activities. This year they started the year off with a Cheese and Portrait sale which was very successful. The Vica students are active in all Vica activities which include skill olympics and other activities during the year. The students sponsor an Employer Appreciation Banquet in the spring of each year.

Student Council

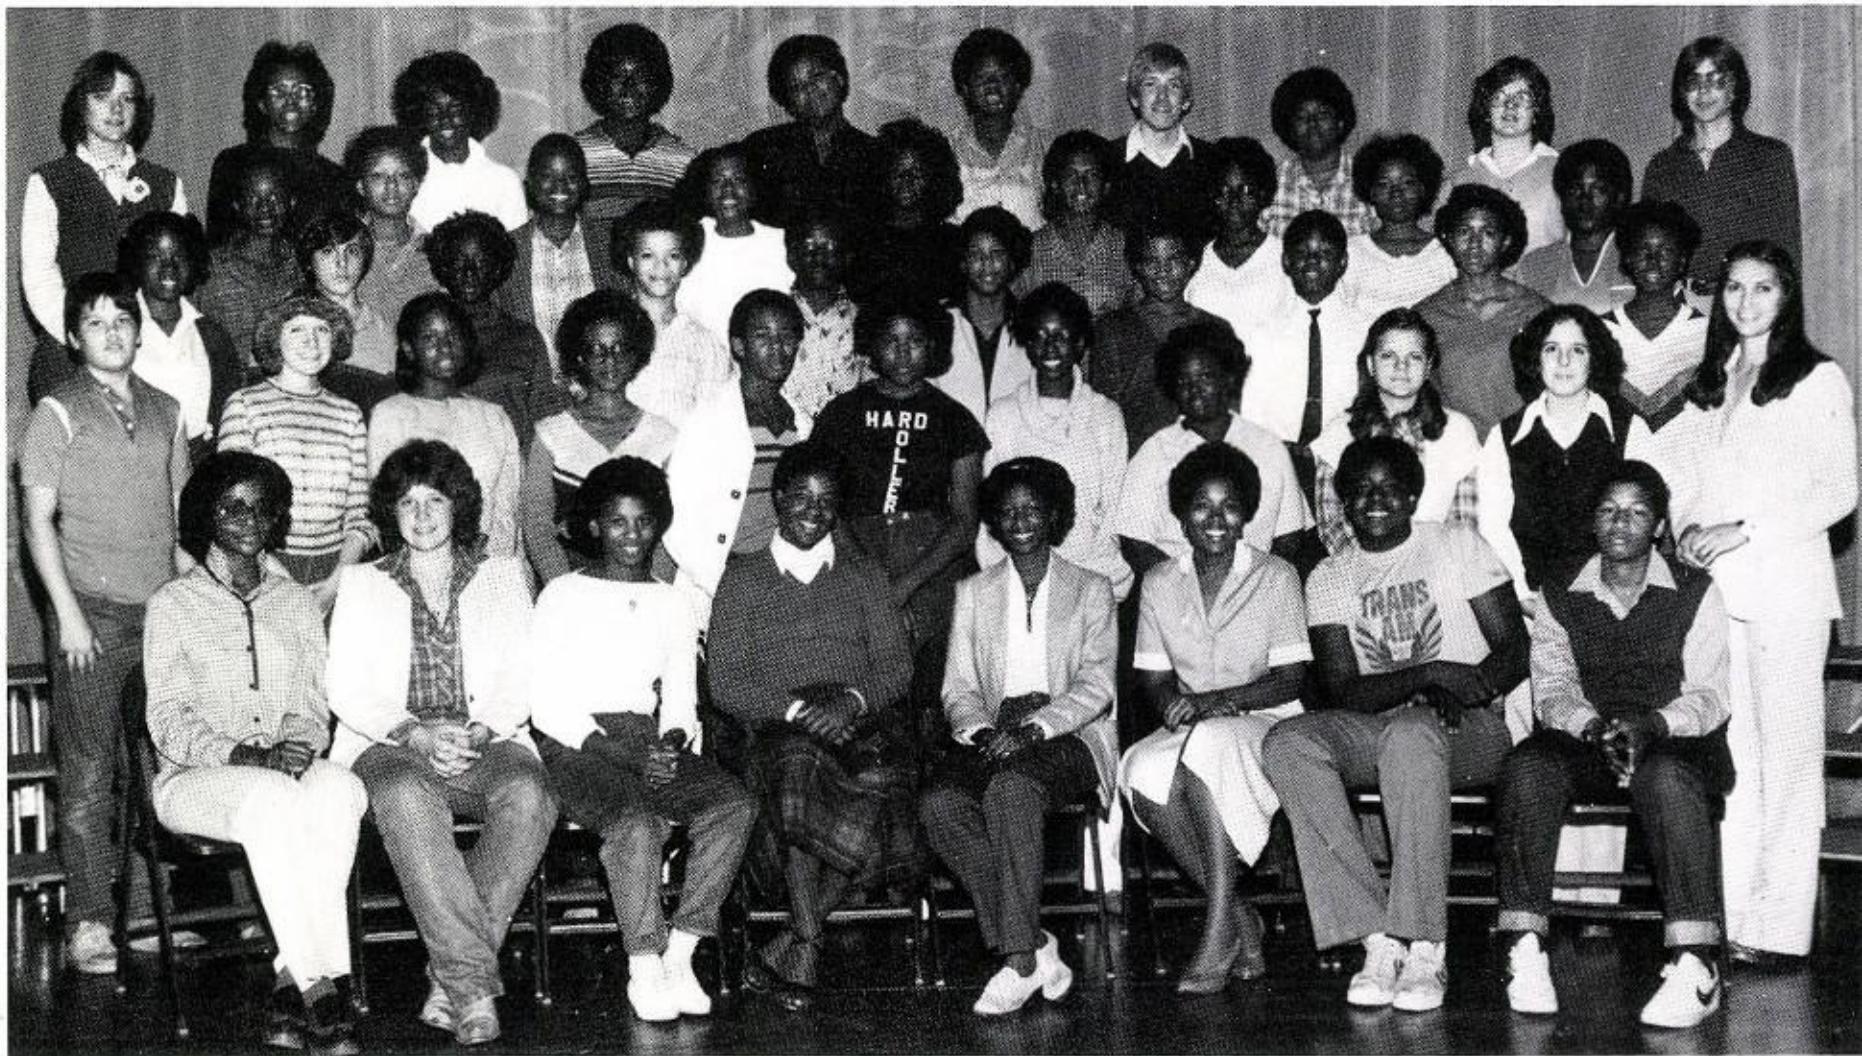

Student Council is one of the most important organizations at East. This club deals directly with many of the activities students participate in and solutions to some of their school related problems. Students apply for membership at the end of each year. Hard work and caring are two qualities that are a requirement for membership. One must be an active member and be willing to co-operate with others. The main purpose of Student Council is to, 1. encourage good citizenship, 2. promote numerous relationships, 3. coordinate school activities, and 4. install proper attitudes. This year's body produced a successful Homecoming. The week's activities leading up to the dance included, the halls filled with music by our own band, an exclusive Future Fashion show, a trip to Oz with the showing of the movie The Wiz, and a fun-filled afternoon pep rally. The special feature promoted this year was a live band. The night turned out to be a most enjoyable evening. The members of Student Council want to stress the importance of one's willingness to work. With everyone working together, it is easy to see why this is one of the most respected organizations at Proviso.

Cameras, film, and helping people are just a few of the many duties of the Cine Club. With the great number of students and teachers depending on Cine, they do a good job of keeping everyone happy, and everything under control. Without the help of the Cine Club, it would not be possible for the A.V. department to run smoothly. A few of Cine's fund raising activities were the selling of pictures, homecoming pictures, and movies.

Mrs. Russell is the new sponsor of the Cine Club. Mrs. Russell says the only thing she dislikes about the Cine Club is that "There isn't a regular class meeting." There are approximately 20 students in the Cine Club. The only problem that the Cine Club has is the lack of girls in the club. Students in Cine receive an eighth of an credit for their service. Students come in during their study hall.

The library staff consisted of 35 library assistants and four librarians. Some of their main duties were to assist students and teachers, and keep books, magazines, and shelves organized. Students receive no credit for their helpful service, but they were rewarded with a Spring Banquet, which consisted of a nice dinner, the awarding of certificates and the raffling off of prizes. The only requirement to be a library assistant was that to have a free period and be willing to work hard.

Their experience can help them in the future. It may be used for college, working or visiting in other libraries, and in getting a job.

Putting the library to perfect use is sophomore, William King.

Tuning in the World through the use of Radio

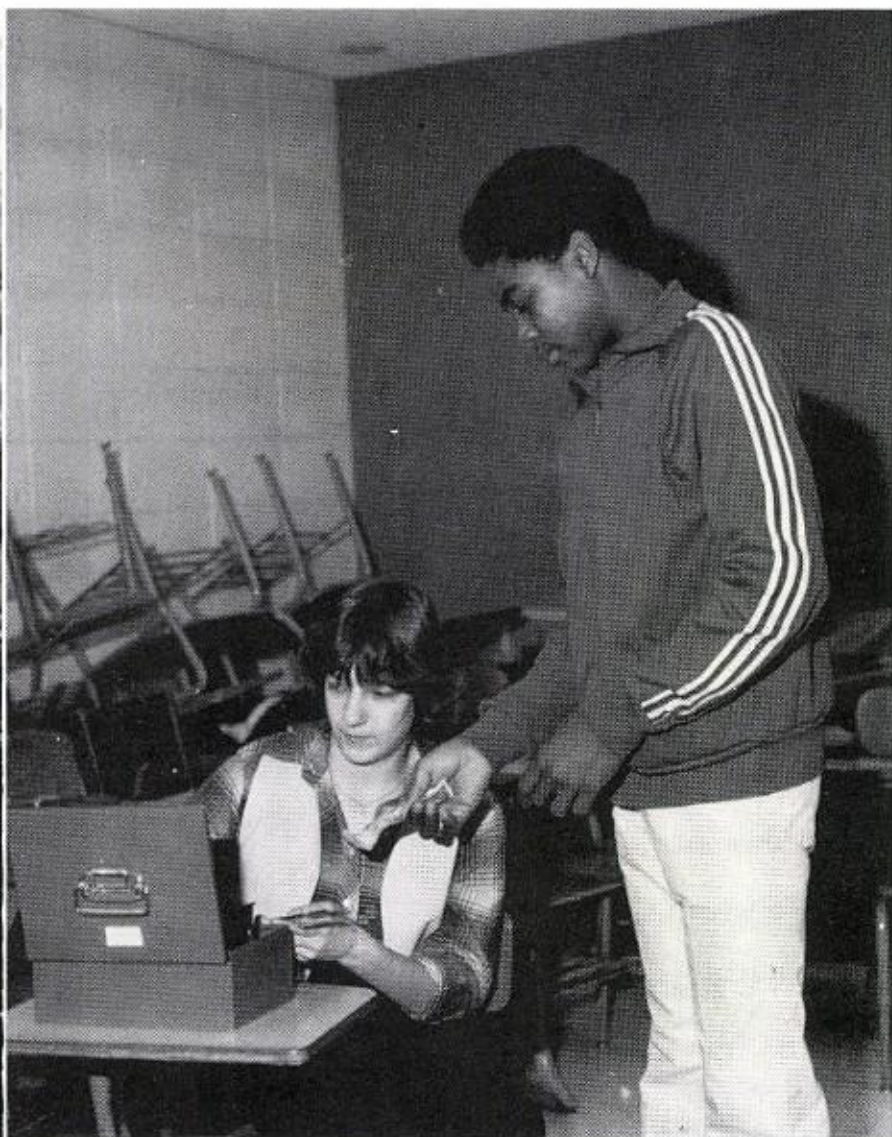

Amateur Radio Club is a great chance to meet people all over the world, and it also gives the licensee the chance to serve useful purposes during emergencies. This year the Radio Club's membership was 10 members. The reason the membership has not increased is because of the nature of the material. The type of material that the Radio Club encompasses is the learning of the Morse Code. The amateur radio operator must pass the novice exam given by the FCC by being able to copy 25 letters or numbers in Morse Code per minute. The novice member must also pass tests which cover resistance, voltage, antennas, and rules and regulations. From here the radio operator advances on to the Novice General Class License which requires being able to copy 65 letters or numbers a minute and increased knowledge in radio theory. The next highest step is the Advanced License which encompasses increased radio theory and the same code speed as the Novice General Class. The highest license which can be awarded is the Extra Class. In order to pass the exam one must be able to copy 100 letters or numbers per minute along with increased knowledge in radio theory. Along with studying about radio theory and the Morse Code the Radio Club found time to take a field trip to Northwestern University Science Building Open House to see their radio club. The Radio Club also constructed an antenna which now stands on Proviso's roof. As far as fund raisers, the Radio Club sponsors a Bowl-a-Thon. The money raised is used to buy more radio equipment. The Radio Club's goals for the future are to increase membership, increase number of people licensed, and lastly to improve the antenna which was built earlier by the members.

With the attractive addition of a few young ladies, the Letterman's Club managed to have an allright year with many dances planned to raise money. The only fault, a Letterman comments, is that people think they can be on Letterman's without participating in the activities, which is not true. Who knows, maybe the addition of ladies can add that extra bit of class every organization needs.

Oui? Oui?

The French Club had a prosperous year. The membership remained about the same with 26 students joining the club this year. At Homecoming, the French Club decorated a car entry. At Christmas time the French Club ventured to West Lake Hospital to go Christmas carolling and afterwards had a pizza party. The French Club also dined at "Fond de la Tour" in Oakbrook to taste the French cuisine. In addition, the French Club held its annual Mardi Gras in the Social Room. Games, prizes, and refreshments were enjoyed by all! The goals for the future of the French Club are to do charitable functions and to attend more foreign language films and expositions.

Members who attend weekly meetings like this one help to make the Spanish Club a success.

The Spanish Club Fiestas and More

This year the Spanish Club experienced an increased membership; between 30 to 40 members joined this year. Throughout the year the Spanish Club went to many different restaurants to taste the different varieties of foods. This year the Spanish Club planned to use the funds they received to buy sweat suits for the Foreign Language Olympics. Along with the increased membership the Spanish Club had a new sponsor, Mrs. Geier. Mrs. Geier works in the dept. as a Spanish bi-lingual teacher. Mrs. Geier said that taking on the job of sponsoring the Spanish Club has been a pleasure. As for the club's goals for the future they are planning a trip to Mexico.

Successful Year For The Germans

Last year the Kultur Klub was inactive and the members slowly dwindled down but this year there has been a resurgence in the membership which now stands at 42. This year the Kultur Klub had an in-school field trip, the Christmas party. The party consisted of German music, pastries, and last but not least, Santa Claus. Later in the year the Kultur Klub ventured to Milwaukee on a field trip. This trip was sponsored by bake sales that the members had worked on earlier in the year. The sponsor and officers for this year's Kultur Klub were, Mrs. Duda — sponsor, Kevin Barret — president, Ricky Lehnhardt — V.Pres., Pam Kline — treasurer, and Fanita Smith — secretary. Although last year was not an outstanding year for the club, their goal for the future is to survive as an active club at Proviso.

The members of this year's Youth and Government club have done just that. This is the only organization at East which allows students to have actual experience into Illinois legislative practice. The only requirements one must fulfill are; 1.) Complete freshman year, and 2.) Attend at least one of the pre-leg meetings. Once in the club, the work begins. Bills are written which reflect the ideas and concerns of the group. When Proviso Speech Team Talks People Listen

Humorous Duet Acting is wonderfully presented by Carl Puccio and Kathy Bus in "A Defenseless Creature."

Displaying her talents, Diana Bodkins presents a scene from "I Never Saw Another Butterfly" for Dramatic Interpretation.

In his original comedy presentation "By Proxy," Carl Puccio.

For Dramatic Duet Acting, Anita Pyles and Tyrone Bundley masterfully act out a scene from "The Amen Corner."

What do the letters O.C., D.D.A., H.I., and O.O. have in common? They all stand for events that are on the Speech Team. There are actually eleven events in all that one may compete in. They are Original Comedy, Verse Reading, Prose Reading, Humorous Interpretation, Humorous Duet Acting, Extemporaneous Speaking, Oratorical Declamation, Original Oratory, Dramatic Interpretation, Dramatic Duet Acting and Radio.

It takes many hours, hard work, and participation to be a member of the team. They must work with their coaches as much as they can. This year coaches were Mr. Toth, Mrs. Deist, and Ms. Warr. Participating in the speech meets also took a lot of dedication. Early Saturday mornings, the team would depart from Proviso, sometimes as early as 5:00 a.m., to arrive at the various schools in time for competition. That meet would consist of three rounds of competition and then waiting for awards to be given out. Then, as Mr. Toth says, comes "a long or short ride home, depending on your scores."

The team competed in six invitationals, as well as the IHSA District, Sectional, and State competitions. Throughout the speech season, all those who had received a first place award at any meet were invited to compete in the SCOTIE Tournament of Champions. This year Proviso produced a number of members who were eligible for SCOTIE entry: Carl Puccio for his Original Comedy, Diane Hardin for her Oratorical Declamation, Crystal Johnson for her Verse, Leon Brown for his Humorous Interp., Anita Pyles for her Humorous Interp., Marsha Eaglin for her Verse, Anita Pyles and Tyrone Budnley for their Dramatic Duet, and Carl Puccio and Kathy Bus for their Humorous Duet.

The most outstanding meets this year were our own Proviso Invitational, where the team came in first in novice and second in varsity competition, and the Gordon Tech. invitational, where we came in first in varsity.

Dance Fever

Something new was added to dance club this year. Young men! For the first time in years, young men danced their way into the club. Sponsor Mrs. Marzec says, "I feel very positive about young men being in the Dance Club. I am hopeful that in the future more young men will become interested in dance". The main activities of the dance club is the presentation of the annual dance show. This year the dance show was held April 3rd and 4th. Usually the dance club also performs at school assemblies, at P.T.O. open house, and at the girls athletic banquet.

In the past years the dance club has attended some professional dances and concerts. They have attended performances at N.I.V. and at the Auditorium Theater. The only main problem that Dance Club had was that students missed too many practices. Students frequently get involved in a number of activities or get jobs, and then they do not have time to meet all of their commitments.

Pirateers Win Spirit Award

Look out Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders, here come the Proviso East Pirateers! Last summer, even before school began, the Pirateers were working hard practicing their high kicks and synchronized steps to compete at a pom pon camp in Rockford. For four days they took part in competing and learning. Both individually and as a squad they came out big winners. Spirit is a very important quality for a pom pon girl. Tears of pride and joy were rolling down each girl's cheek when over forty squads had voted the Pirateers the squad with the most spirit. They received a giant megaphone in honor of this award. The tears kept right on rolling when they were presented with a superior trophy and a blue ribbon for their competition against the other squads with a routine brought from home. The captain of the squad Rita Hardman, explains, "Even though we were under so much pressure, we proved to ourselves that by working together as a squad we could do it."

Soon after the start of school the Pirateers began practicing for the busy season. They had a total of nine performances, each dance being unique in its own way. Music for the Homecoming routines was the theme from Close Encounters. Dressed in silver and black, wearing antennae and exotic masks, the Pirateers looked like creatures from outer space on the football field. February 13th, the last performance for the season, was a special routine. It was choreographed by the seniors on the squad, who were then recognized with roses when the dance was over.

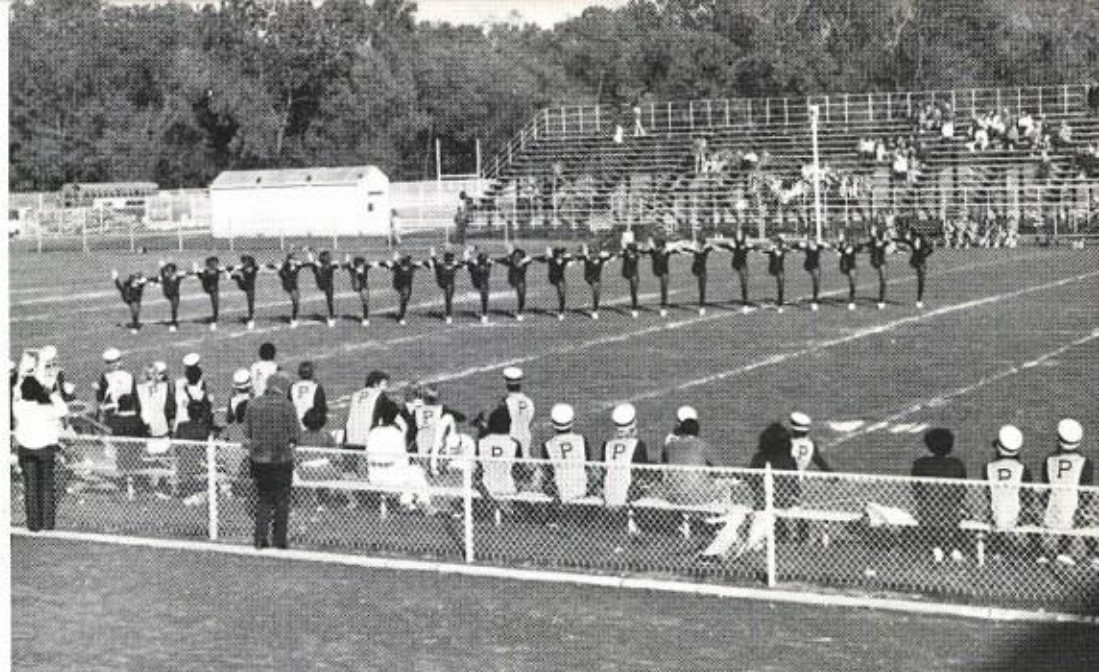

This was Ms. Laura Musgrave's first year as Pirateer sponsor. She has been teaching at Proviso East for five years in the Business Education Department. "In the beginning I went in with a lot of apprehension but the squad has made it one of my most rewarding years at Proviso East."

"Wandering" around on the basketball court are Kim Barber, Rita Hardman, Audry Witkowski, Diane Purchase, and Angie Taylor.

"A Pirateer is a representative of one of the most outstanding organizations at Proviso East. To be accepted into this elite group, each girl must show exceptional spirit, dance ability, and enthusiasm. Scholastic requirements remain high throughout the entire year. Practices are long and often very tiring, but the Pirateers prove at their performances that "Practice makes Perfect!"

Ms. Laura Musgrave,
Sponsor

With smiles, enthusiasm, and spirit, the Pirateers cheer on the football players during the pep rally.

Straight to the Top!!

Let's move on out!!

Cheerleaders deserve a big hand this year as they took first in the United States Cheerleaders Association competition in Bloomington, Indiana. Winning 1st place qualified the varsity cheerleaders to compete in the Grand National Cheerleading Championship in Lansing, Michigan. Even though they did not place out of 300 schools, the experience helped them in becoming a more effective cheerleading squad.

The sophomore squad also gained honors and learned skills that helped them in cheering for their team. The squads practice 3 to 4 hours a week, and they participated in school basketball and football games, pep rallies, many dinners and dances. They also appeared and helped sell the 1980-81 winter sports book. "I'm a Pirate fan" buttons and a bake sale were the cheerleaders' fund-raising activities for the year. Sponsor, Miss Bobbitt says, "It has been rewarding in gaining new friends with students, like being able to help when problems arise and when cheerleaders trust in me enough to confide in me."

Cheerleaders always seem to pull through no matter how cold the weather may be.

"Where's your paper? Where's your pencil? What do you mean you don't have one? If you were ever in this situation, you can always buy these things in your school store. It's open everyday. You can purchase all necessary school supplies here. Also available are candy, coughdrops, tee-shirts, school bags, and patches, etc., etc. The Chicago Sun Times can also be purchased there. Go see for yourself! The school store workers will always be happy to sell to you. They'll be waiting for you next year when new items such as styled shirts, sweaters, and sweatshirts will be available. Enjoy the pleasure of selling? Well, get into the spirit of a school store worker! Applications are always being taken at the end of every school year. So what are you waiting for? If you ever need help, and the teacher is busy doing something else, you can always count on a gymleader. A gymleader can help you perform the basic to the advanced tricks you have never done before. These gymleaders are trained students of Proviso East. Putting in an application during your freshman year decides whether you will become a gymleader during your junior and senior year. According to your abilities in the classroom, you can be chosen to become a gymleader. You would be in training throughout your sophomore years. Then by your junior year, you will be capable of being a gymleader. But . . . these are the last of the gymleaders. The group is slowly dying. According to Ms. Molter, in charge of the organization, she isn't planning to have this group anymore due to her busy schedule. While the successful organization lasted, teachers were really pleased with their help. Unfortunately, we have to say good-bye and maybe hope for this organization to come back in the years to come.

Check Out The Chess Club

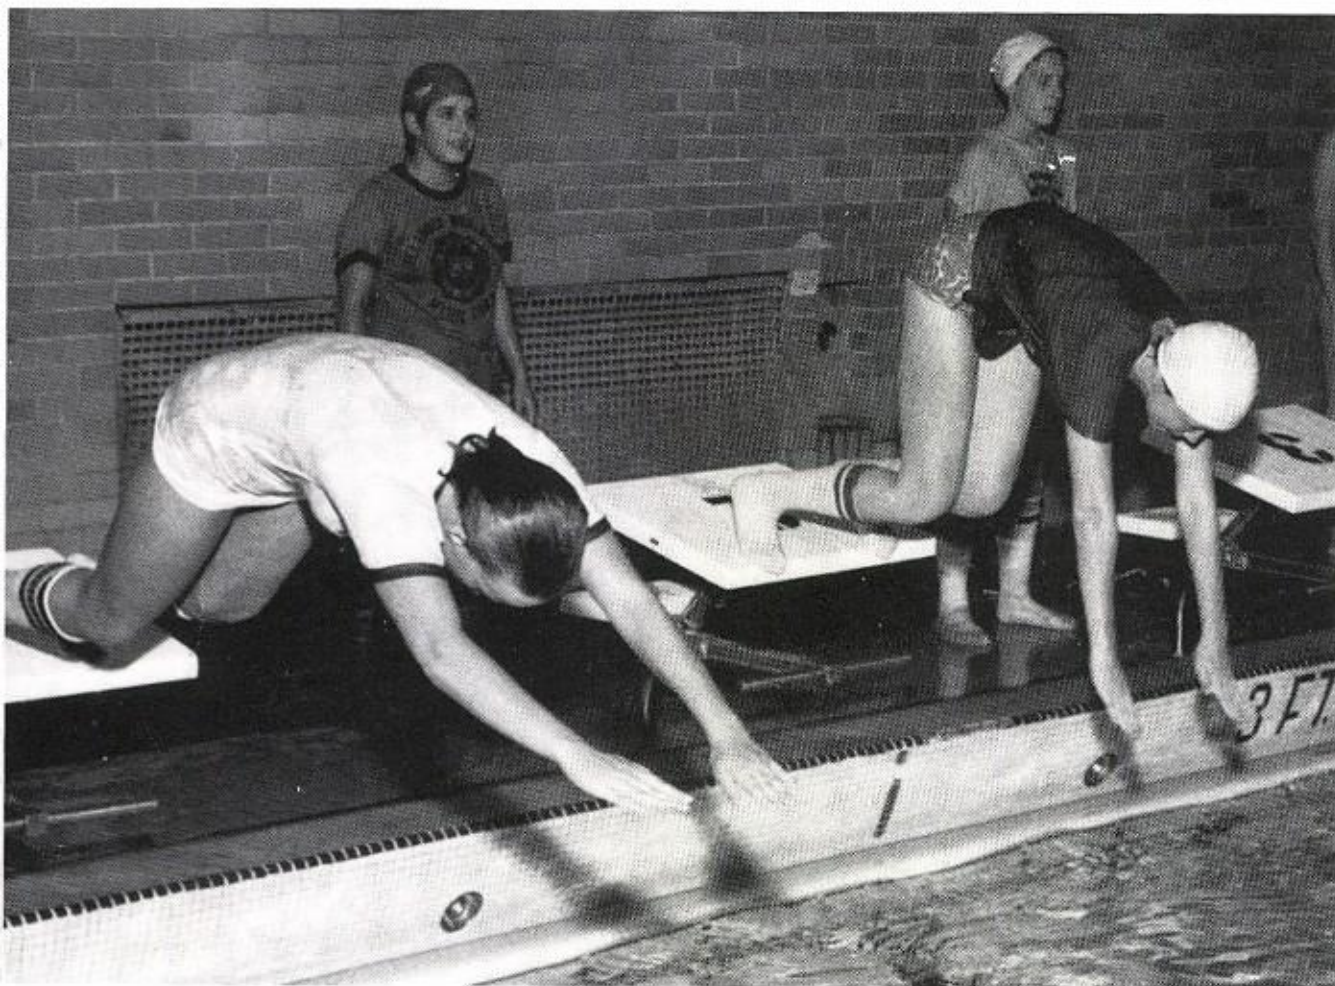

Concentrating on the next play, the chess club looks to see what can be done to win.

This year's Chess Club has had a very trying season. They have lost 4 meets and tied only 1 against Oak Park-River Forest. Proviso East has a chess club membership ranging from 5-25 players. The club meets in the faculty dining room on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The team plays from 3:30-5:00, September thru March. The most outstanding team member was Tony Brown who played board one. Chess is not as popular here at Proviso as it was a few years ago. The chess club is open to all players as long as they are Proviso East students.

Pleasure With Music

If you are a young lady who thinks she has some singing skills, why not join the Girl's Chorus. There is no audition. Every year, instructors go out to local schools and tell the students about the different music groups and if they want to sign up, they can. Freshmen Girl's Chorus practices everyday with their instructor, Mr. Salotti. The chorus is a training group for young ladies who want to extend their singing abilities. The next level for these girls is Girls Glee, Concert Choir, and then Madrigals. Some songs the girls sang were "The Lord's Prayer", and "Mr. Bo Jangles". The Cadet Band was originally the Concert band. They changed names because in the future the music department wants to add a third band. There are fifty-five members in the Cadet band. Some of the outstanding performers are: Donald Williams, Arnold Bassett, Chris Phillips, and Experanza Gonzales. The band played tunes such as, "Thunder and Drum March", also "Mayberry Over Tura".

Still Marching Strong

The Symphonic Marching Band is growing stronger year after year. There are about fifty-five members in the band this year, twelve members smaller than last year. Mr. Skolnik, their instructor, said when they cut the size down, the band seemed to be more together and therefore played more melodiously. "Quincy", "Catch That Pepsi Spirit", and "Give it All You Got" were just a few of the tunes they played to bring pleasing sounds. Going to Northwestern University Band Day in Evanston is appearing to become a tradition. There with many other high school bands they can display their talent and check out other bands. The Marching band also performed at halftime football and basketball games. The Homecoming parade and Batan Day parade were a couple more exciting activities for the band members. In the month of July 1980, the Marching Band lost one of their best members, Richard Dennis Williams. He was killed in a car accident. Richard was only 18, played the tuba for the band all four years at Proviso, and was very well liked. Mr. Skolnik said he was very dependable, never missed a performance, and showed up even when he didn't have work to do. Richard received a John Sousa Award, which was given to the most outstanding senior. He will always be remembered by his personality.

Always In Action

Twenty-two colorguards began the 1980 football season. As the days went on, some of the girls got jobs so the enrollment dropped. The captains this year were Audrey Garth and Chere Brown. Next year for the first time the colorguards and majorettes will have academic eligibility requirements like the cheerleaders and pom pon girls, which means they will have to maintain a decent grade average and good attendance. You probably wonder why the number of majorettes are always so small. Well, they are supposed to be that way. The average number of majorettes ranges from six to nine. Last year the colorguards accompanied the Symphonic Marching Band every where they went except the home basketball games. But this year they performed at one of the last two home basketball games. Mr. Skolnick, their instructor, thought that the girls' best performance was the homecoming. He said, "This year was much stronger than last year and we hope to continue in that direction."

In performance at the football game, the majorettes give it their all.

The Proviso Township Orchestra under the direction of James Kelly, had a very productive and busy year with a pops concert and a formal spring concert. Also the orchestra travels to the University of Illinois in Urbana to participate in the Annual String Consortium.

Proviso Township has one of the older string programs. This is because of the excellent grade school string program. Prominent musicians such as Janice Austin, Leslie Wooten and Ken Barrett began with this grade school program.

The 55 member orchestra has made many changes from last year. With the addition of pop and classical music as being mostly, this year there was only one director, and there are two presidents — David Troche at West 1st. Cello and Ken Barrett — 1st. Violinist at East.

There were few changes from last year, the biggest being the addition of a beginner's band. Mr. Skolnik comments that a beginner's Jazz Band was started to build the advanced pro gram. This will take time but it will be worth it.

The biggest performances were the October concert in Maywood Park, the area grade schools, and the Basketball games. Mr. Skolnik feels the year was weaker than expected, but with musicians such as James Boermann, Robert Jones and Reginald Perry, next year will be stronger.

Madrigals Make Music

The Proviso East Double Madrigal Ensemble was first organized in 1971. It has since become one of the most active performing organizations at Proviso. Amongst some of the many recent performances have been engagements sponsored by the Chicago Council on Fine Arts, the Carol Stream Public Library and the Fortnightly Club of Chicago.

In 1977, at the invitation of WSNS T.V. Chicago, the Ensemble appeared on a Christmas special co-hosted by Proviso East graduate and former singer, Brian Vandenbrouke.

After a successful tour of Proviso Township Grammar Schools in the Spring of 1980, the Madrigal Singers participated in the Madrigal Dinner Workshop and Clinic on the campus of Illinois State University in Normal, Illinois last summer.

This year the Madrigal Singers were invited to perform for the Illinois Bell Telephone Company, the Proviso Newcomers' club, the Forest Park Historical Society and the Community Presbyterian Church of Broadview as well as numerous other social, fraternal and private organizations throughout Chicago and its environs.

"Weeeee!, Sliding down slopes is lots of fun!" If you would like to enjoy the pleasure of a cool breeze in your face, join the ski club. As Mr. Crown explains, "The ski club has been a part of this school for nine years and it is fantastic!" He also adds that if you really enjoy the outdoors, and enjoy traveling, you'll get lots of exercise by skiing down snow topped mountains. This year, the ski club went to the Majestic Hills

Lake Geneva, Wilmont and Cascade Mountains. During Easter vacation, the ski club had the pleasure to ski in Colorado. Becoming a member costs $2.00 and to go on a trip costs $15.00. You may think it's a lot of money, but it's worth the trip. All you can get are scrapes and bruises and a few laughs with your friends. So, what are you waiting for? See you on the slopes!

The ski club awaits to hit the mountains on this snow filled day.

They are sponsored by Mrs. Janice Jackson who has been sponsor for five years. Some of usherette's fund raising activities this year were a t-shirt, calendar, pen and calendar sale, and the selling of sunvisors. Two of usherette's out-of-school activities were an usherette dinner and a trip to Lake Geneva during spring break. The requirements to be a member of the usherette club are: you must have a "C" average, go through a secret initiation, be cooperative and willing to work hard, and get along well with your fellow club members. Usherettes usher at P.T.O. meetings, touring grade school students, movies, shows and graduation. Members are required to wear blue and white when ushering, but they must wear white when ushering at graduation. Members must usher at least three affairs to usher at graduation.

SPORTS

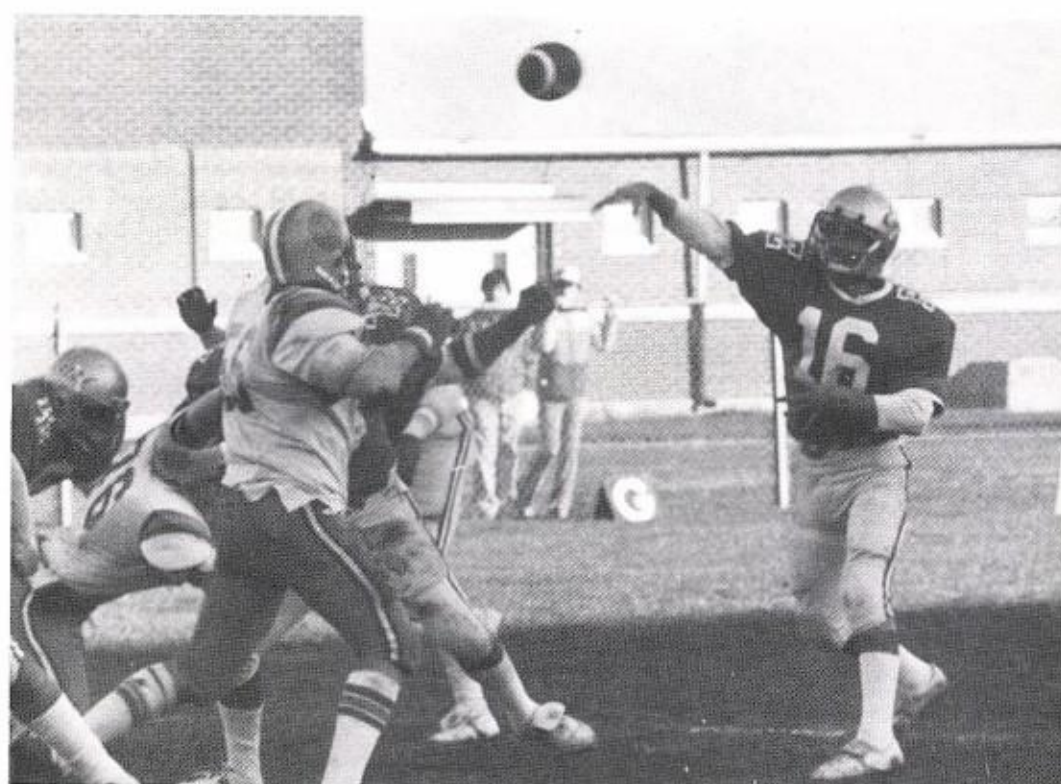

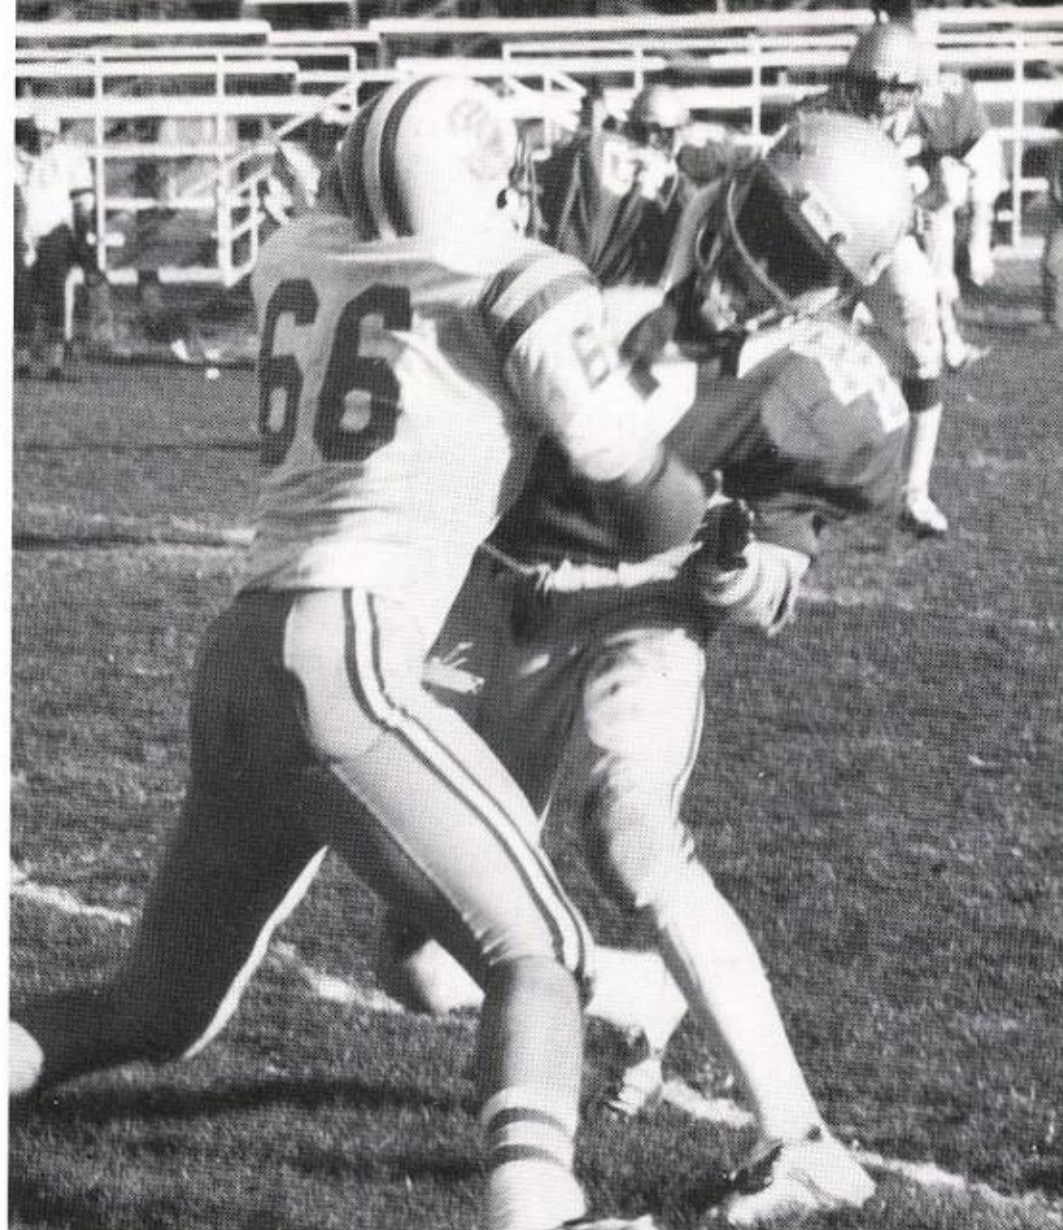

Varsity Team Improves Record

The Varsity Football team's record was drastically improved over last year. They ended the season with five wins and four losses and they captured a tie for fourth place in the West Suburban Conference. Head Coach Zelenovich had only good things to say about the players. He believed that team speed, an aggressive, hard hitting defense, and an overall commitment from the athletes to play well were the strongest qualities of the team this season. This year, team captains Louis Bradley and Jerome Berry helped lead the team through a rough season. Glenbard West and Lyons Township proved to be two rough competitors because they had great tradition and were used to winning. The team was especially proud of beating Hinsdale Central 13-3 on their homecoming, and coming from behind to beat Oak Park 13-7 in the last 20 seconds.

During the season, team members voted who would receive honorary awards. Voted most improved players were Carey McSwine and Titus Banks. Elected as most valuable players by their teammates were Malcolm Nelson Jr. (Offensive Back), Greg Parker (Offensive Lineman), and Corey Cooper (Defensive Back). All in all, it was a very prosperous year. Coach Z was very confident for the coming year also, but in order to be a contender in the West Suburban Conference, they must work harder in the off season, Spring and Summer.

Post-Season Honors

This year's varsity team had an endless number of excellent players, and these talented members did not go unnoticed. Many players received post-season honors. Six players were named to the West Suburban All-Conference Team: Robert Turner (Offensive Guard), Tom Mackie (Center), Malcolm Nelson (Running Back), Jerome Berry (Linebacker), Eric Sims (Linebacker), and Corey Cooper (Safety). Three of these received all-area honors: Eric Sims, Jerome Berry, and Corey Cooper.

The true star of the season, though, was Corey Cooper. Along with being chosen by a unanimous vote, as the No. 1 player in the West Suburban Conference, which is, according to the Chicago Sun-Times, "an unprecedented achievement for a safety," Corey went on to be named a member of the All State Football team. This very high honor is given only to the very best football players in Illinois, one of which Corey Cooper certainly is.

Tough Season for Baby Bucs

The Baby Bucs hit stormy seas this season and were faced with a losing record. Though the team lost six games in a row, the players did not give up. They had beaten Riverside Brookfield on Homecoming Day and came back to win their last game over LaGrange to end the season on a good note. Their record for the year was two wins and seven losses. The team and coaches did not actually select most valuable players, but some members we can look forward to are John Williams, Dean Tiebout, Levy Williams, Frank Lisauskas, Stacy Kemp, Michael Johnson, Willey Hayes, Bruce Meredith, and Robert Shaviss. Coach Maske feels that if the players really work, they can be a good varsity team. He says that many times a team that is weak at the lower levels becomes quite good as the players mature and develop. He's hoping that what the players learned this year will have a great deal of carry over to next year.

With lots of determination and hard work the Freshman "A" Football team, under the guiding force of Coach Carl and team captains, Gerald Fields and Robert Gardner finished sixth in conference.

With a strong defensive unit, 2-2½ hours a day workouts the Freshman team showed their best effort against Proviso West. With improvement from Otis Edwards, Anthony Grimes, Steve Cash, Marcus Mallory, and Robert Gardner, the Frosh had a good productive season. Despite a 1-6-1 overall record and a need of leadership; Coach Carl comments that players such as Eric Moore, Mike Jorgstorf, Solomn Williams, Martin King, Terry Sykes, Perry Perkins, Otis Edwards, Victor DuBose, and Percy Hale should help make next year Soph Squad one to remember.

Getting the Pirates out of trouble is Eric Moore.

With an overall record of 6-1, the Freshman "B" Football team, under the professional leadership of Coach Ryser, managed a tie in their conference.

Dedication, desire, blocking, tackling and execution proved to be the strongest aspects in games such as Downer's Grove North, with a comeback win, breaking the winning streak of undefeated Oak Park and the record-breaking, co-championship division clinching win over LaGrange by the score of 58-0. With lots of improvement from each player, and constant practice, Coach Ryser comments that, "Each game was a pleasure." After combining the A's and the B's, next year's soph squad will be one not soon to be forgotten.

Cross Country

The 1980-81 Cross Country team had a fine season as far as the freshmen went. Of the 38 young men who tried out for the team, only 8 of them were there regularly.

This year's outstanding team members were Varsity runner Phil Sorenson and Freshman Craig Van Dyke. Sorenson was Proviso's only sectional qualifier. On the other hand, Van Dyke compiled the best freshman record ever, winning all conference dual and three team meets, and did an excellent job in invitational meets.

Coach Polson said, "The larger turn out among the freshmen was an encouraging sign." Many boys signed up and received equipment, but after 2 or 3 days, failed to return. There was really nothing improved because of the number of runners. Some of the weaknesses that lie beneath the team are the number of runners and the quality of runners. He also said, "Of the meets we participated in, every one of them was exciting because one could see effort being put forth and weaknesses overcome."

"We are in probably one of the strongest conferences in the state of Illinois. One of the most discouraging signs is when a school shows up with two full bus loads including 60-70 freshmen alone," says Coach Polson.

The only meets won this year were on the freshman level against Riverside-Brookfield and Proviso West. Coach Polson felt that the only reason for loss is because he has been unable to build a team.

When asked if any school records were broken, Polson replies, "Never before have I had a runner win all dual meets on the freshman level as Craig Van Dyke."

The small number of freshmen may develop into a state squad but Coach Polson is doubtful, "Every coach likes to feel that is the case or will be, but I am doubtful. We do not have enough runners to build a squad and not all that we have are willing to work that hard."

Anyone who is present for practice daily, has a good attitude and who wins virtually every meet is an asset to the team, for example, Craig Van Dyke. Coach Polson seems to feel Craig will do very well over the next three years, "if he continues to train properly and is dedicated to improvement, he could be the best in anything, but it is hard to be #1 and he will have to work and be willing to develop his talents." When asked if Craig will be state material he replies, "Qualify for state? Sure. Win state? That's another question. To be #1 out of many hundreds is tough and no one can predict that future for him. However, it is possible and I hope for it."

Runners we can look forward to in the seasons to come are Craig Van Dyke and John Washington. With these two young men, Cross Country may just be crossing the road to victory.

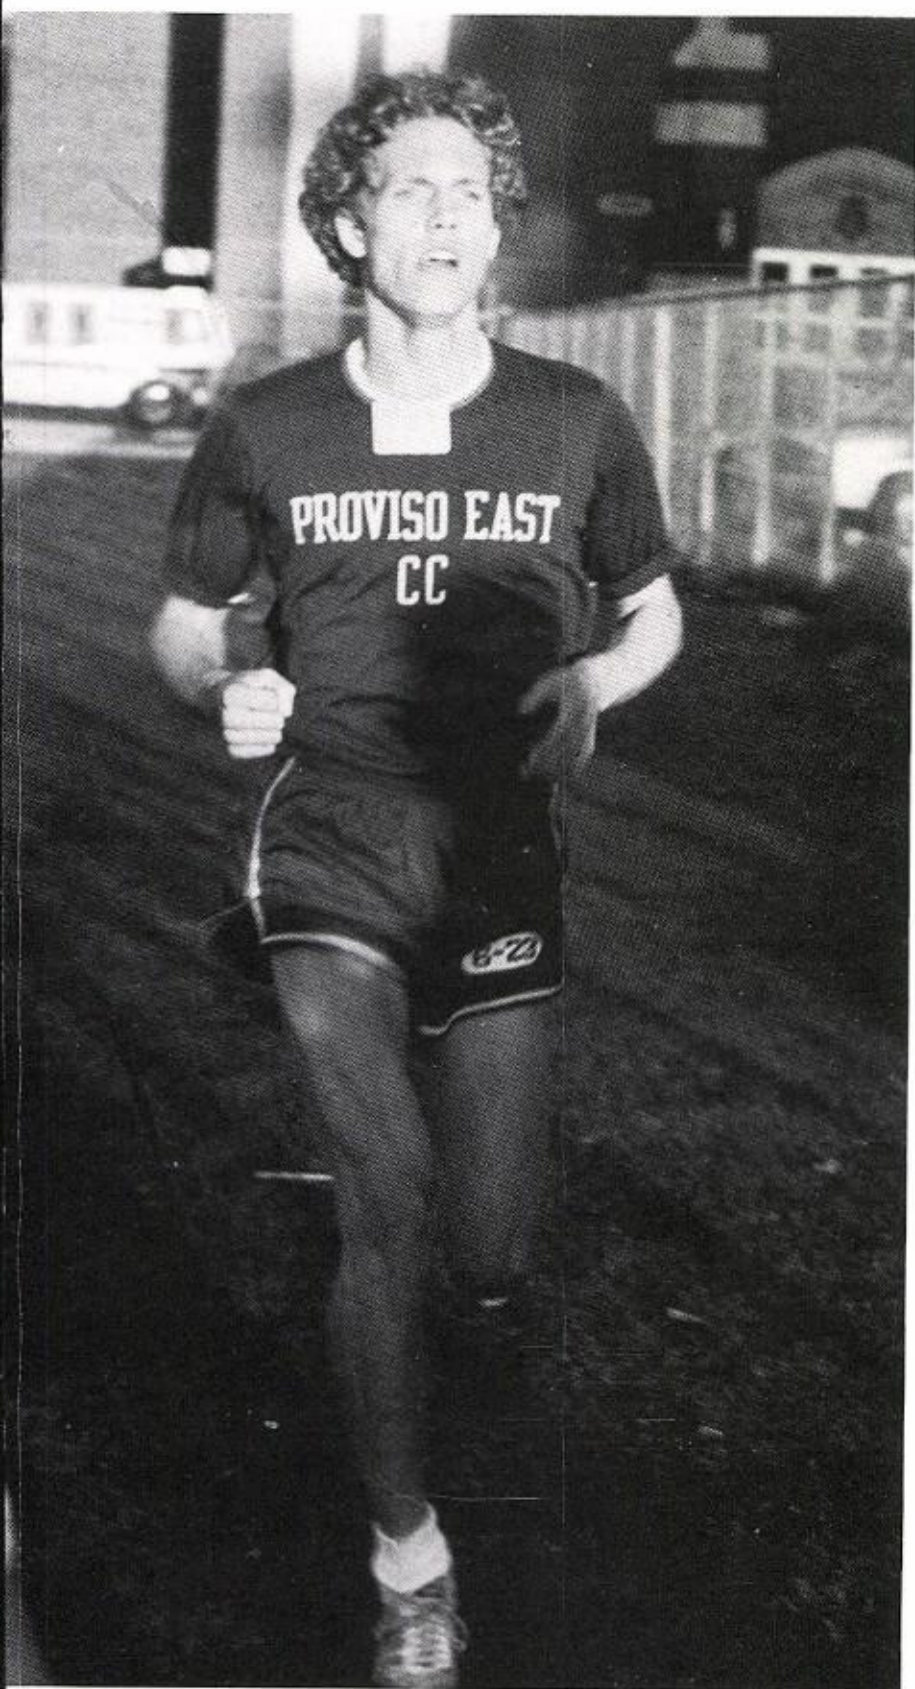

After winning every conference meet and big invitational meets, freshman Craig Van Dyke continues to develop his talents.

Tennis Is . . .

The 1980 girls tennis team wasn't that successful this year. Though they did win a few matches, they still placed ninth in conference. On the junior varsity squad, the most valuable players were Debbie Turek, Jill Kruse, and Reniece Moore. Coach Rasmussen states that if Reniece decided to continue, she will improve and maybe take state. Practice was held for three hours everyday. Everyone went home tired. Signs of improvement were brought on by the whole team, most of all by senior Margie Gales. She played second singles on the Varsity squad. The most valuable players on the Varsity squad were Seniors Margie Gales and Diane Leninger, who played number 1 singles. She lived up to her position by running in the semi-finals. It was Maine East that Leninger lost three sets against. If she would have won that match, she would have been the first Proviso East girl to go downstate. Coach Rasmussen was proud of these Seniors and wished them the best of luck in the future. All in all, the team did do an outstanding job and were ranked fifth out of ten in districts. For the year to come, it will depend on what they do on off season. Coach Rasmussen said that they are a hard working bunch of girls and the season went exactly as anticipated. He added that next year the team will be stronger and that there will be more players to add even more quality to the game.

While the girls warm up, Coach Rasmussen discusses the lineup.

The 1980-81 Proviso East golf team started out with a few problems and ended with more. One of these was the turnout from Proviso's students. According to Mr. Scafidi, "We haven't had a black student try out for the team since I have been coach." We draw about 20% of the school (male population). If we had the participation on the black athlete, we would definitely have a brighter future."

The golf team had 27 eager students try out. Of these 27, only 23 were chosen. Coach Scafidi says the team had a bigger turn-out than last year. The golfers practiced at Fresh Meadows Golf Course in Hinsdale.

Captains this year junior Scott Cote and senior Dave Doss. They were also this year's outstanding golfers. Cote had a low average and Doss was the most valuable senior. When asked what other problems the team had, Scafidi replies, "The varsity had problems rebuilding the team after a loss of five seniors from last year. The team could not have done much different. All the opportunities are there for our golfers. It all depends on the individual initiative to excell in golf."

The weaknesses lie in not enough prior experience. A good percent of the golfers come to try out with no experience at all. Some don't even have their own golf clubs.

The team had no really exciting meets. They lost all the conference meets and non-conference meets against Elmwood Park, Morton East and Morton West. The schools they found the hardest to compete against were Hinsdale Central, Glenbard West, LaGrange, and Downers Grove North. "The team is inexperienced and the necessary development just isn't there," Coach Scafidi said.

Scafidi feels that the Frosh-Soph did an excellent job and should make an even stronger Varsity next year.

In Conference, the Frosh-Soph came in 6th place out of eight teams. The Varsity came in last place. In Districts the Frosh-Soph was 6th and the Varsity failed to place.

The golfers we can look forward to for outstanding performances are Bill Most, Bill Klemz, Ron Austin, Ken Austin, Scott Cote, Brian Cote, Mike Sacco, and Dennis Crotty. These people will be competing on the Varsity level next year.

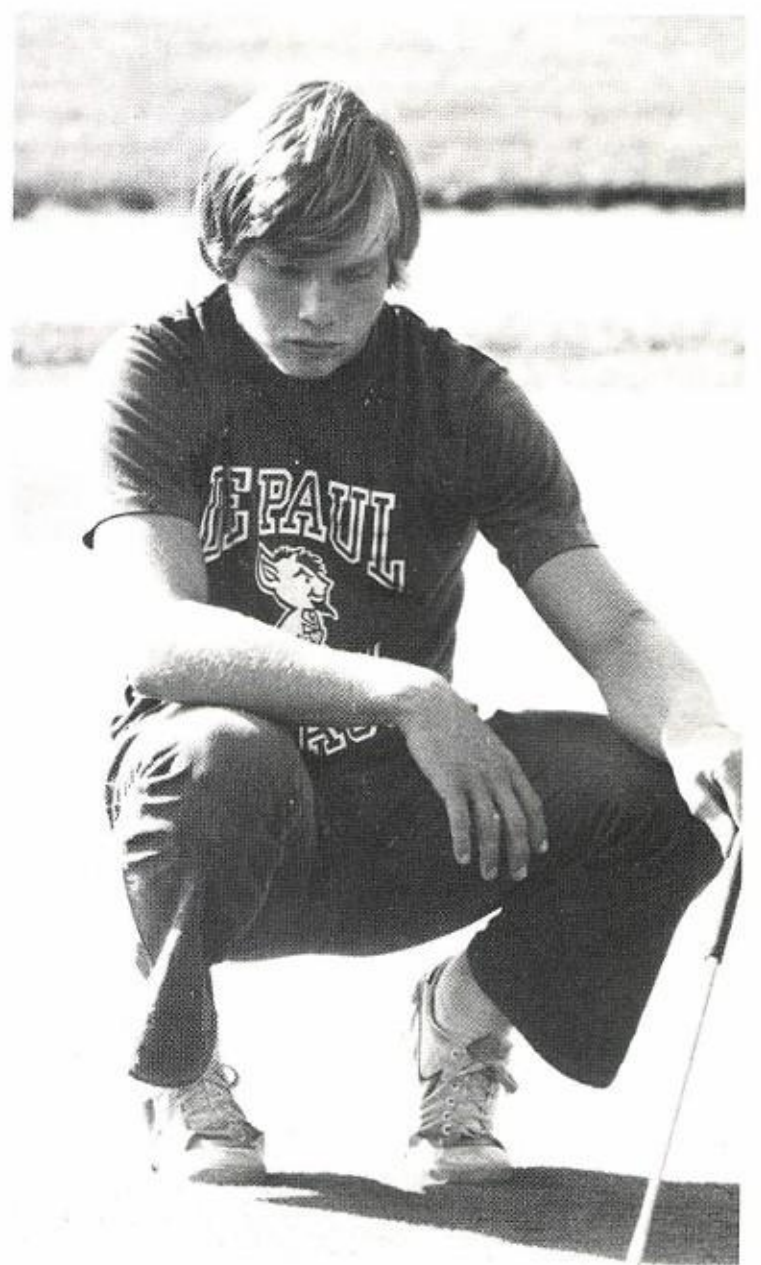

Senior Dave Doss demonstrates a perfect "Hole in One."

Splashing into the 1980-81 swimming season, Proviso East came up at the short end of the pool. Despite strength, power, and unity, the girls failed to secure a win.

Out of the thirty girls that tried out for the team, only sixteen were chosen to represent Proviso East. This year's team consisted mainly of the freshman returns from last year, Connie Kern, Carol Rodgers, Sherri Achuff, Heidi Cuesta, Laura DeSanti, Michelle Pellett, Jeanine Pellett, and Irene Klein, seniors Lynette Richter and Sue Gerhardt, juniors, Pam Kline, Kelly VanDyke, Nancy Laatz, and Alva Reyes, freshmen Andie DiCola, and Patti Ryerson.

Outstanding swimmers this year were Carol Rodgers — 200 and 500 yd. freestyle, Heidi Cuesta — 200 yd. individual medley, Lynette Richter — 100 yd. breaststroke, Nancy Laatz — 50 yd. freestyle and 100 yd. backstroke, and Sue Gerhardt — 1 meter diving.

The overall team improved well; they improved their times and there was more interest on the part of the 'old faithfuls'. The team had better starts, turns, stroke efficiency, and spirit. When asked what she would have liked to improve about her swimmers, Coach Sanchez says, "I would have given them all fins and pull paddles." The reason the team did not win a meet this year was because of a lack of skill in areas and too many "I don't feel wells today." The fact that our school does not have any age group programs hinders Proviso's swimmers, because they have not had the pool time and the skill that other teams in our conference have had.

But this in no way discouraged the swimmers. Even though they found out, all too soon, that their toughest competition would come from Hinsdale Central, Oak Park-River Forest, Downers Grove North, and Lyons Township. After losing these four meets, Sanchez feels that the girls could have tried a little bit harder. The swimmers were not even discouraged when they lost three very close meets to Argo, Proviso West, and Morton East. Sanchez says, "We could have and should have won." The meets that were really good were York, Conference, and Districts. The team proved that they really cared.

Parent participation was at an ultimate high this year. "It always helps when your parents and family are there to cheer you on," says Sanchez.

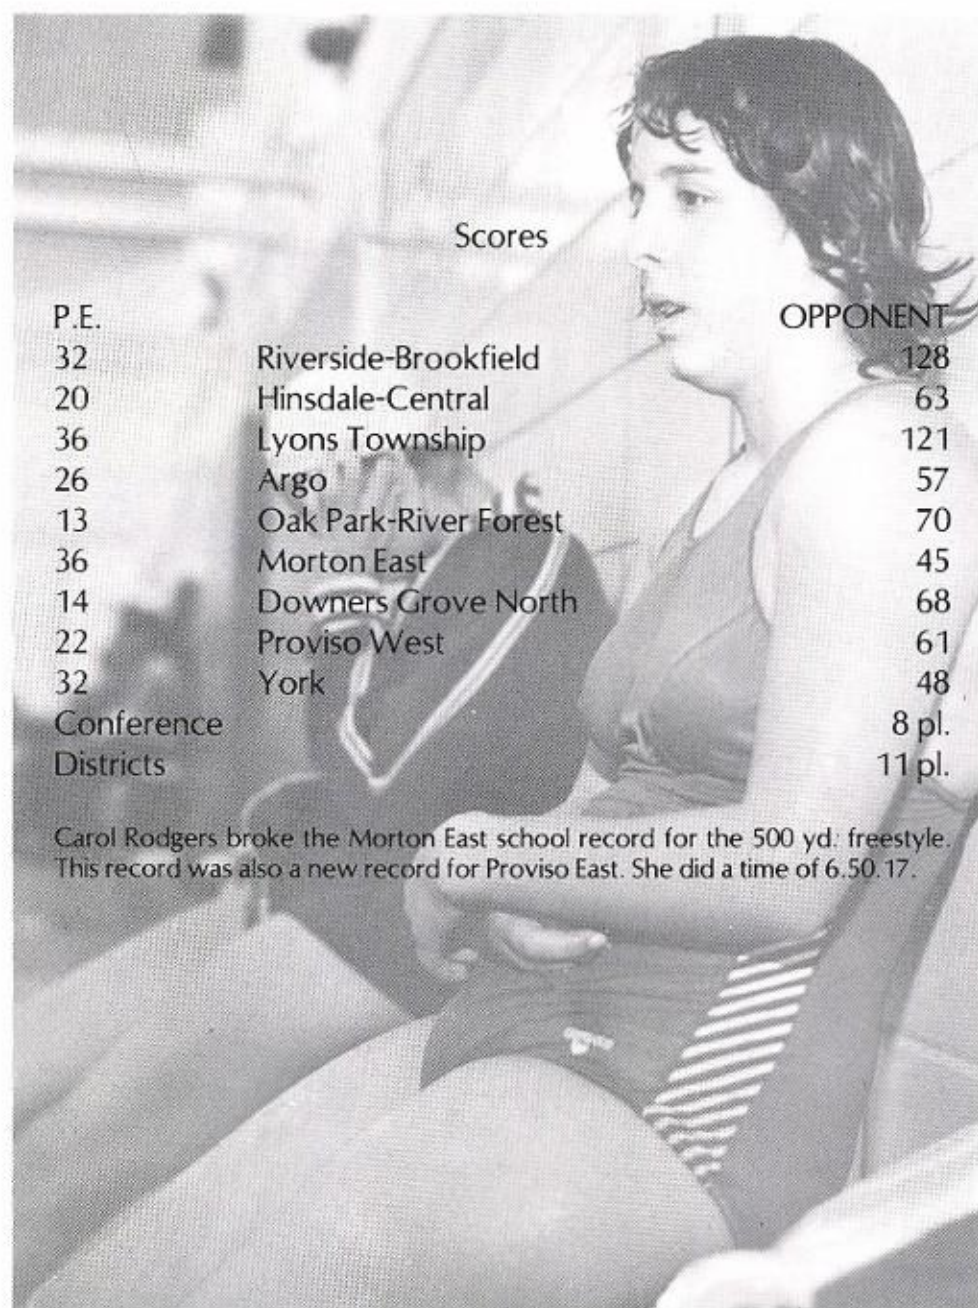

When asked how she feels her team will do next year, Sanchez says, "Better things are always happening. We did better this year than last. We can only improve. We have the ability."

Sanchez speaks of her swimmers as "Crazy and wonderful young ladies."

Ms. Barb Sanchez is in her second year of coaching the girls' team, and Mr. Chris Mengel is in his fourth year of coaching the girl divers.

The swimmers we can look forward to for outstanding performances are, Sherri Achuff, Heidi Cuesta, Laura DeSanti, Andi DiCola, Connie Kern, Pam Kline, Nancy Laatz, Jeanine Pellett, Michelle Pellett, Alva Reyes, Carol Rodgers, Patti Ryerson, and Kelly VanDyke.

Another feather was placed in the cap of the soccer team this year with a 2nd in conference finish. Slow development, and need for more discipline, were the only weak points in this year's team.

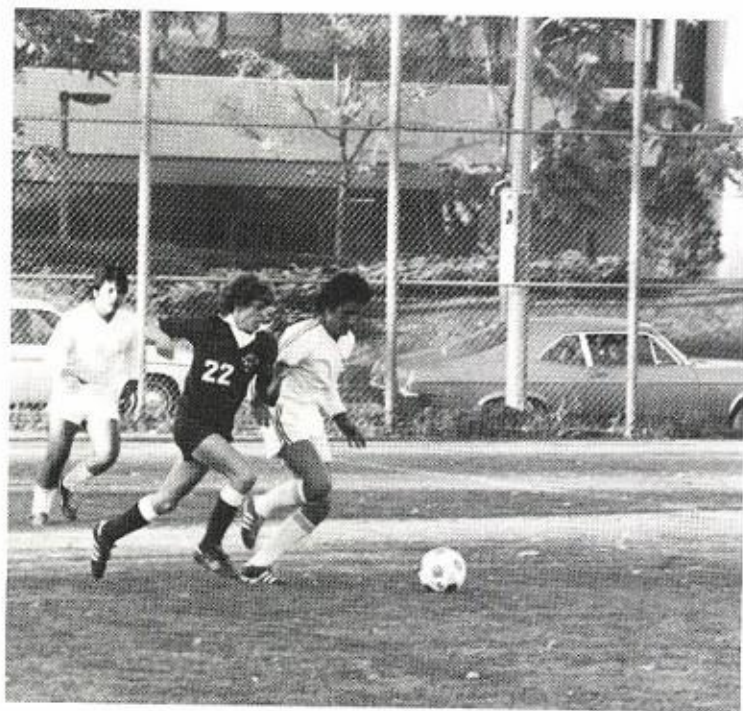

Team captains Albert Jury and Ignacio Martinez led the Bucs in their hardest games against Oak Park and York because, "their so-called programs are 15-26 years old."

Coach Martinez states that there is a better season on the way, with players such as Joe and Vince Lavadessa, David and Juan Lopez, and Javier and Ignacio Martinez to look forward to. With diligent practice the team still managed to show an impressive season.

The 1980 Volleyball team had an outstanding season. It consisted of a Junior Varsity and a Varsity squad. The Junior Varsity put in three hard hours of practice everyday. Practice made them strong and willing which overall gave them a record of twelve wins and six losses. The girls really pleased and enjoyed themselves, even though they were tied with Downers Grove North for sixth place in Conference. In the future, Coach Pickers is hoping for an improvement in conference meets so they can be a No. 1 team.

As for the Varsity squad, it was their best season that any volleyball team has ever had here at Proviso East. Practice has been held for four long hours everyday. The girls really put themselves together and tried hard to win. Even though they placed last in conference the overall record was eleven wins and fourteen losses. They weren't too pleased with the record because they believed at they could have gone much farther. With these ambitions, they were defeated by Hinsdale Central in the semi-finals. They concentrated and tried hard but mistakes cost them some crucial points. The most valuable players were junior Beth Johnson and seniors Donna Kubis and Maxine Henderson. Their most important game was beating the Lyons Township. This really gave the encouragement they needed to have them believe in themselves that they can be winners. We won't be seeing the seniors anymore but wish them the best of luck in the future. Beth Johnson was honored to the all-area team this year. Even though her injury has kept her out for a prolonged period, Coach Lynne Widerstrom will be helping her back into shape and maybe the team will possibly make it to sectionals. As years go by, the program should continue to grow and improve, and someday you'll see us down state.

Most Valuable Player, Donna Kubis bumps the ball over the net as Beth Johnson, who made all-area team, was there to help out.

Beth Johnson cautiously keeps an eye on the ball.

Sports Board

Corey Cooper

Corey Cooper's determination and the desire to win are what give him the strength to push his way through football, basketball, and baseball. Cooper feels that the sports themselves keep him going.

Corey says that he wasn't interested in sports until Mr. Rivers, Glenn Rivers' father, persuaded him to join some. Eventually, Cooper competed in sports at his grammar school. At Proviso, Cooper continued to play football, basketball, and baseball. Corey recalls his junior year as a "bad year." He wasn't satisfied with himself. Cooper says, "I became frustrated. I thought about quitting football." Cooper did finish the season, but without much playing time and without enjoying it. Basketball and baseball didn't go so well for Cooper his junior year either.

Comparing this year with last, Corey Cooper feels that he has matured. He says that he learned that, "Sports take a lot of dedication and to be a winner, you can't just walk off." Things have changed for Corey his senior year. In football, his fabulous record as a defensive back earned him such awards as Proviso's most valuable football player for this year, West Suburban Conference most valuable player, All-State, Area, and others. After a great football season, Cooper leaped right into his favorite sport, basketball. He started this year as a guard. In the third game of the season Corey stretched his ligaments in his ankle. He was in a cast for three weeks and out for five weeks. At press time, though, (February) Cooper was regaining his strength and doing great things for the team again. Corey had not started the baseball season yet when interviewed, but said that he is sure that he'll go out for the team this year and feels he will be more successful than last year.

After graduation, Cooper plans to continue his education at Indiana University on a football scholarship. Cooper plans to continue playing football and baseball in college. He wants to major in psychology, and hopes to go into a business career.

David Marshall

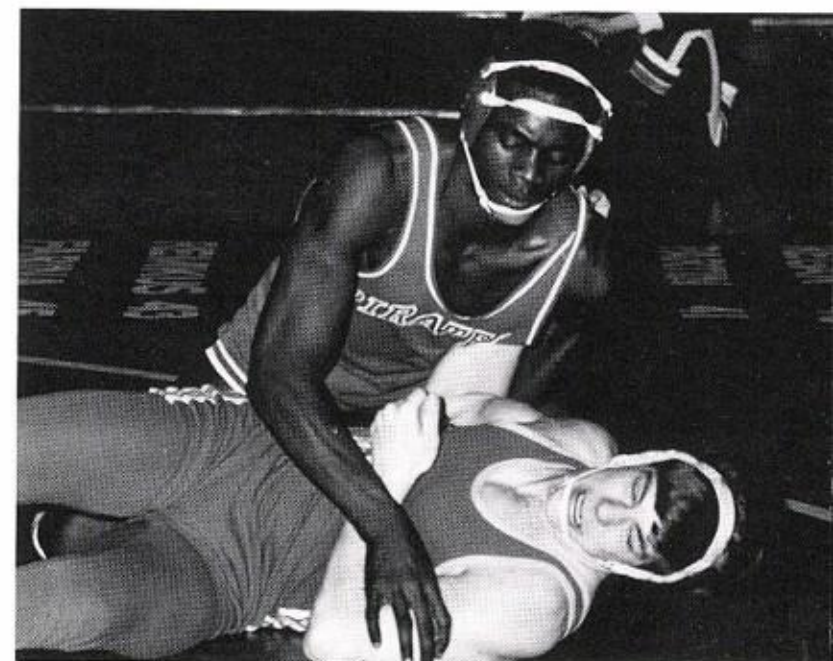

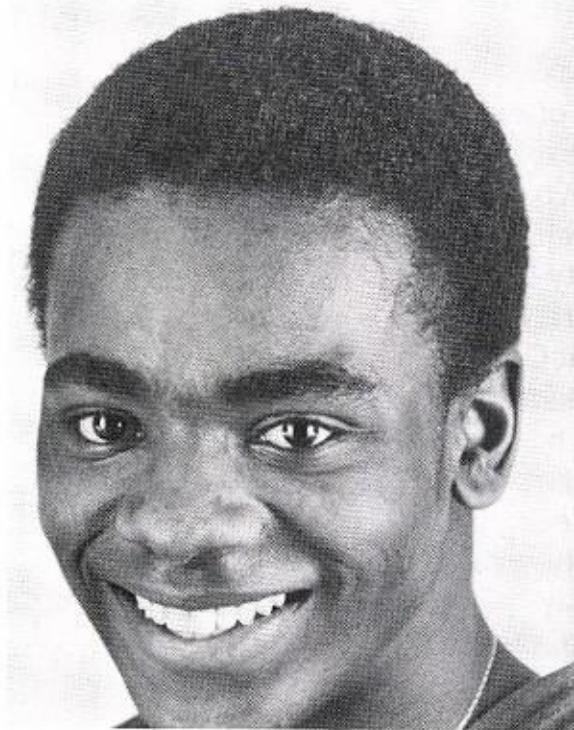

When David Marshall walks into a room, you notice him right away. He is tall, dark, and his muscles look well into condition and powerful. It's no wonder many of his wrestling opponents run away from him on the mat or refuse to compete at all. David says that when he wrestles, he is purposefully aggressive. To him, there is no other way.

David Marshall has been wrestling since his freshman year. He had been on the varsity level and has competed in districts since sophomore year. His junior year he not only advanced to sectionals and then to state, but won first place in state competition in his 185 lb. class. You'd think that with that much talent David's father and his father's father and his uncle etcetera would have all been wrestlers. This is not the case though. David was the first in his family to try the sport. He was led to wrestling through his freshmen gym class. Dave said, "Mr. Marino told me if I could pin everyone in the class I could get an A for gym class. So I tried it." Marshall succeeded in pinning everyone in the class and Mr. Marino told him he ought to go out for the wrestling team. "At first I didn't believe him," said Marshall, "and I was surprised when he was mad when I didn't show up for the first practice. I came to the next workout and I liked it." From then on, most other things in David's life revolved around his wrestling. This year David was not even supposed to be wrestling. He was told that he would be out for the season when he found he had cracked cartilage in his knee. Marshall ended up missing only one meet this year because of the injury. His knee seemed to give him no further trouble because his season record was 27-0. He also advanced once again to state. At press time, (February) he had not gone to state yet. It is expected that he will do well though.

Marshall says that he wishes he had more time. Although David has a C grade point average, he feels it could be better if he had more time. Between wrestling, school, and his job, (He works at Arco Pit-Stop) he doesn't often find himself idle.

David Marshall has many schools interested in having him wrestle for them. Six have already offered him scholarships. David is leaning towards Iowa State and Auburn, Alabama. Marshall ought to do well in college because he still is interested and enthusiastic about wrestling. Marshall also looks on college as a chance to come across better and stronger wrestlers than himself which will help him to improve. Marshall knows that the tougher the competition, the better he will get.

Sports Board

Donna Kubis

Donna Kubis has played volleyball for four years, basketball for three years, and will take part in a fourth year of softball when that sport begins in spring. This may seem like a lot, but sports are only one part of the busy life of Donna Kubis.

Donna played both volleyball and softball in grammar school. In both cases, the coach of each sport sought Donna out in gym class and asked her to try out. Donna continued to play volleyball in high school and was moved up to the varsity level at the end of her freshman year. She played softball as a freshman on the varsity level. In between volleyball and basketball Donna played basketball. When Coach Noeth first convinced Donna to play basketball instead of swimming freshman year, Donna wasn't sure whether or not she had done the right thing. Now looking back, she is sure.

When Donna first became involved in sports, she said that she didn't entirely have her mother's approval. Donna's mother felt that being so competitive may not be lady-like. However, she did not keep Donna from competing. Donna tried to explain her own feelings to her mother about sports and tell her that sports was what she really liked. To Donna sports is a way to get rid of the excess amount of energy that Donna has had since being a child. Donna explains that she was a hyperactive child when she was younger. Donna says that her mother did eventually come to accept the fact that Donna liked sports and would be involved in them for a long time. Donna says that what made her mother accept them the most was when she realized that Donna was pretty good at them.

Donna plans to go on to college and continue in her sports. She has been offered scholarships by some colleges but she is not sure if she will attend them or not.

Maxine Henderson

Maxine Henderson and Donna Kubis must see a lot of each other because they are both on the same teams. Maxine Henderson has also been on volleyball for four years, softball (two years), and basketball (four years). Maxine has been on the varsity level of all of these sports since her sophomore year. She competed in volleyball and softball at Garfield Grammar school.

Maxine Henderson had won all-conference in volleyball, basketball and softball. Maxine has been athletic and competitive since early childhood. She feels the fact that she has two older brothers is a cause for that. In her free time she used to play basketball or softball with her brothers when she was younger. As much as she has enjoyed sports in high school, she doesn't think she would like to make a career out of it. She would however, like to continue participating in sports in college. She has been offered scholarships to Illinois State and McPheerson in Kansas. She is still undecided as to where she will go. Maxine plans to continue playing basketball and softball. She feels that playing all three would be too much.

Maxine also feels that it would be too much pressure on her shoulder to go through three seasons. The problem with her shoulder is that it pops out occasionally. It first popped out freshman year in a volleyball game. This year, however, Maxine only missed two games during the basketball season due to chicken pox.

Some of the other things that Maxine may have been involved in if she hadn't been so into sports were Student Council and Dance Club. She was on Student Council freshman year, but had to give it up because of lack of time. She has never gotten a chance to try out for Dance Club at Proviso but was in it in grade school and would have loved to have joined here. As a future Maxine plans to keep herself sports, but necessarily competing. She would like to own a health club and if this isn't possible, she would settle for going into business.

The Girl's Basketball team has thus far a 1-13 record in conference and 5-15 record over all. The team did a lot of adjusting from last year. The girls played as a team with Dedra Staple, Lolita Gilliam and Maxine Henderson all seniors.

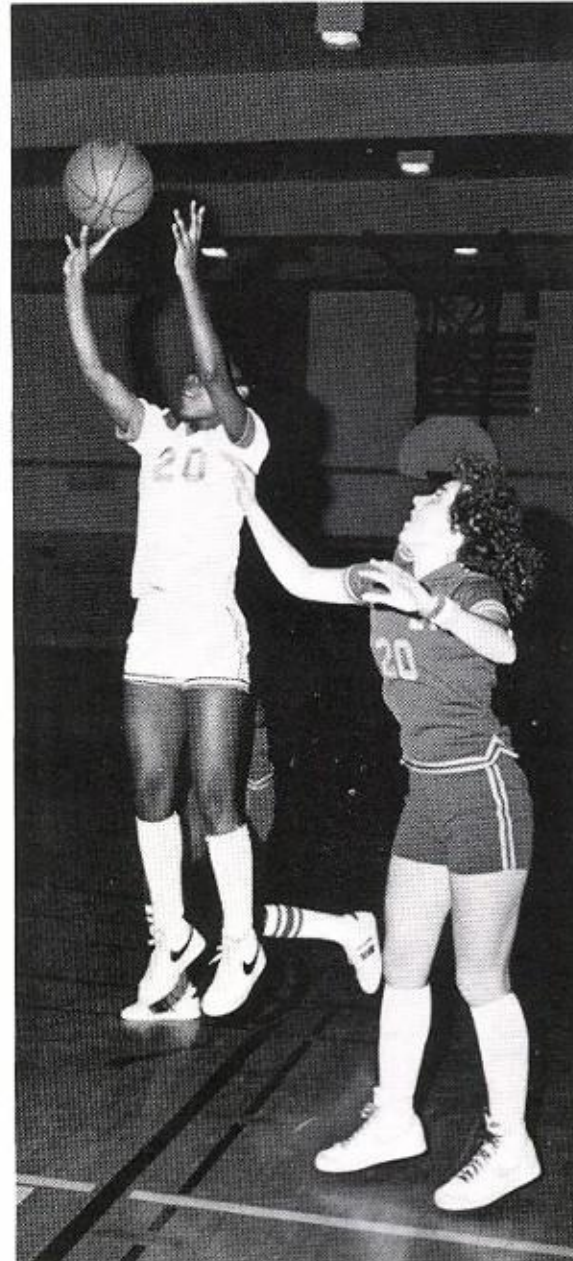

Coach Montgomery says that the biggest problem is playing with intensity throughout the game. "We have to be down 10 points, before we decide that it's time to play." The Pirates also proved that they have the ability to come from behind and score quick points. Proviso West and Riverside/Brookfield proved to be the most exciting games when the Pirates came from behind to win by three, and the RB game when the team came from behind to get the lead but could not hold it. They lost by one.

They worked hard to form a good team that would function well together. The developments of the team came later in the season. Hard work and team spirit brought the team together. Despite the hard work awaiting from such teams as York and Proviso West, the girls still found time to put themselves into each game and work as a team. The coaches are looking forward to an interesting and successful season for the now experienced teams.

Hubbard, Monegain Keep Pirates Goin'

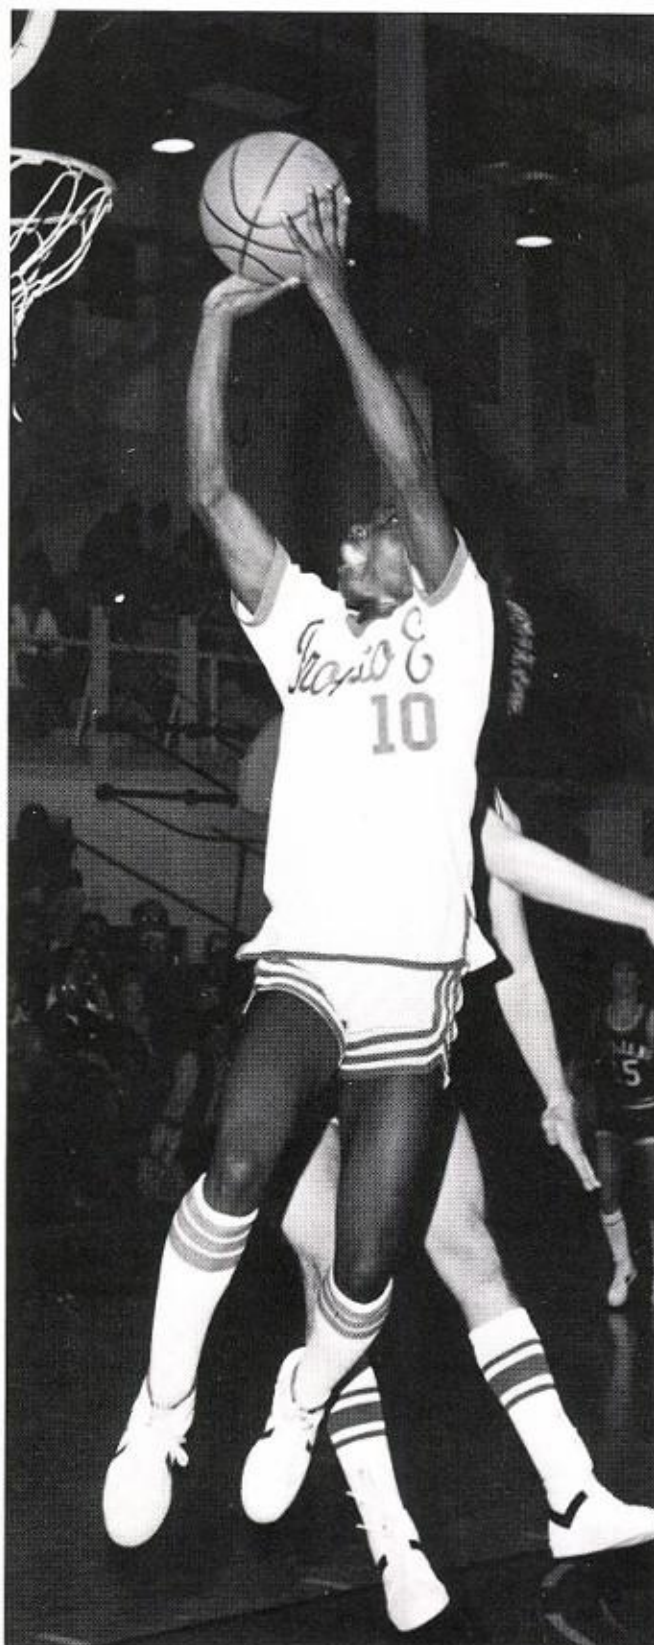

Skeptics thought Proviso East would falter this year after the loss of Glenn Rivers and Ricky Wilson, but the Pirates proved them wrong. Although deficit in height, the team's quickness, full court press, shooting ability and great desire produced another superb team. Getting off to a fast start, the Pirates won a tough Thanksgiving Tournament, beating Glenbard East, Benet Academy, and finally the Pirate's old nemesis, De La Salle. Starter Corey Cooper stretched some ligaments in the tournament and was out for six weeks, setting the Pirates back a little. La Grange proved to be the unbeatable opponent this year, although East downed West three times with ease. Coach Whittenberg blamed a "lackadaisical" attitude for a loss to Glenbard West. By the final weeks of the season the Pirates reached their full strength, with Cooper back in the lineup and Earnest Hubbard and Justyne Monegain demonstrating their outstanding abilities. Although graduating senior starters will be sorely missed next year, Whittenberg looks for Tracy Henderson to lead the team to another good season with a lot of help from Donald Conrad and Maurice Frison.

Post season honors poured in again for the Pirates. Earnest Hubbard was named All-Conference, All-Area, and All-State. He was also named to the First Team All-Tournament at Champaign. Justyne Monegain was named All-Conference, All-Area, and also named to the First Team All-Tournament at Champaign.

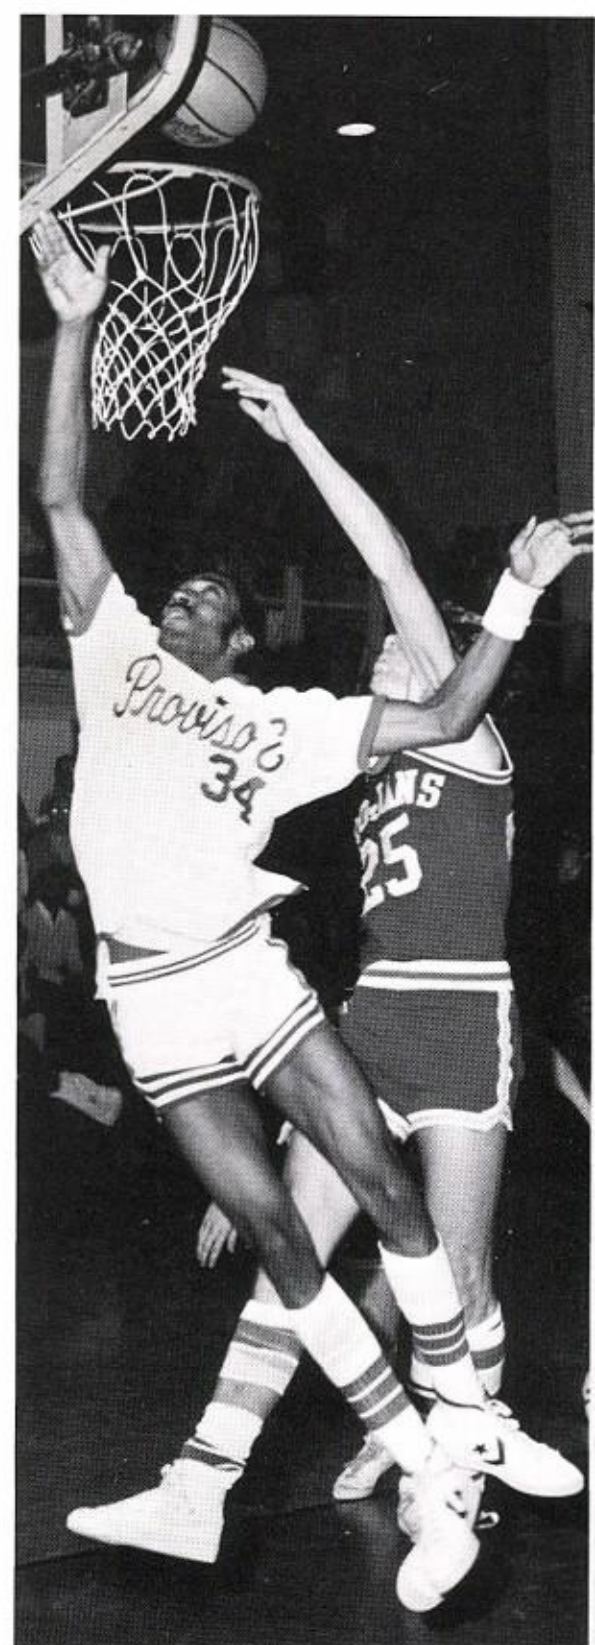

"I didn't know how good this team was. I couldn't recognize it. But these little kids, they made me see it."

The "Little Team With Heart"

1981 Class AA Runner-Up

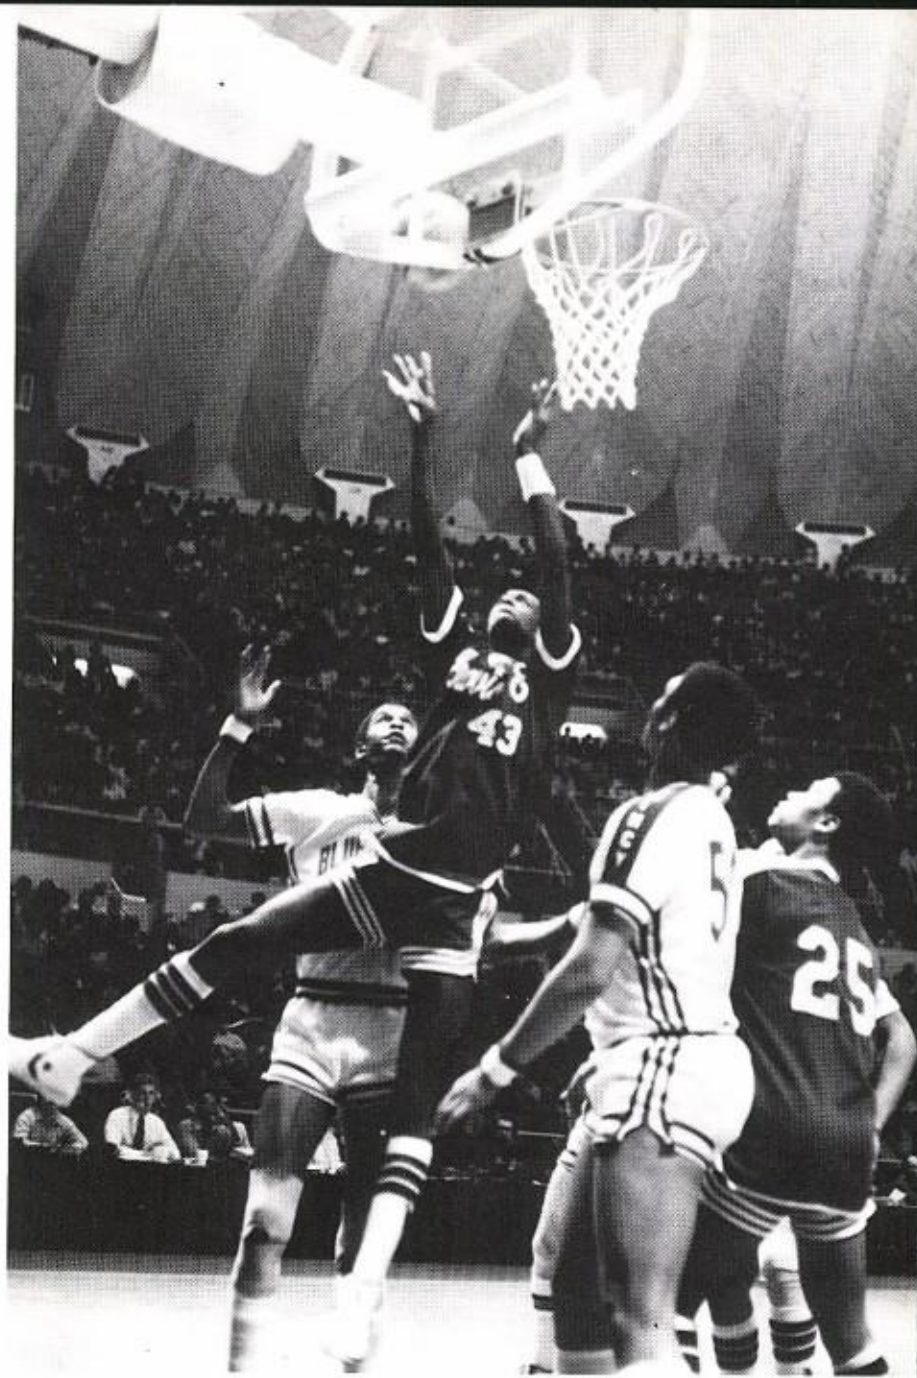

The 1981 Pirates brought home this trophy after a storybook tournament journey which all began with a little team who had heart, quickness, an awesome press, and a coach who became a believer.

Pirate Fans' Wildest Dreams Come True —

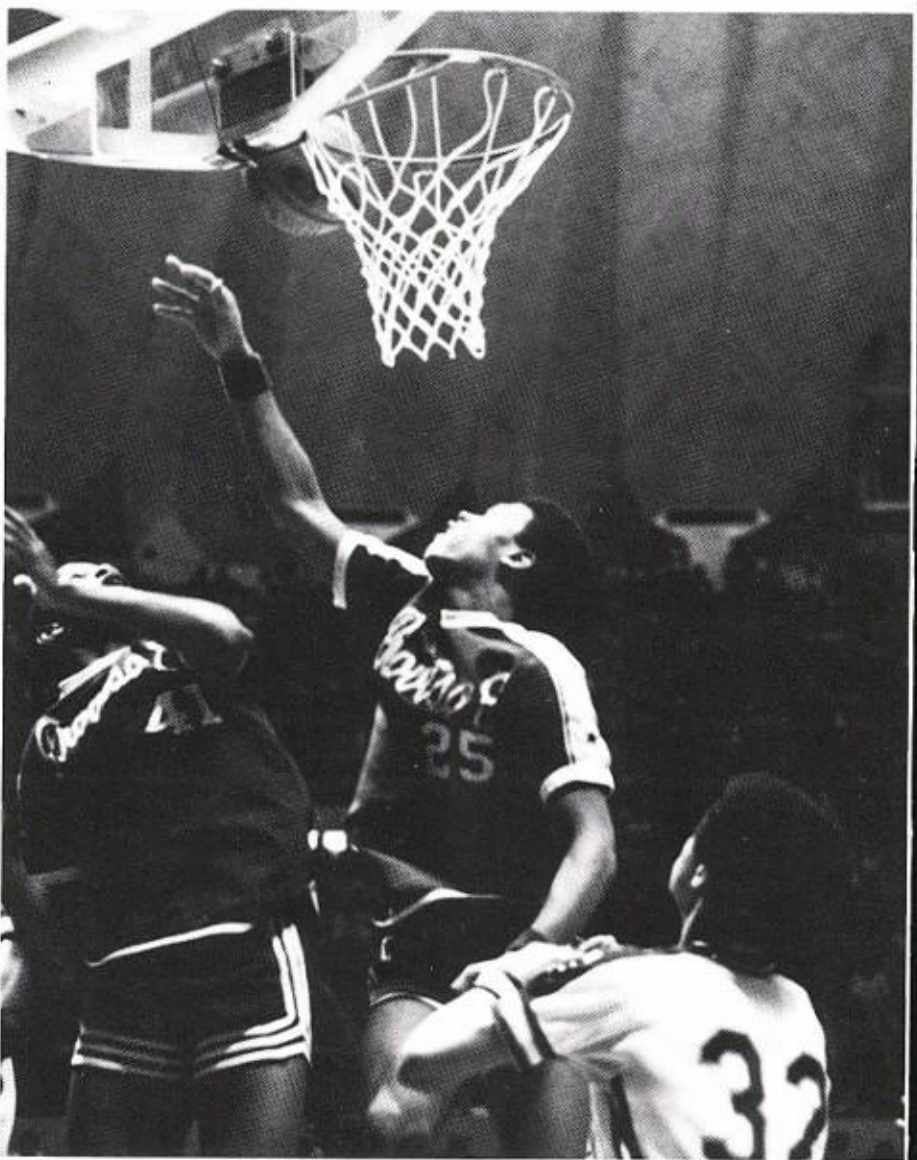

Defying all odds, the Pirates played in the 1981 state championship game. They downed seven teams in tournament play until the awesome Quincy crushed the Pirates 68-39. But no one was crying — this was the team that was not slated to go anywhere — least of all downstate. Coach Whittenberg called Quincy, "The best high school team I've ever put a team up against." The infamous Douglas brothers, Bruce and Dennis, and All American John Payne combined to outshoot, outrebound, and outrun the exhausted Pirates, recuperating from a long afternoon game with Westinghouse. Hubbard and Monegain were held to 13 and 8 points respectively, while Cooper made 8, Henderson 6, Ashford 1, Frison 1, and Armstrong 1. The joyous Pirates and their fans brought home the second place trophy, where it will take its place next to the 1969 and 1974 first place trophies. As for next year? — Who knows? We're all believers now!

The team ranks number 1 to cheerleaders and fans alike as they carry off the trophy in Champaign.

Leaping over 6'10" John Payne, Justyne Monegain, named to the AP All-Tournament Team, lays in the ball.

(Left) Despite problems from unsportsmanlike Quincy cheerleaders and fans, the Proviso cheerleaders dazzle spectators and keep up the team's spirit.

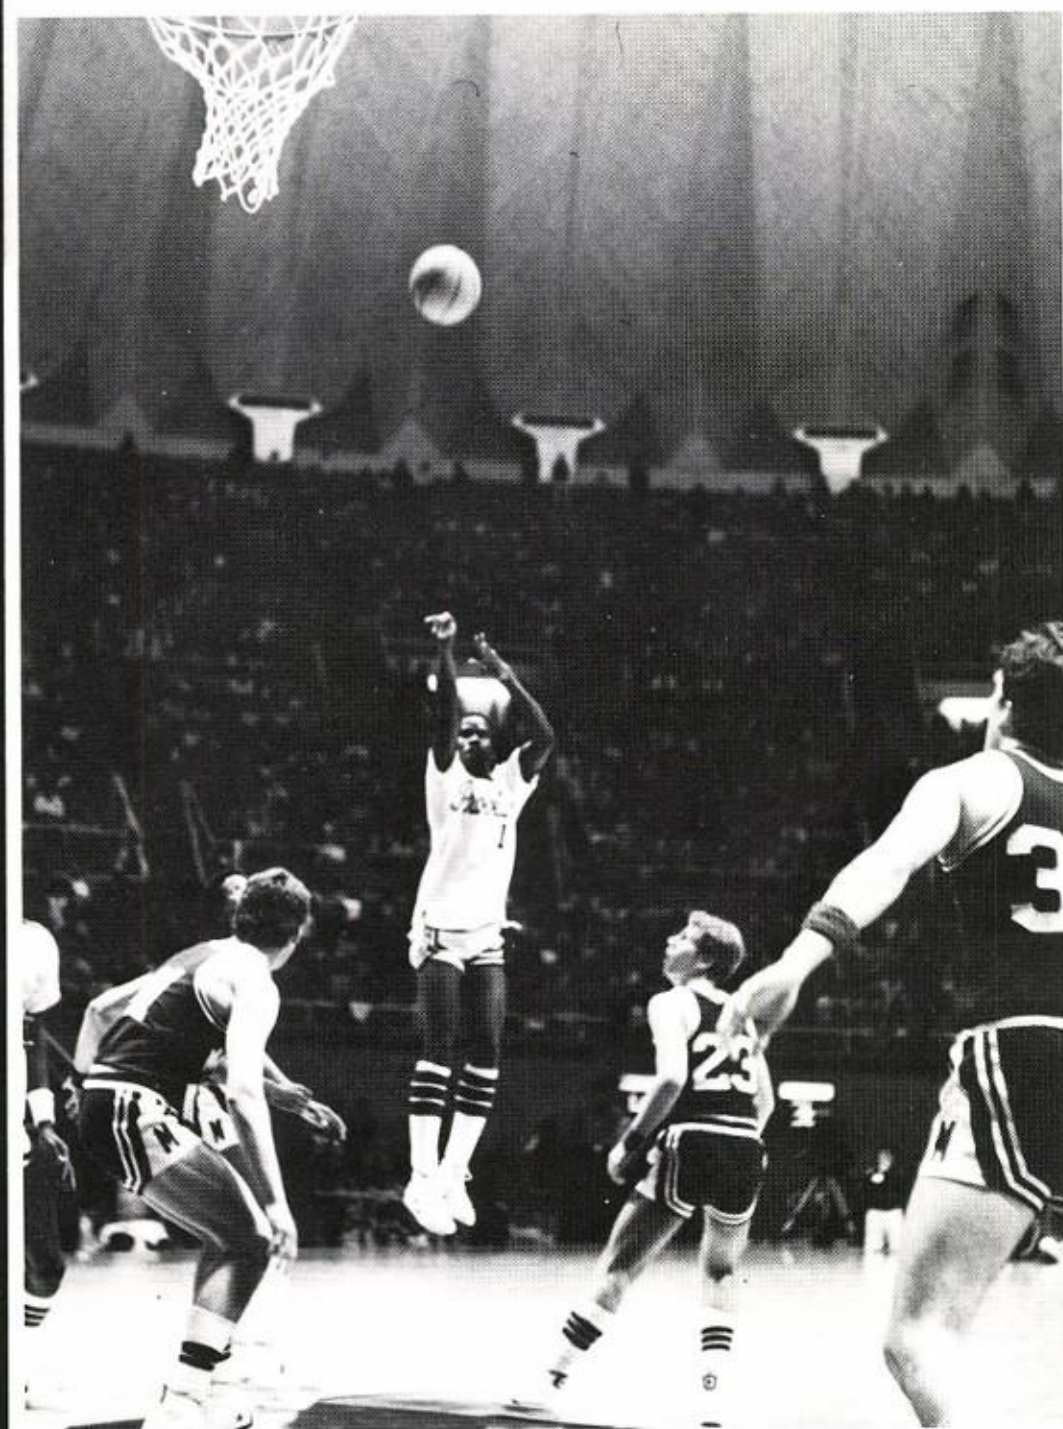

Moline Victim of Pirates' Speed

After a lethargic first half which saw Tracy Henderson and Corey Cooper combine to give the Pirates a 29-28 edge, the Pirates came out smoking after Whittenberg gave the team one of his "tough" halftime talks. Earnest Hubbard was like a man possessed and scored 24 of his 28 points in this half. Henderson scored 17, Monegain 10, Ashford 6, Austin 2, Cooper 2, Frison 4, and Mack 1.

Moline appeared befuddled — at one time the Pirates led 58-39 — but recuperated enough to cut the Pirate lead to the final 74-62. "It's almost impossible not to play their type of game," said Moline coach Whitey Verstraete. As to the Pirates' slow first half? — "We had the Assemble Hall jitters," said Whittenberg.

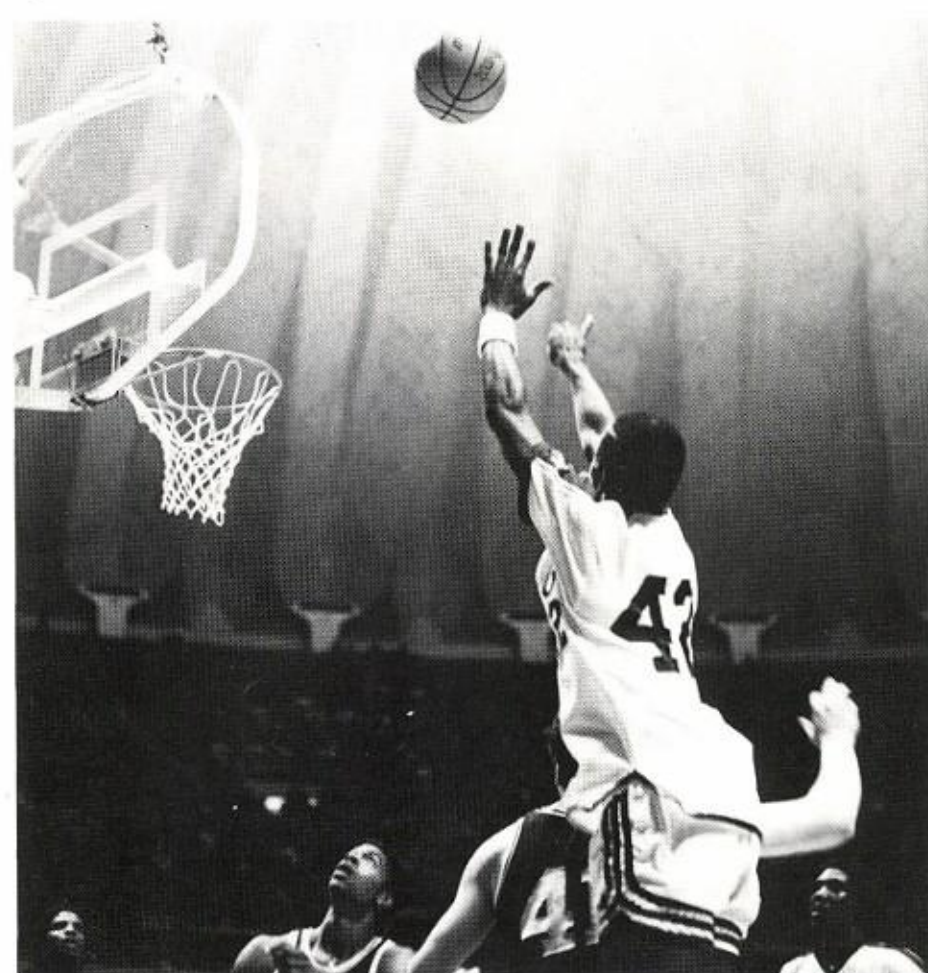

Moline defenders Austin Hall (11) and Ken Metts (45) attempt to put on the brakes as Tracy Henderson executes a smooth move for two.

With his amazing vertical jump, Earnest Hubbard can pump one in long distance for 2 of his 28 points.

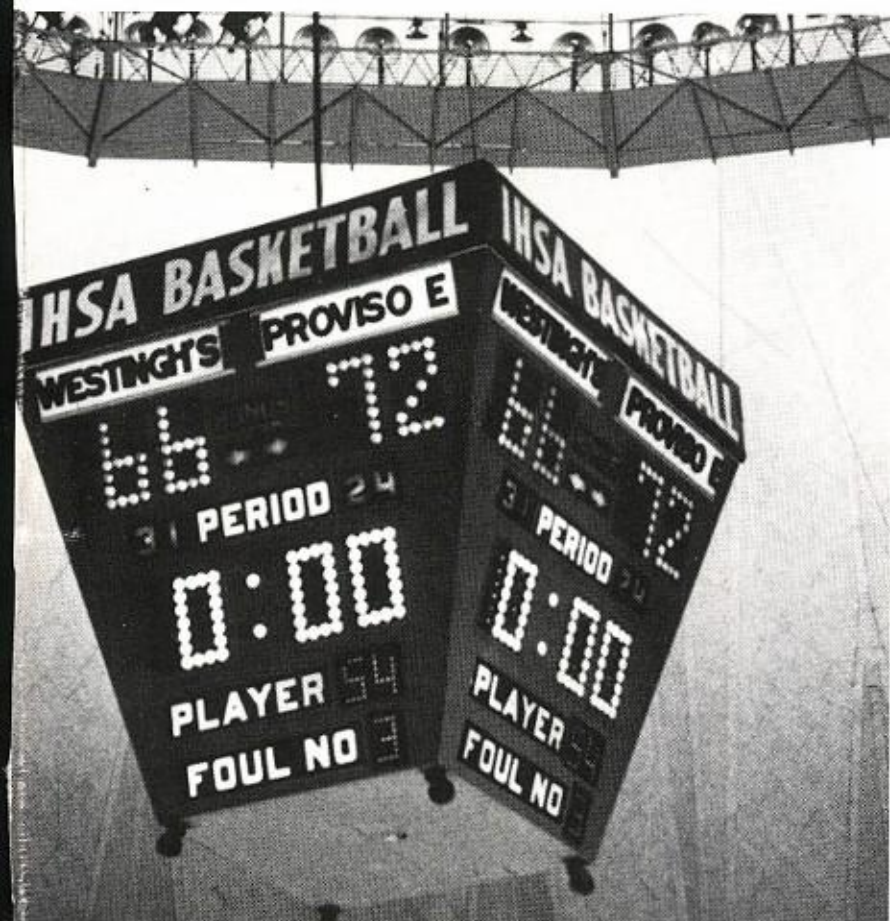

Easily the most impressive cheerleaders in the tournament, the Proviso girls heat up the fans.

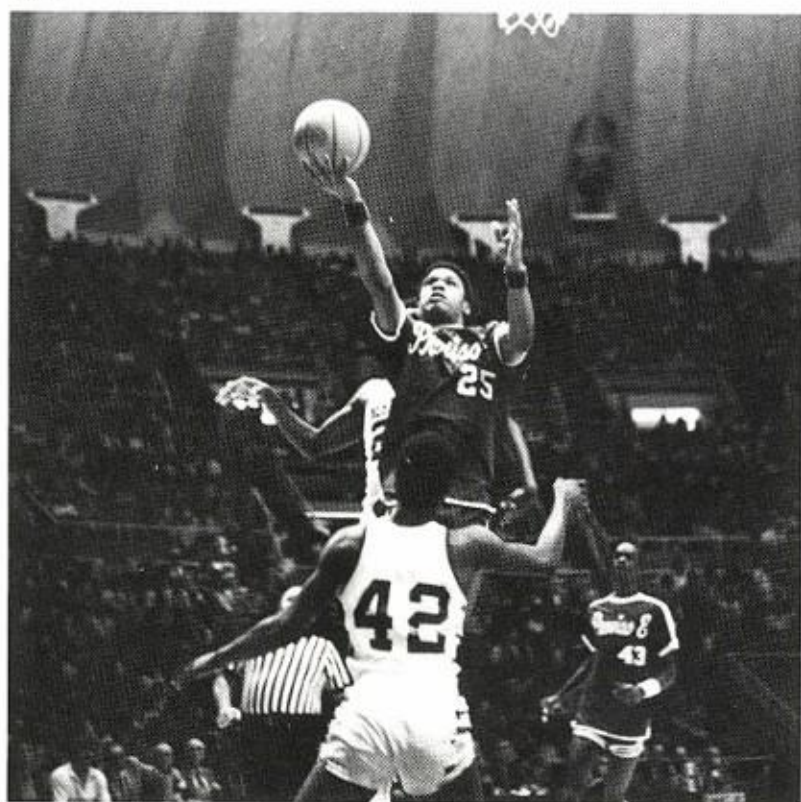

High in the air, Justyne Monegain demonstrates his soft touch.

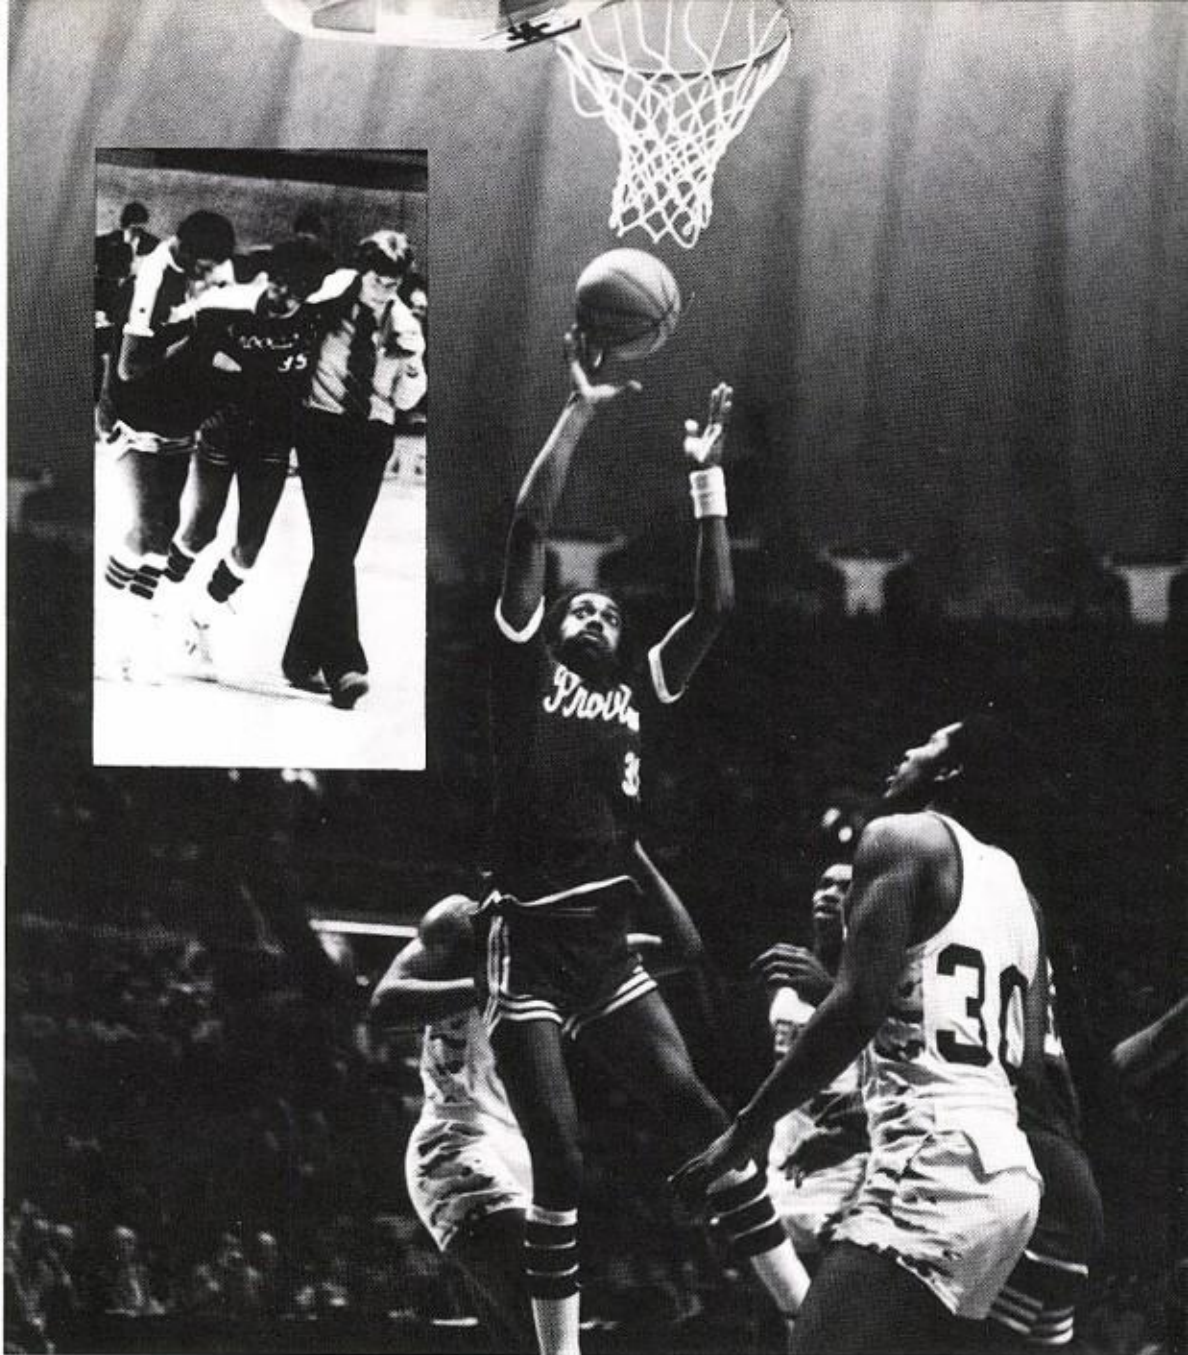

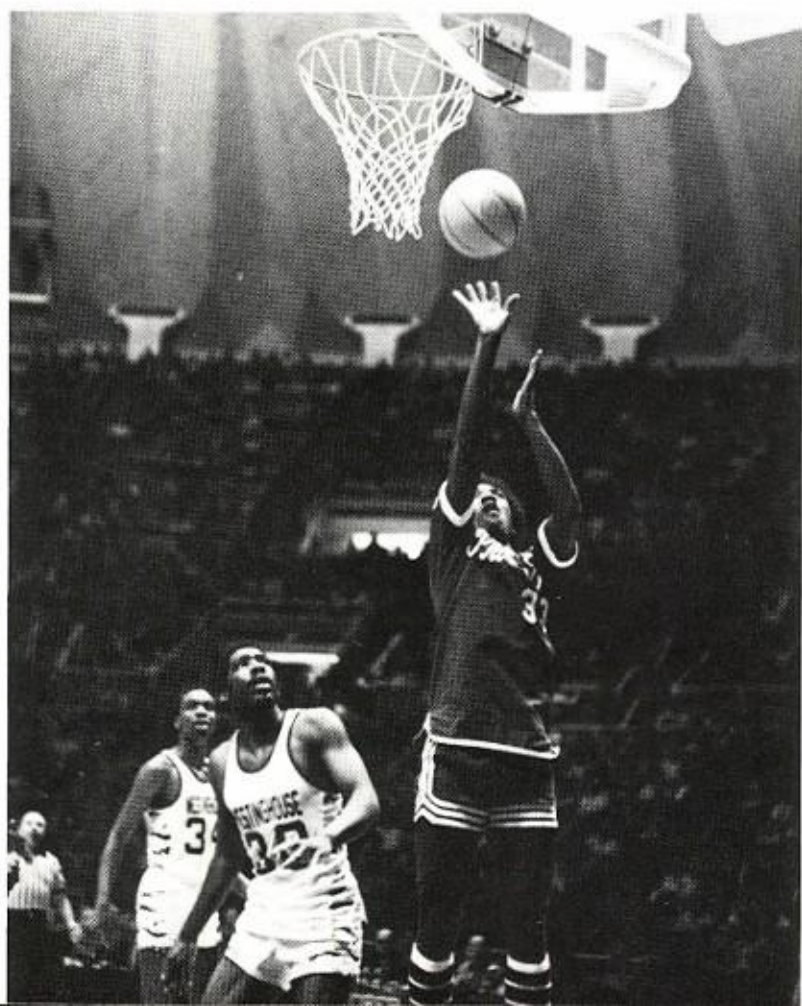

"I'm so proud of these kids, I can't explain it. They are fantastic kids on and off the court. There's not a bad kid in the bunch." ... Coach Glenn Whittenberg

High point for the Pirates (21), Earnest Hubbard rainbows above all defenders.

Pirates Waste Lead — Still Triumph Over Westinghouse

Jumping out to a 31-20 halftime surplus, thanks to the quick work of Corey Cooper, the Pirates sank from 59-37 with 6:29 left to play to a final 72-66. The foul-laden game brought out the worst qualities of both teams — free throw shooting, with Proviso hitting 26 of 45 and Westinghouse hitting 16 of 31. Proviso East scoring was led by Hubbard (21), then Monegain (20), Cooper (13), Henderson (11), Ashford (4), and McDonald (3). The renewed fourth quarter spurt from Westinghouse forced Coach Whittenberg to keep his starters in, thus exhausting them for the championship game.

"We didn't have one or two star players. It was a total team effort. People thought we would just drop." Earnest Hubbard, All Tournament Team

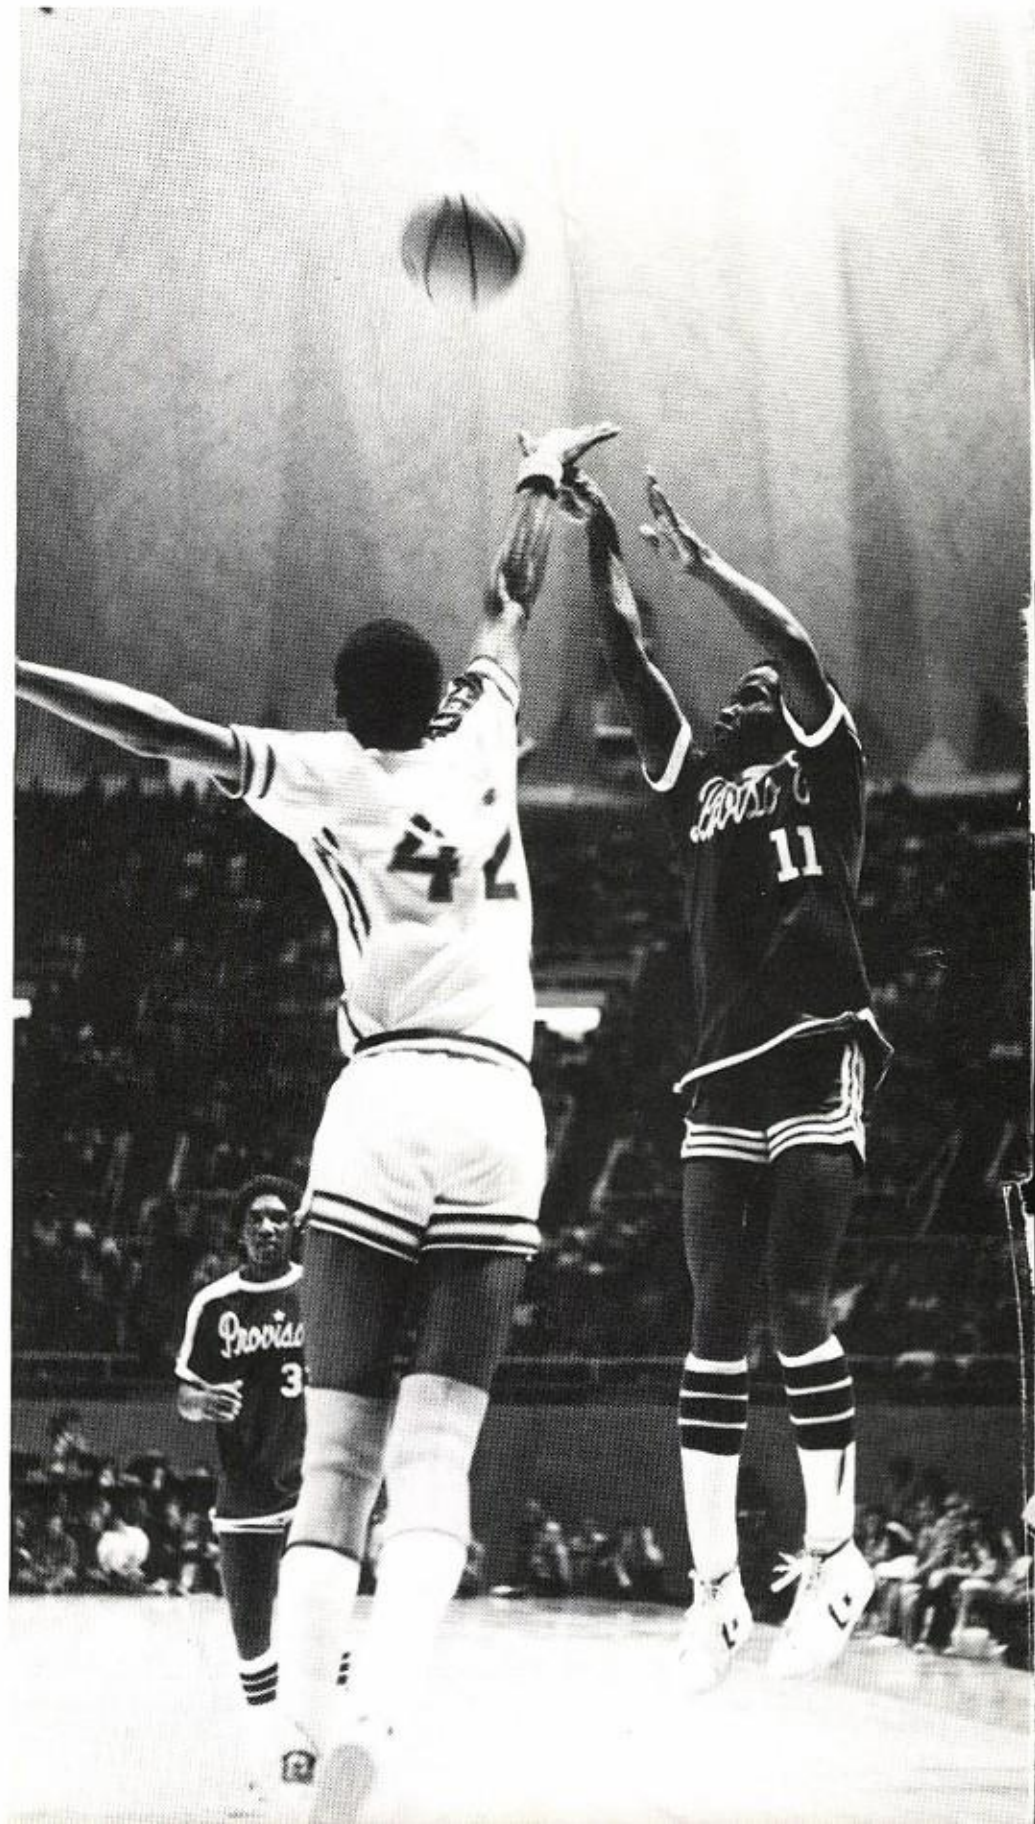

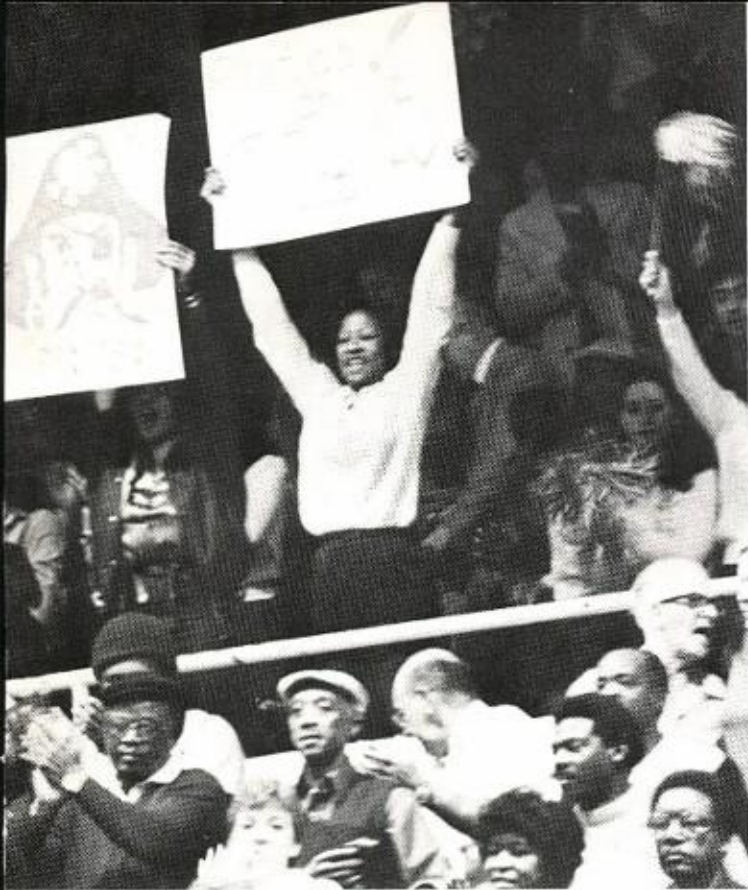

Although Coach Whittenberg can't seem to put the damper on Quincy, he calls the second place finish his greatest accomplishment in coaching.

JV Breaks the Century Mark

"Oooh Wee! They can smoke!", is just a phrase said by many of the basketball fans. The JV team has determination and skill. "Even though the records don't show it, the team has more ability than last year," said Mr. Maaske, the coach. It was hard to pick an out-standing member on the JV team, but because Maurice Frison can be counted on for different positions in a game and most steady ball player makes him out-standing. Don Conrad and Walter Chatman come very close behind, which makes them out-standing also. Coach Maaske said, "Eric Hardman can be very out-standing if he really works at it. Lawrence Mack along with many other team mates are ready to play varsity basketball. There were not many injuries this year, besides Calvin Crenshaw, who had an ankle problem and went out for a week until it was better." Mr. Maaske said, "Great group of guys to work with ... they will be a good team for next year."

Sophomores Undefeated

The Baby Bucs roared to an impressive 18-0 season, easily taking the West Suburban Conference title. Clinching the conference championship were two exciting wins on the road with Lyons Township (57-48) and Oak Park-River Forest (71-59). Coach Hitt had high praise for his excellent team, citing co-captains Danny Austin (leading rebounder, and second leading scorer) and Glen Bailey (team leader), William Bosley (leading scorer), Bobby Hollis (assist leader and third leading scorer), and Michael Plant (second leading rebounder and defensive specialist). Coming along since last year as freshmen, this team was much quicker and better shooters. As to the future, Coach Hitt sees Danny Austin, William Bosley, and Bobby Hollis as possible varsity candidates for next season.

"The team worked very hard this year and were rewarded for their efforts by finishing the season undefeated, 18-0." Coach Hitt

The Freshman A Basketball Conference champs had an outstanding year under the outstanding leadership of Coach Zelenovich.

Coach "Z" comments that, "The team played well all year and showed continued improvement all year and will be a fine Varsity team when they are Juniors and Seniors."

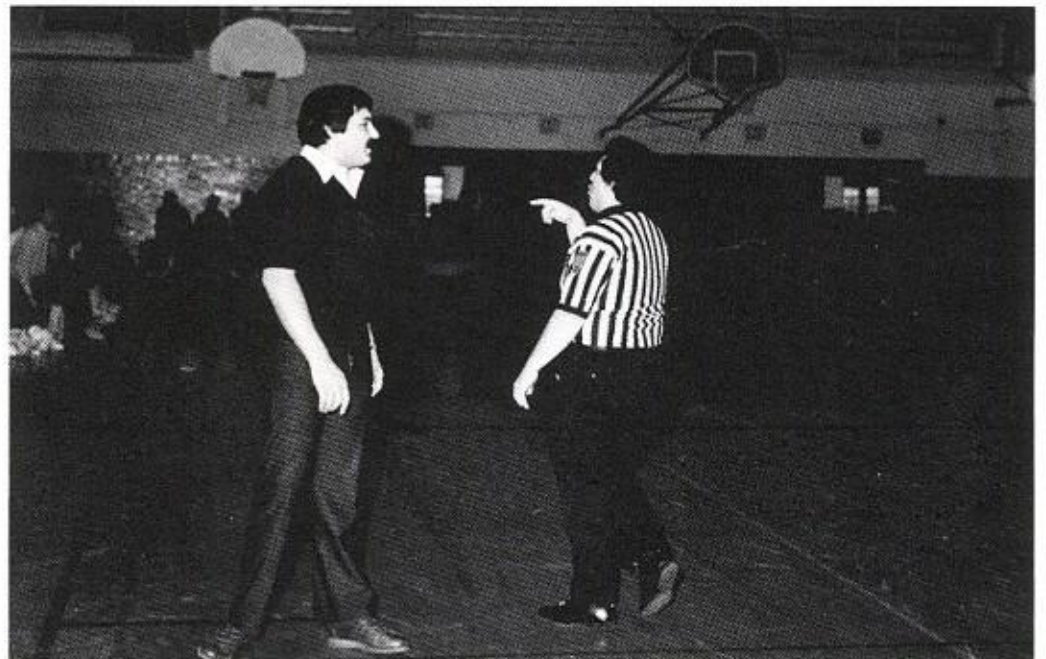

Outstanding members such as Vincent Mahen and Eric Moore were the leading scorers all season. Also Robert Plant and Tim Gaines show other fine aspects to make next year's Soph team a very fine one.

Freshmen

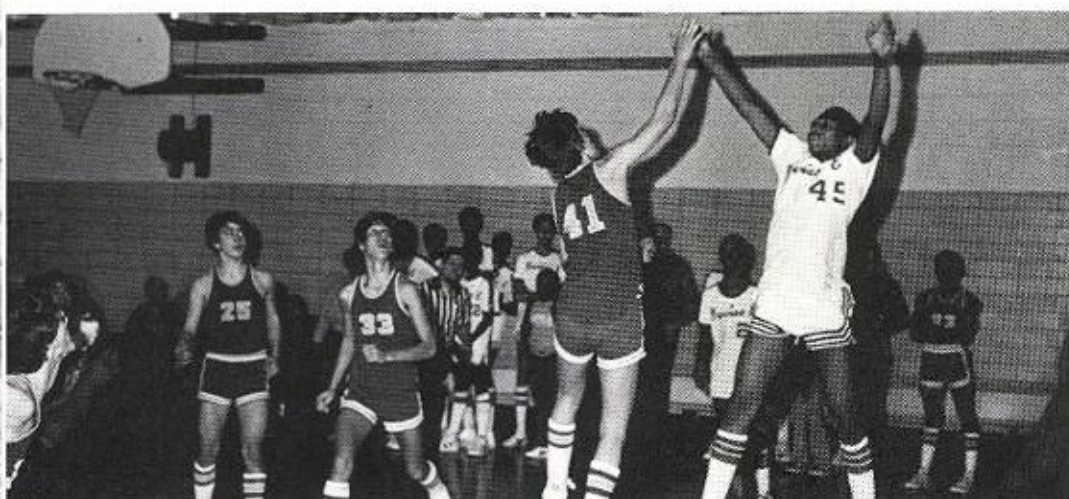

Scoring is no problem for Kendall Jones.

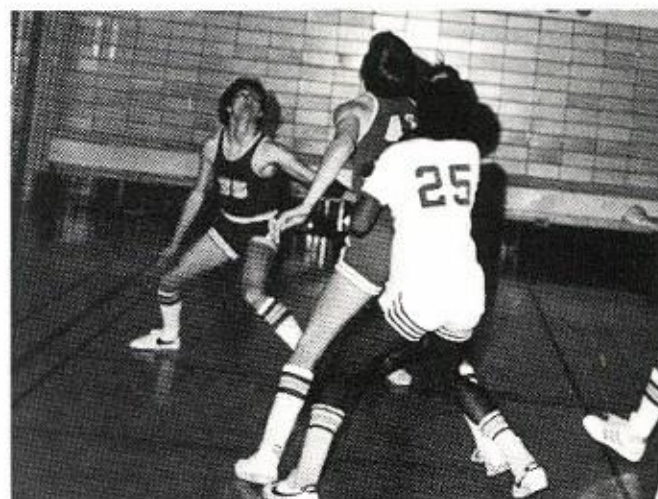

Ability and the will to win are just a few of the assets of Proviso's well developed Freshman B team. Great talent was shown by Terry Sykes. Quick shooting and good rebounding are some more of the strong points of the team. Also sportsmanship and personal sacrifice were delivered by all Frosh B Players.

Wrestlers Take Second in State

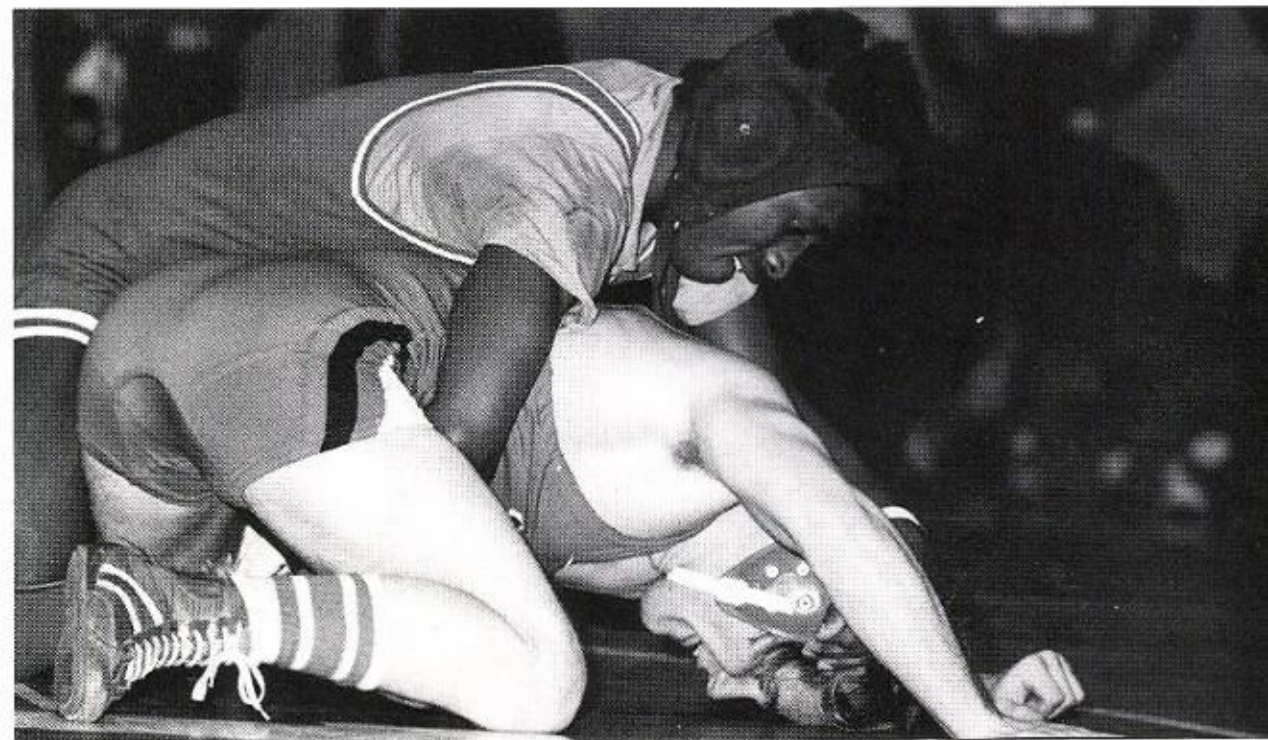

Amassing an impressive 8-0 conference record, the Varsity Wrestlers easily took the West Suburban Conference Championship. Unbeaten during the regular season were David Marshall (last year's State Champion) with a record of 27-0 and Bruce Baker (a State qualifier last year) with a record of 30-0. Coach Cartwright cited these two wrestlers as the most valuable on the varsity squad. Other non-conference wins this season were West Chicago Tournament Champions, Fenton Tournament Champions, and second place in the East Leyden and Rich East Tournaments.

Ranked #1 in the state, the grapplers rolled into the post season competition taking the District contest by the highest score in the state, 200 points. Eleven wrestlers qualified for Sectionals where Proviso was victorious again, setting a modern school record by qualifying seven wrestlers for the state meet. Those wrestlers were: Rod Green (98 lbs.), Joe Slaughter, (112), Bruce Baker (132), Mike Mastenbrook (145), Michael Perkins (155), David Marshall (185), and Rufus Holland (Hvy).

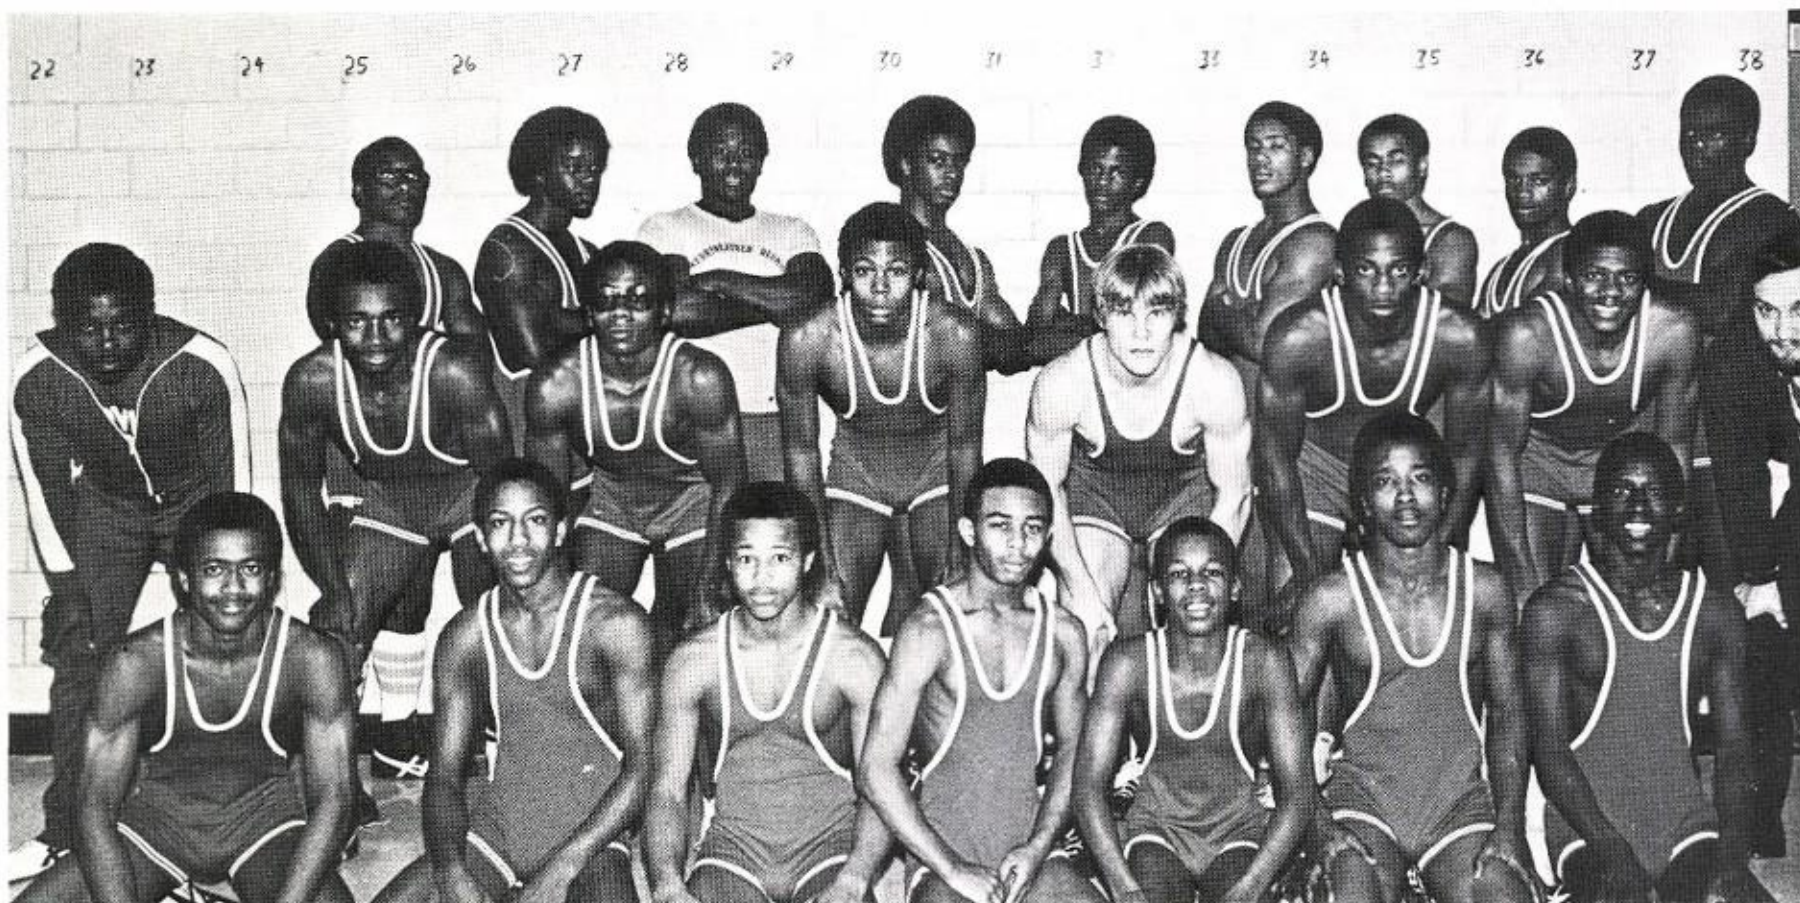

The Pirates emerged from the 1981 State Tournament in Champaign in second place for the second year in a row, scoring 62 points to first place Joliet West's 69½. Three Proviso East wrestlers reached the final five in the state: Bruce Baker, Michael Perkins, and David Marshall. Bruce received the highest honors of the group, taking a third place at 132 pounds. Michael finished fourth in the state at 155 pounds. David finished fifth, after being hampered by illness during Friday's meets. Coach Cartwright was delighted with the second place finish and was proud of his wrestlers.

Down to the Ground

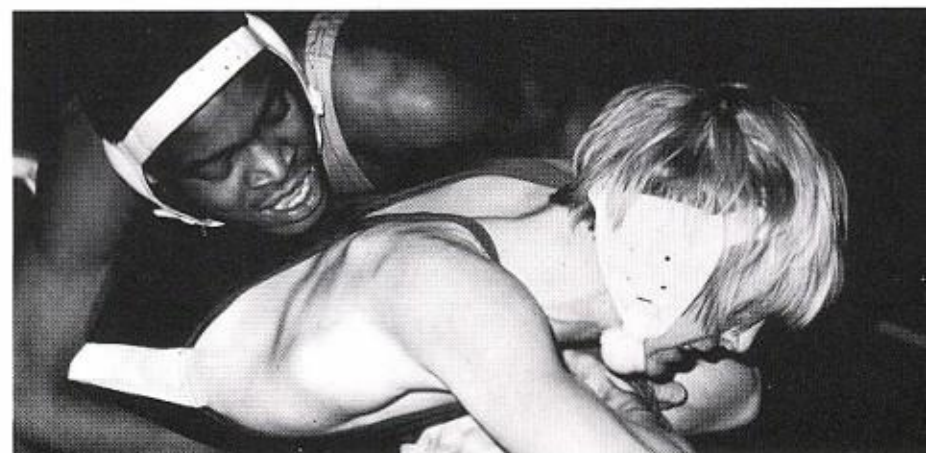

A good wrestling match needs the proper fundamental moves and constant aggression. The out-standing members of the Freshman, Junior Varsity One, and Junior Varsity Two teams have these qualities. Gerald Fields, team captain, with the most aggression and responsibility and Mike Gleason, with his great record are the most out-standing members on the Freshman team. The best performance was when the team took third in the Saint Lawrence Tournament. There Bobby Williams took second and Mike Gleason took third. The out-standing members of the Junior Varsity one team are Louis Bradley, Jeano Washington, and Henry Roberson. This was a hard season for JV one and they will continue to work harder to be more successful. The JV two wrestlers are undefeated conference champs. The out-standing members consist of Mike Johnson with the most pins and James Hannah, who is ready for varsity. Injuries do happen in wrestling. Solomon Williams, on freshmen team, broke a collar bone, but came back and took third in the Saint Lawrence Tournament. Mr. Lid, the freshman coach, said this year was better individually than previous years, but many gaps need to be filled to be more successful.

Proviso Swimmers Take First

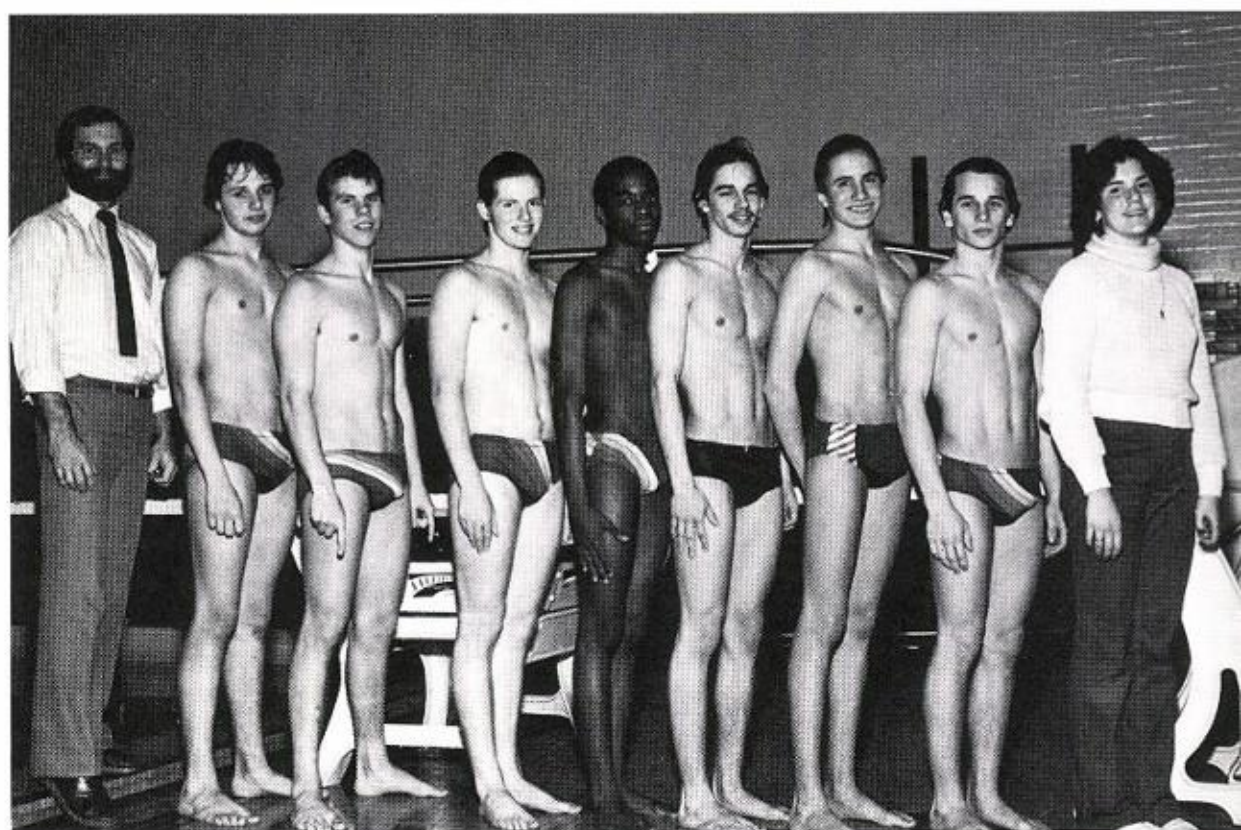

What makes a good swimmer? 4 hours of rigorous training for 6 days a week. This year's swim team ran into a few problems. They were known as Hinsdale Central, Downers Grove North, Oak Park-River Forest, Riverside-Brookfield, Morton West, Proviso West Lyons Township, and West Leydon. The only wins Proviso had no problem securing were against Maine North, York, Morton East, and Elmwood Park. The really big wins came from Morton East, Maine North, and the Morton West Invitationals.

The Morton West Invitational is the highest honor that the Proviso East swim team has ever had. The boys placed first with outstanding performances by Peter Tyminski in the 50 yard freestyle, Phil Lusardi, 500 yard freestyle, and the 400 yard freestyle relay team of Peter Tyminski, Kris Thiele, Phil Lusardi, and Mike Flight. Coach Tom Guzauskas says, "It is great when a team can participate as a whole to win first place in anything."

The top performers this year were turned in by Peter Tyminski, Phil Lusardi, and Mike Flight. This year's most outstanding swimmers were Mike Spears, Mike Flight, Peter Tyminski, and Phil Lusardi. Swimmers we can look forward to seeing in the future are Glenn Christ, Andy Tyminski, Jeff Triska, and Kris Thiele.

This year's team manager was Carol Rodgers. She attended all of the meets, called the other schools for information, and kept the statistics of every meet. Coach Guzauskas refers to Carol as a "Great Asset." Also another great help was Pam Kline. She kept the swim timers organized and also attended all of the meets.

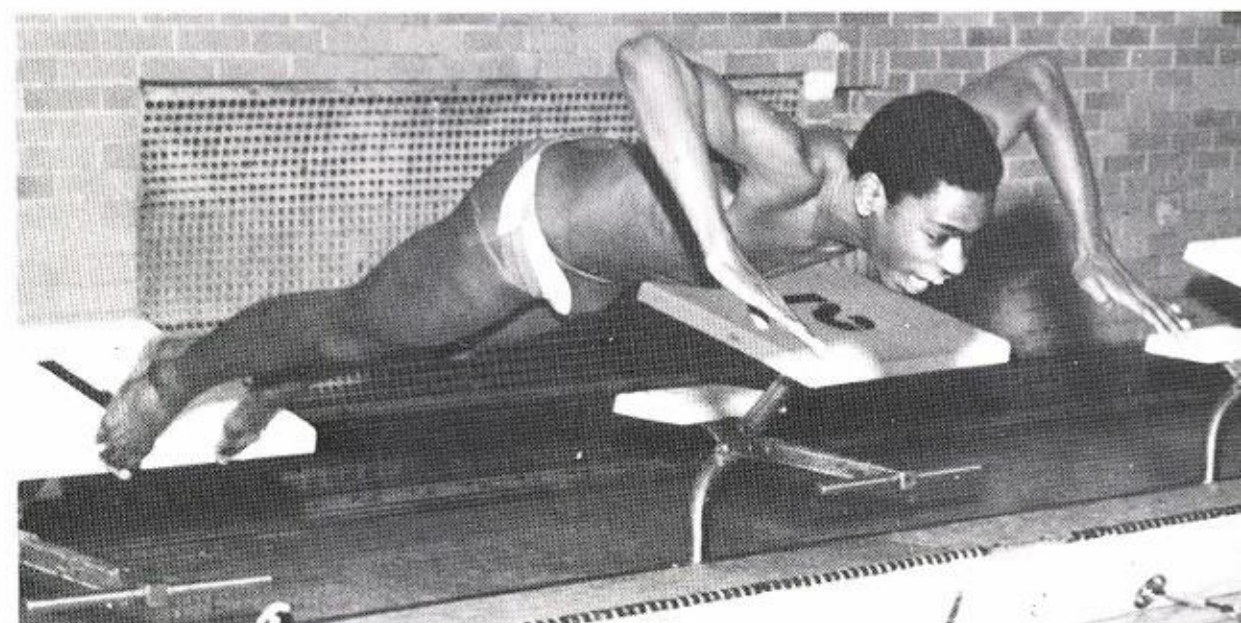

This year's swim team has come a long way and hopefully will continue to go even further.

Gymnastics: a Team

The 1980-81 Gymnastics team certainly has had its ups and downs this year. The team started with a far greater number of team members than the number it ended up with. From November to February the team had suffered an unbelievable amount of injuries and come up against all kinds of odds. The first the team was to hear about was the fact that their coach, Mrs. Widerstrom, was expecting a baby. This was wonderful news and the team congratulated their coach, but at the same time you could tell that they were wondering, "Now who is going to spot me on my flip-flop?" It turned out that the girls were just forced to learn to spot each other and assistant coach Joe Krupa did a good job of using the skills that he had obtained from being assistant coach last year and over the summer.

The other injuries that the gymnasts themselves took on ranged from torn cartilage, to hyperextended knees, to dislocated fingers along with ligament damage and lots of other goodies. The flu managed to wipe out a couple of the girls at different times also. Despite these odds, there were always gymnasts working hard in the gym. No matter what, they just strove to improve. They didn't end up taking state or anything, but to them, their hard work amounted to something in the end. They had beaten out Proviso West in their conference, (a personal victory) and in their Districts they placed third out of seven teams and improved their team total by almost 12 points for an all-year high of 97.42.

The 1980 Spring Sports Track Takes State

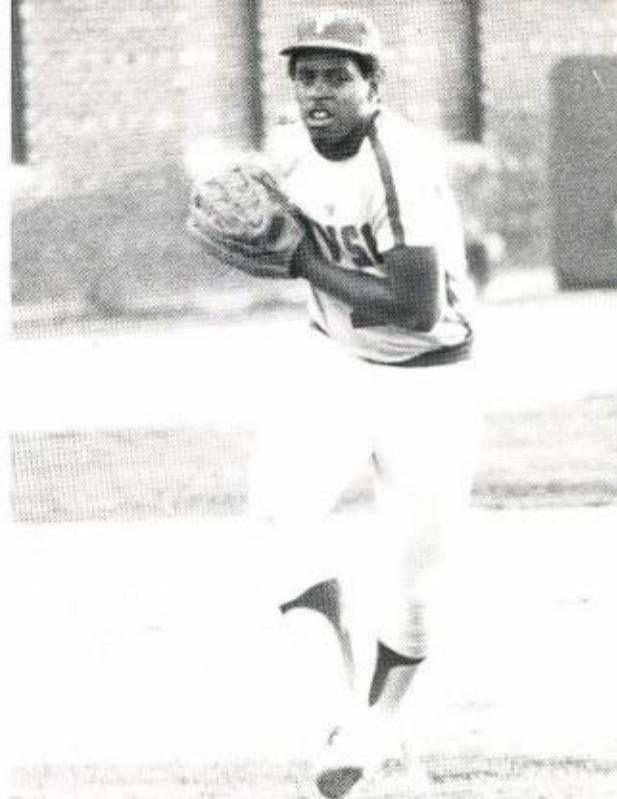

PROVISO EAST STATE TRACK CHAMPIONS 1980

One picture speaks a thousand words — the proud trophies of the 1980 boys' track team.

The thrill of victory ran through Proviso East fans during the 1980 spring sports season with the stunning performance of the boys' track team down state. Other spring teams put in excellent work also even though they did not take home state honors. The baseball team made it to the regional championship which they lost to Lyons Township.

Provi has begun a new tradition this year. We will be putting in spring sports from the previous year so that these sports will not be neglected as in previous years.

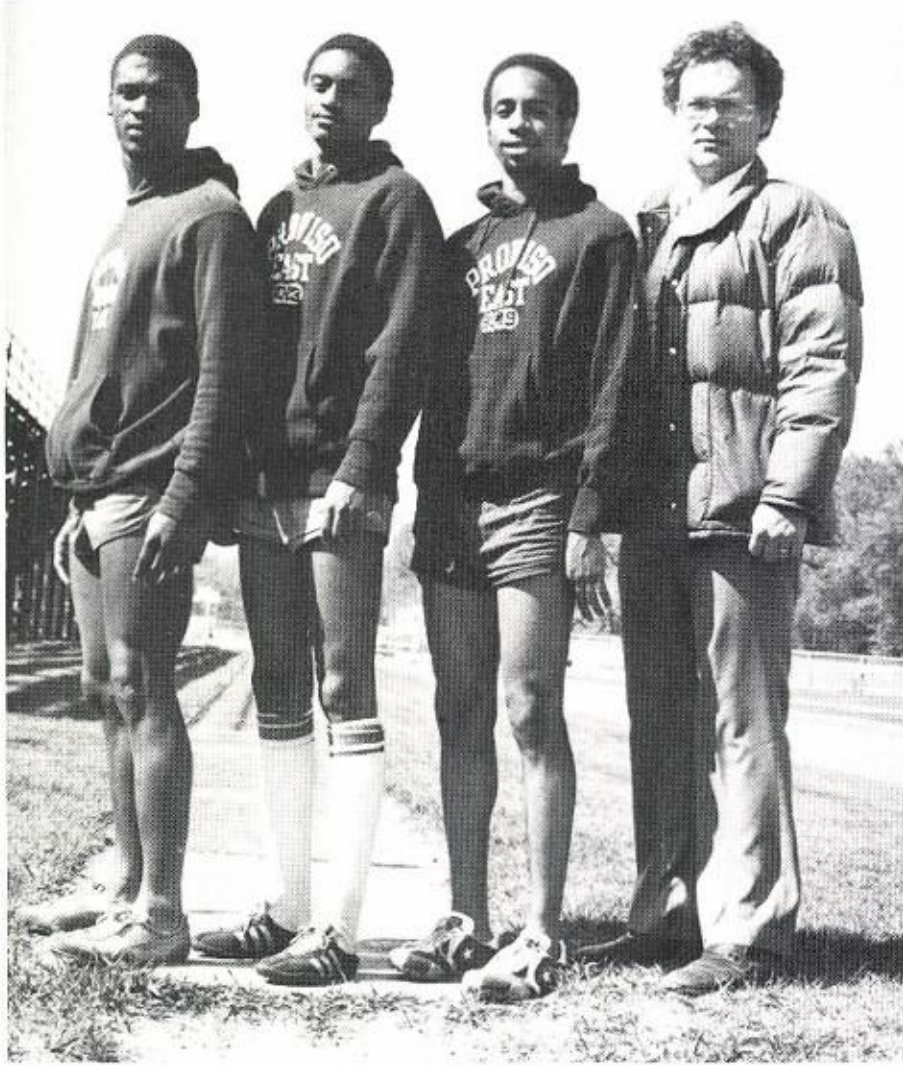

Leaping into action, Randy Brown gets ready to fire the ball.

The cheers have long since died, but no one at Proviso East can forget the excitement our trackmen brought us last year with their stunning victory down state. Carl Puckett, Rod McMurtry, Willie Green, Nate Grier, Roy Sansone, Tracy Roberson, Robert Williams, Gary Lawson all came through when things came down to the final wire at the state track championship at Charleston last May 24. The final race decided the title with Bucs Roberson, Puckett, Grier, and Green setting a new Class AA record of 3:15.45 in the 1600-meter relay. Other Pirate points were turned in by second-place finishes from Williams in the triple jump, Roberson in the long jump, and from Lawson who came in third in the long jump and Grier. Also the 800-meter relay team of Puckett, McMurtry, Grier and Sansone pulled up in the third spot. The Pirates had qualified 10 individuals and three relay teams for state by winning the district meet with 69 points, beating out second place Oak Park-River Forest, which tallied 56. Hopes were high for '81.

Go, Cliff, Go! is what Kevin Crenshaw seems to be yelling to Clifford Williams.

Sophomores Kevin Green Green, Robert Grace, Maurice Frison, Kelvin Crenshaw, Malcom Nelson, Cliff Williams, Bert Nash, and James Jones really sparkled according to track coaches. Freshman track stars included LaVerne Hawthorne, Tony McClough, Vince Labadessa, Bobby Hollis, and Greg Bynum.

Both teams worked hard to make last year's 1980 team the most successful ever. The Pirate Relay was won by the Pirates with the help of many of these freshmen and sophomores.

After the 1980 State Championship the frosh and soph levels vowed to continue the tradition of taking honors at the state competition.

Making the hand off a success, Paul Brock knew he could do it all the time.

Proviso Baseball ended conference play with a disappointing 7-9 record, but that didn't stop them from making it to the Regional Championship. All-Conference players were Theo Shaw, outfield, Steve Candler, designated hitter, Billy Fowlkes, 2nd base, and Wayne Cerqua, catcher. In non-conference play, the Bucs had 4 wins and 1 loss. On May 22, 1980, they opened post-season play with Argo. The Bucs were victorious with a 3-1 win. They then moved on to the semifinal round with a come back victory over Morton West 6-5. The season ended for our Bucs in the Regional Championship with a loss to Lyons Township 5-2. During tournament play 3 sophomores came up and helped out varsity. They included Scott Cote, Tom Jones, and Robert Jones.

Although the girls' softball team faced a losing season last year, they had some exciting games. At the Hinsdale Central game, they came from behind to win 8-4. They also won the Ridgewood game 3-2. Even though they didn't have one of the best seasons, the girls were still determined to end the season without giving up. Their intensive trainer, Coach Marilyn Pickers, made the team work out three weeks prior to the opening game. The pitchers must throw intensively and the outfield must work on communication. The most valuable on the varsity team for 1980 was Dedra Staple.

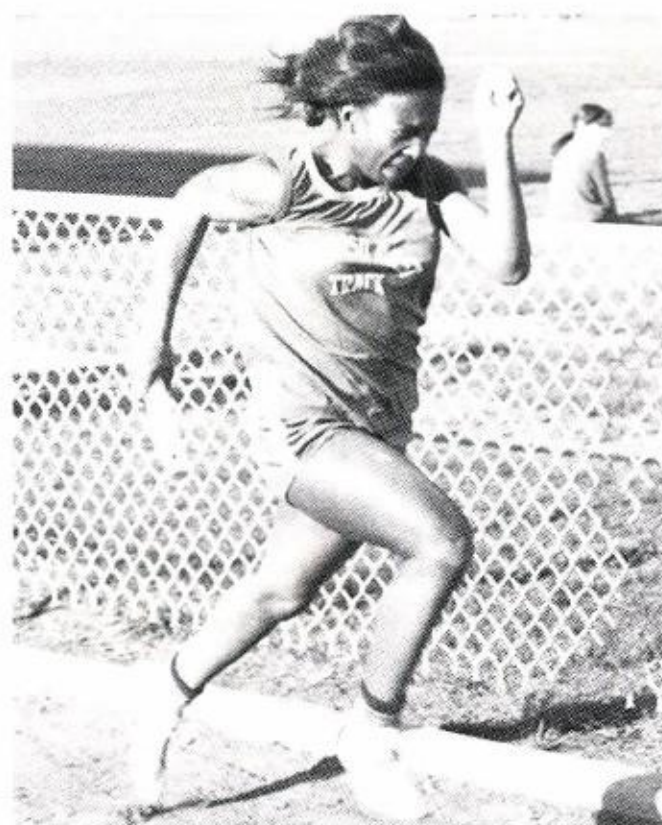

The J.V. faired a little better with a record 6 wins, 12 losses. The team did very well considering many games were played with 8 freshmen and only one sophomore. They displayed good offense, even though they had beginners. Captain Detral Dearbone, the only sophomore, led the team to score 25 runs in two games!

To Victory

With teeth clenched, using all her strength Vicky Young hurls the shot put.

Shotput, high jump, and 100 meter hurdles are just some of the most popular events in Girls' Track. The competition last year was very hot, but we pulled out in pretty good place. In districts Proviso tied West for 4th place out of fourteen teams. In conference Proviso tied with York for sixth place out of nine teams. Last year we had two state qualifiers, Cathy Donald, 200 yard dash and Sue Gerhardt for the high jump. Cathy Donald was also one of the varsity's most valuable players. The other most valuable player was Aleasia Preyer. The J.V. star player last year was Alice Mohorn. The best meet that Proviso ran were the ones with Riverside-Brookfield and Lyons Township. Last year both Ms. Ihle and Ms. Sanchez coached the two teams.

Just behind Rosann Ramos hopes to pull ahead.

A Love Match

The 1980 tennis team had an experienced group of players in key positions — all the singles positions and the first doubles. Leading scorers were first doubles team of Greg Smith and Anton Lites, with support from Dan Gales, Reggie Farris, and Tony Hunt. Most improved player was Donald Gladney who moved up to 3rd singles by the end of the season. Coach Tom Liebing predicted the 1981 team would be short on experience with only three returning lettermen in key positions and the need to fill four positions with new talent. Coach Liebing and frosh/soph coach, John Toth, were hopeful for a more successful 1981 season.

The Gymnastics Team was at its best this past year. All the members tried harder than ever to make it down state. Although this dream did not come as a reality to the gymnastic team, they did win a few district meets. Anthony Bronge was the best member on the team who handled the rings at its best. The gymnastic meets went along just fine, although one member of the team was injured. Dean Berndt broke his wrist while practicing for a meet. The gymnastics team is under the fine coaching of Coach Bruce Boulton, who did a fine job with the team. When asked what he expected for next year he replied, "To go down state!" The team is working harder and harder to do its best. Not just anyone can enter the team, they must be tough and strong. One of the members of the team said that Mickey Gerhardt is so good in gymnastics he would probably make it to the 1984 Olympics. We must give a lot of credit to the gymnastic team for doing a fine job.

The Birdy

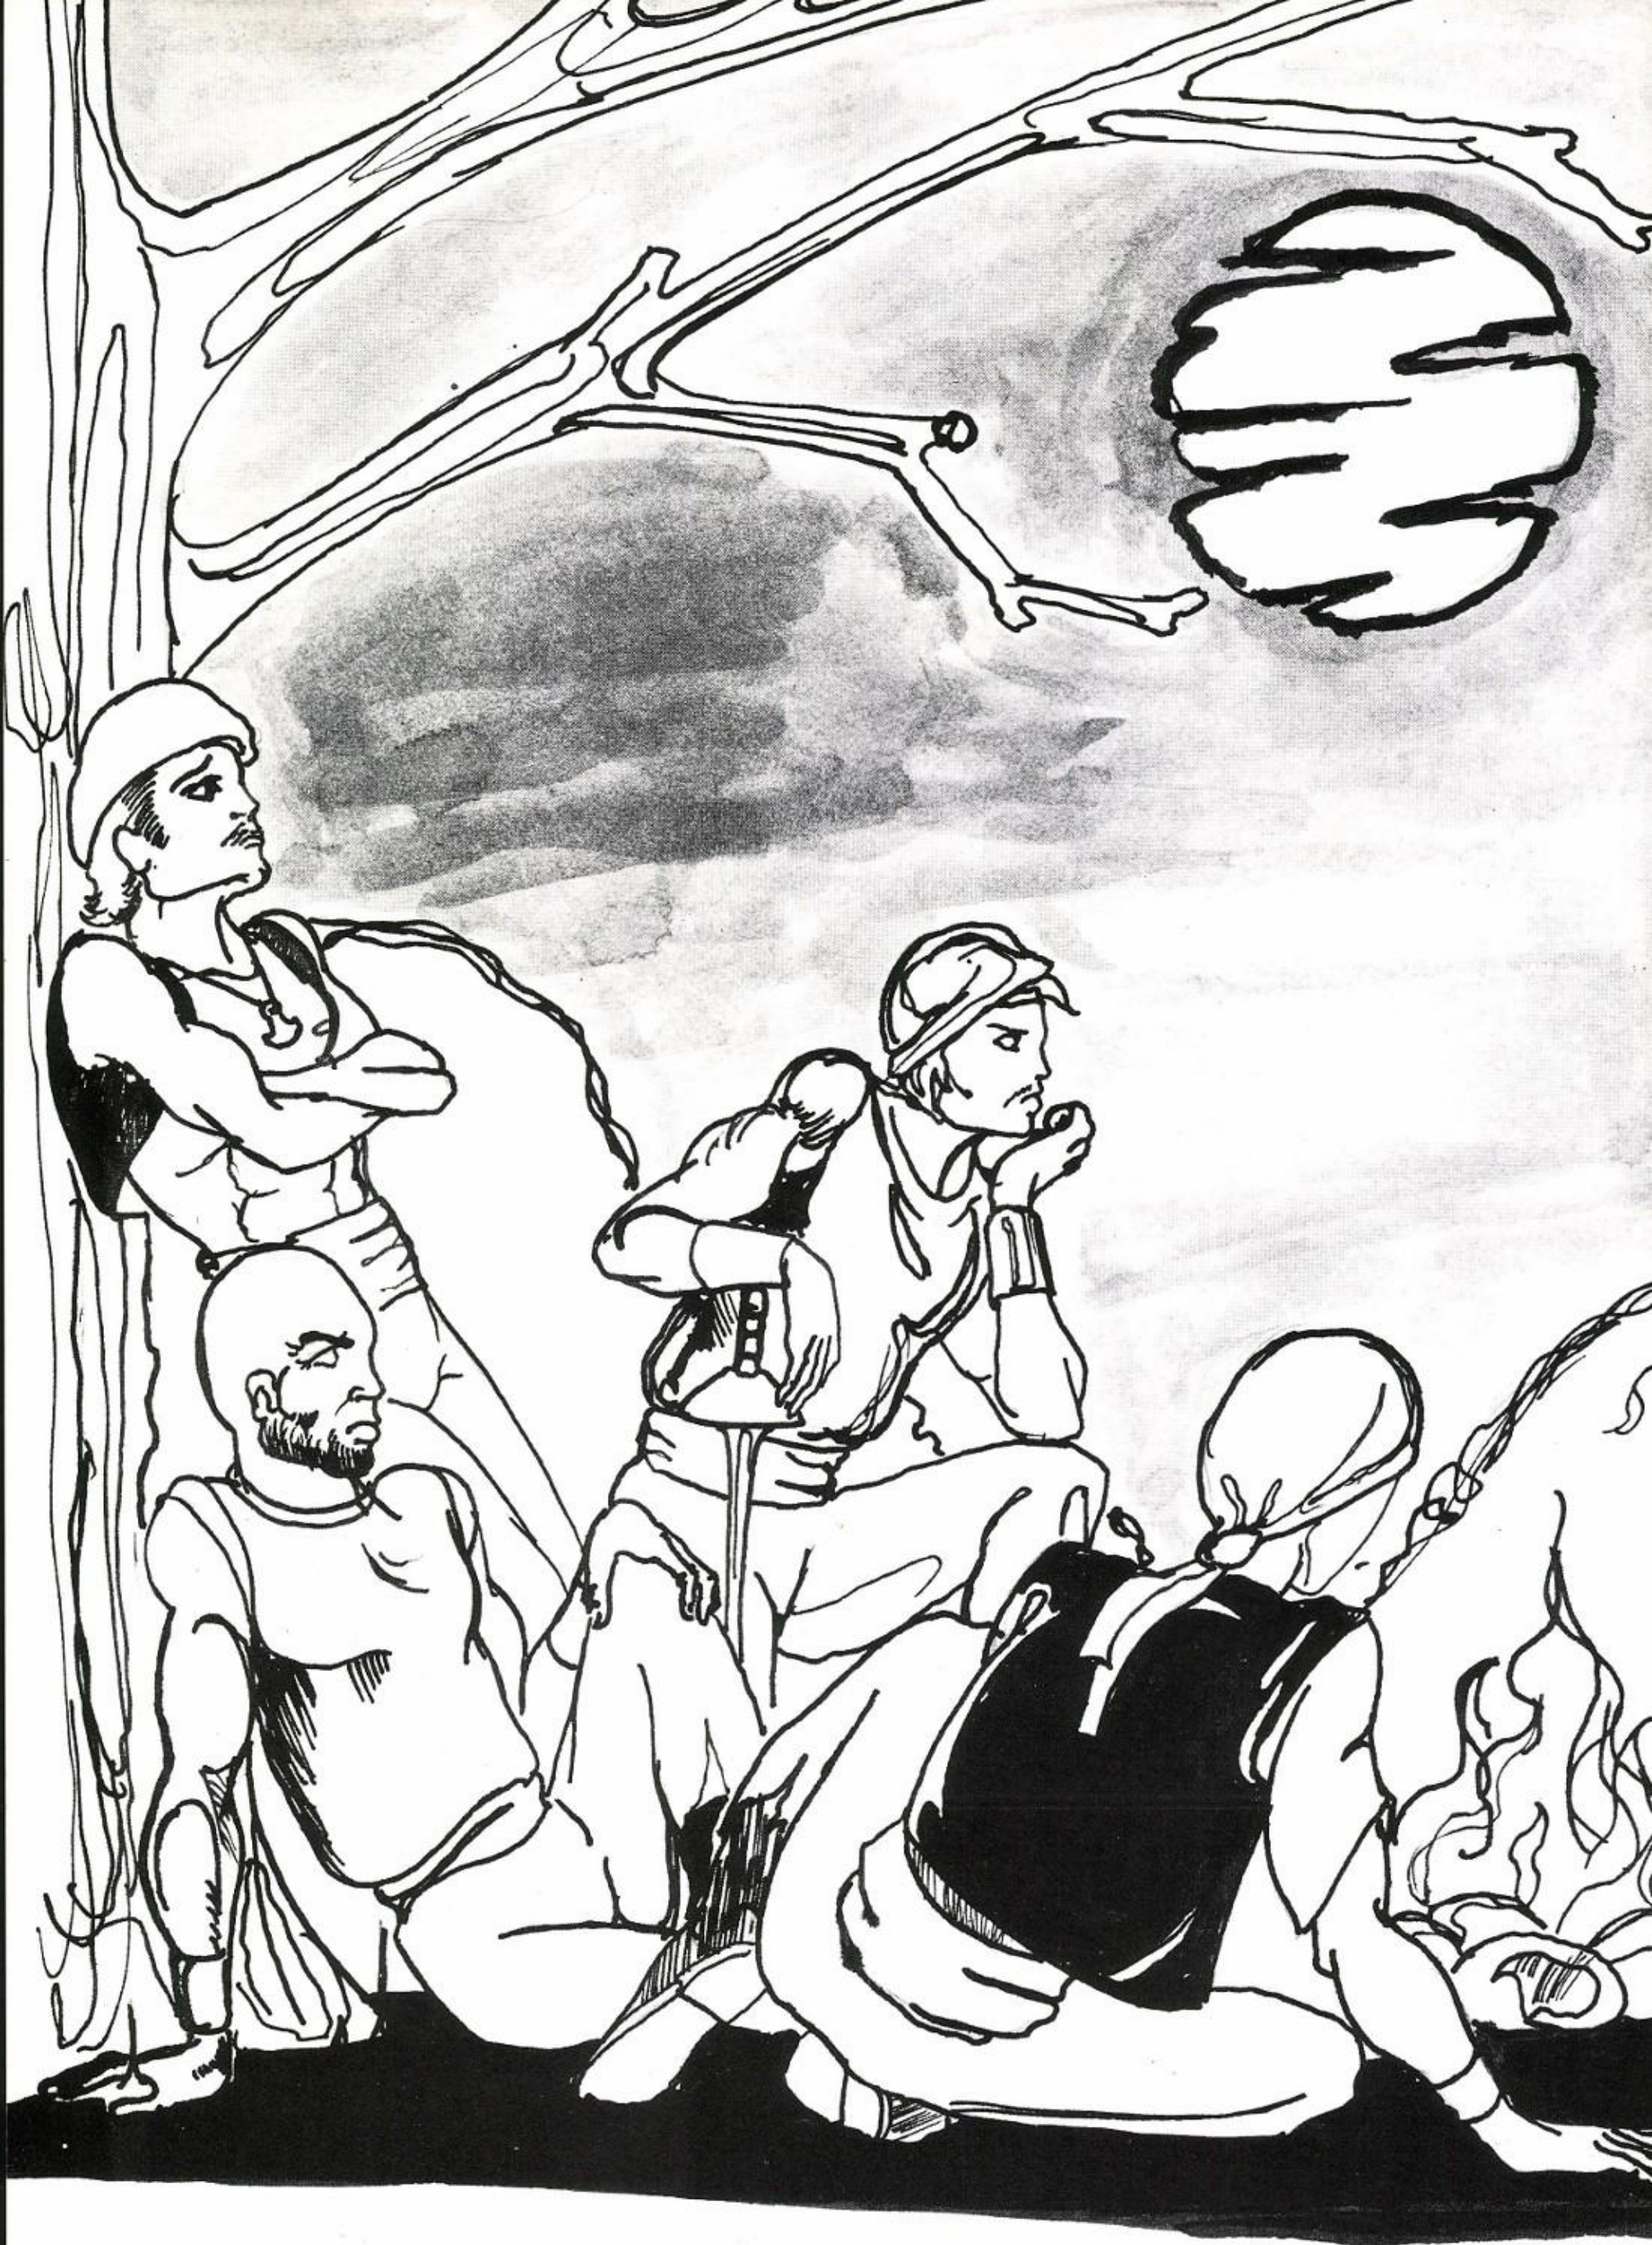

Last year the Badminton team consisted of only varsity members. Most of the girls were new to the team so they were off to a bad start. They had to learn skills such as the correct way to hold the racket for a front and back hand swing. It takes more time to learn a smash. Coach Sharon Gabinski said the team improved every day and hopes to come back on top this year. The outstanding player last year was again Leslie Turner, who graduated last year. If there was any team that had friendship and togetherness, it was the 1980 badminton team. They cooperated and helped each other out with their problems. It's not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game.

Administration Changes Hands

Mr. Jack Stanley — Superintendent

Mr. Jack Stanley has been appointed Superintendent of Schools upon the retirement of Dr. Holt. He has completed his twenty-fourth year at Proviso. Stanley started in the fall of 1957 as a teacher in Business Education at East. Since then, he has held the positions of Dept. Chairman, Proviso West, Director of Continuing Education, and Business Manager. Stanley finds his new position very exciting and different. After holding jobs which kept him away from the students, he's glad to be back in view. He finds working at Proviso very satisfying and has no intention of leaving!!

"Proviso is a school to be proud of!!" smiles Principal Thomas Millikin. Completing his tenth year at East, Millikin finds this past year to be one of the school's best. Even though inflation has hit hard and tightened budgets, Millikin finds the school very well off. Decreasing enrollment was anticipated long before, and provisions were made. Millikin also boasts that East made no program cuts because of inflation. He claims that the student's disposition has been greatly appreciated. "The students realize they need an education. They are motivated and ready to achieve." Millikin finds his job never boring, never dull and very rewarding.

Mr. Thomas Millikin
Principal

Miss Barbara Gibson
Assistant Principal

"This school contains a lot of great kids. I love being here and my job is fantastic. These are just some of the comments Barbara Gibson has to say upon completion of her first year as Assistant Principal at East. She came to East eleven years ago with a goal to conquer the world. Teaching English was her first step towards this goal. Later, she took the job of counselor. Then, as school programs changed, and needs for different teaching positions opened up, Gibson went back and forth between English and counseling. As busy as she was, she became certified in Driver's Education and taught after school. On top of this feat, she obtained her degree in administration in June 1980, accepted the position of assistant principal. Her goal is finally reaching its destination. We wish her luck.

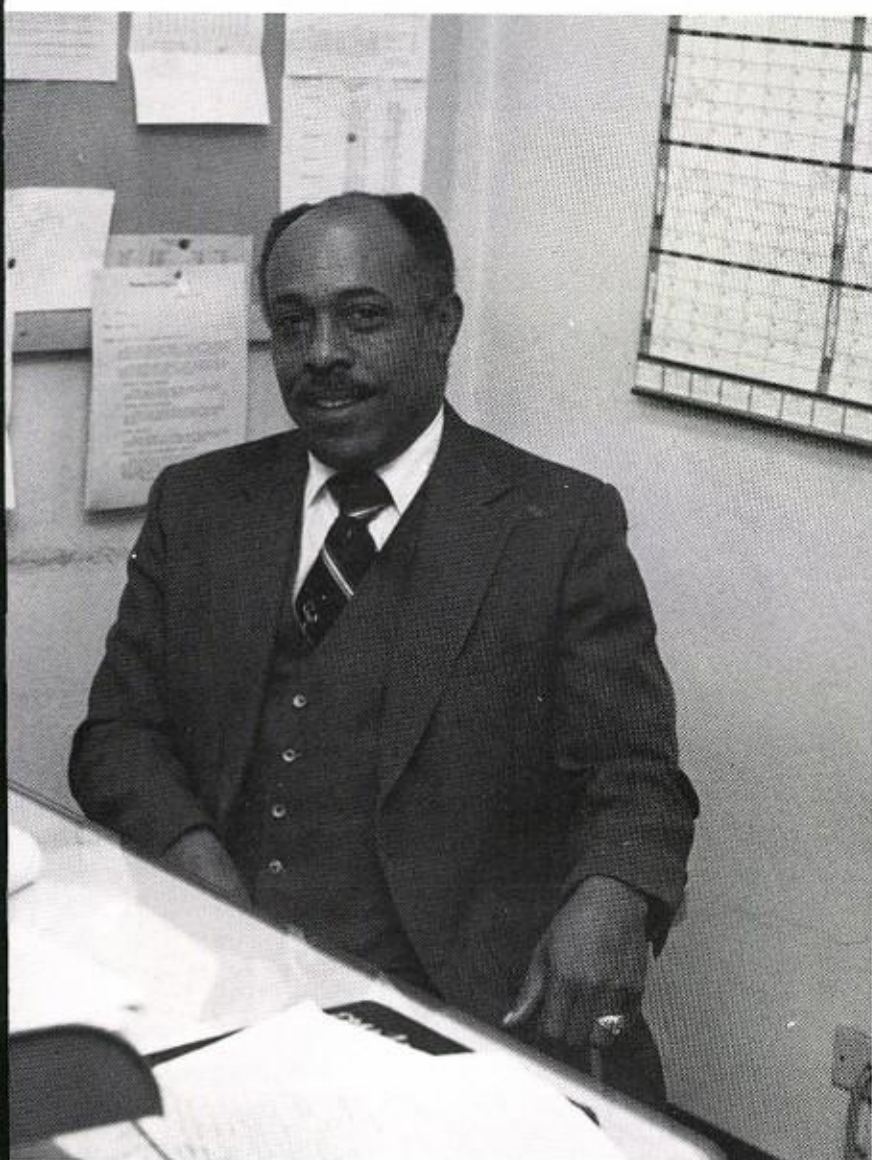

Finishing his third year as assistant Principal, Mr. Larry Walker has found Proviso's major problem to be absences. Although students seem very determined to learn, and get a good education, there are far too many absences. This has spurred Mr. Walker to complete a dissertation proposal for his doctoral degree in education, dealing with the problem of absences, plus the reasons behind them. Parents and students were asked to complete questionnaires in order to give him factual information. Upon the completion of the proposal, he plans to offer answers in order to stop the steady growth of absences. Walker wants students to feel he is a friend. He is there to listen to their problems, and help them achieve a successful education at Proviso.

Reading and Writing With Expression

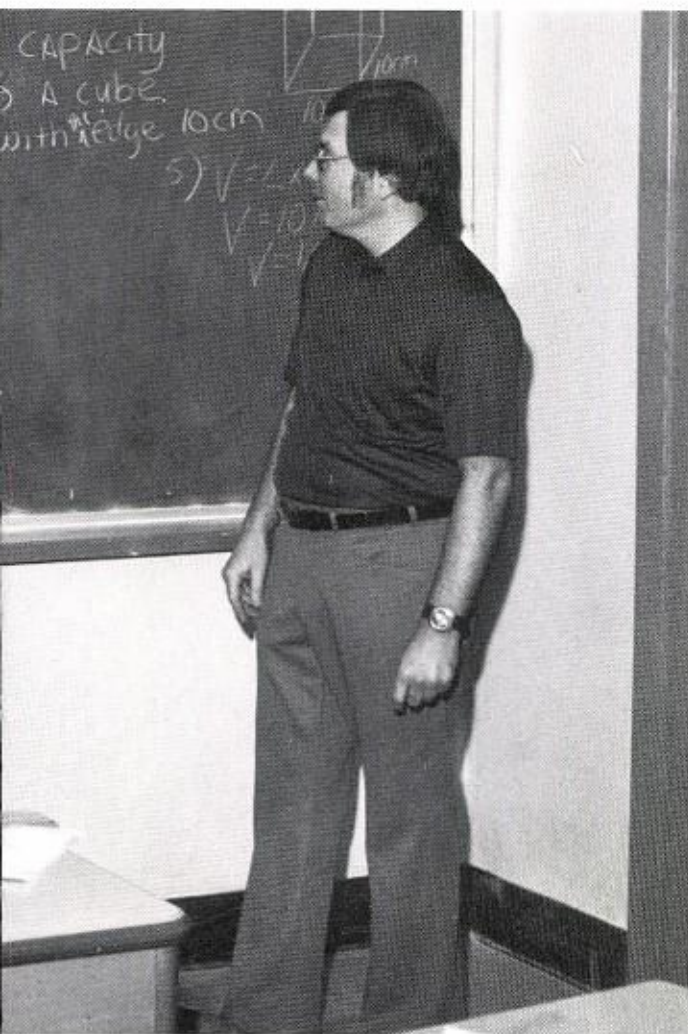

This year the English department has undergone a few new changes. This year the English teachers are joining with some other math and science teachers to put together a program called, Proviso to Develop Student Potential. This program will be made available by the opening of the next school year. It will be open to approximately 100 freshmen. In addition to this new program, the English department staff was expanded with the addition of 5 new teachers. The new teachers were Mrs. Kathleen Diest, Miss Katherine Weisolek, Mrs. Rebecca Mark, Miss Barbara Baldini, and Mr. Kenneth Fryckholm. As you know East has both a reading and writing lab. According to Mrs. Bennet, department chairman, the reading lab is enjoying great success. Although the writing lab's success was not as good as the reading lab, the enrollment is constantly increasing. These labs are designed to help the student as individuals and also to help students work on study habits, writing and reading skills with the help of a specialist. This year the labs were open 8 different periods, 5 reading, and 3 writing. In addition to the other changes, the department purchased a couple of new texts: Warrior's English Grammar & Composition and Ginn Literature Series. Some of the English Dept's. goals for the future are to make sure that the programs increase, to make sure that the programs are kept up to date, and finally to help students prepare for the future.

Evaluating other teachers in the dept. is one of the many responsibilities Mrs. Bennet assumes as dept. chairman.

We've Got Your Number

The Math Department did not go under any dramatic changes this year. However, new units were added for use in the Math Fundamental classes.

Miss MaryLou Griffiths, department chairman, explained that that had been an accomplishment since inflation really made money scarce. With enrollment in math classes slightly increased, a college algebra class was also able to be reinstated this year. Miss Griffiths stated that many changes are to be expected for next year, if the Board approves of them. The only new addition to the fourteen member staff was Miss Prentis, who taught Geometry Plus, Applied Math and Pre-Algebra.

Taking time out from a rough day, Mr. Downs and Bernard Brach pose for the camera.

Seeking guidance, LaVerne Carson, receives advice from Mr. Havel.

Social Studies Fascinate Students

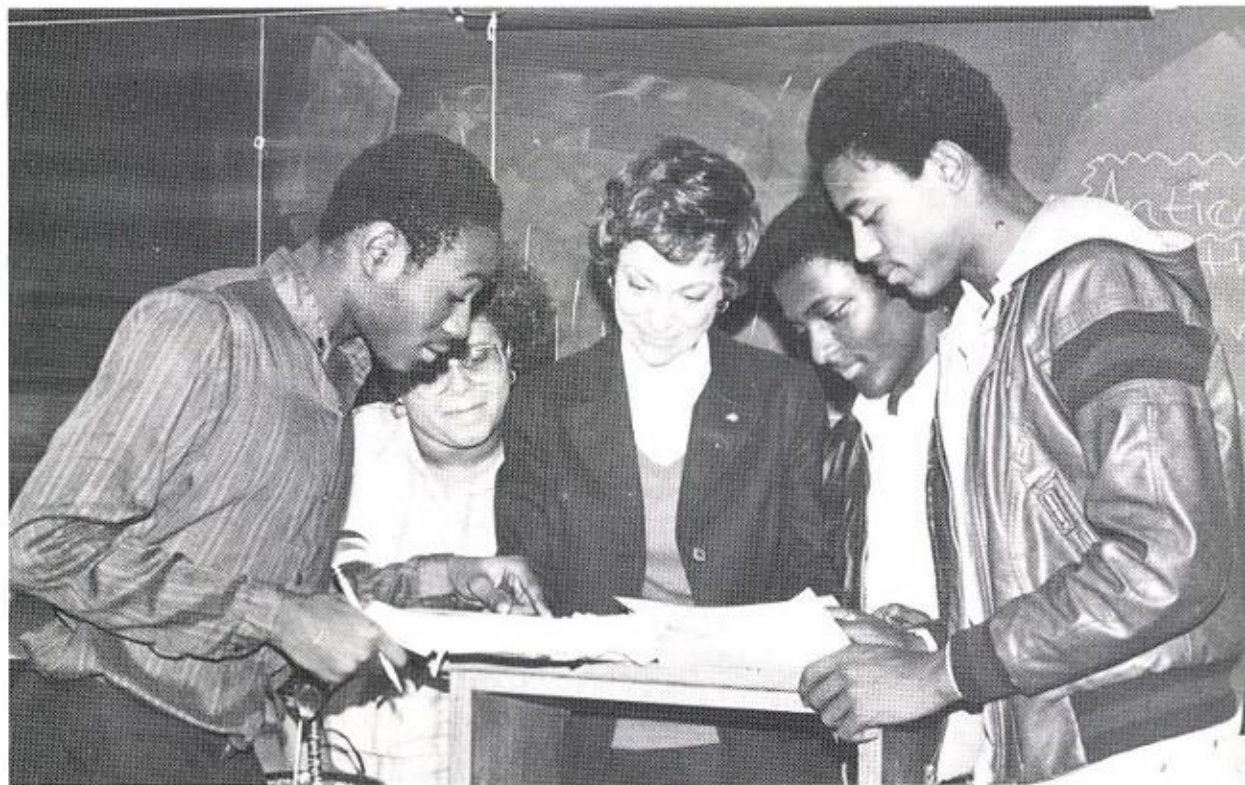

The Social Studies Department is working on a special class for freshmen called World Civilization. The 100 freshmen in this class would be selected. This would be a four hour class, consisting not only of Social Studies but of math, science and English.

There are no new teachers in the department this year, but there are two teachers that have transferred to the English Department. Mr. Jarbigian and Mr. Hitt were transferred to different departments. The World Geography classes purchased new text books, a regional geography entitled, World Geography.

Dr. Tako, head of the Social Studies department, thought the reason why the school requires one year of Social Studies is there are not enough hours in the day and not enough room to cover what is required to receive 16 credits. He said he would like to see us go back to two years requirement.

Do you wonder whether it is still a strict rule for students to pass the constitution test to graduate? Well, in the code book of 1969 it says they do. And it is still a state law to pass U.S. history and the constitution.

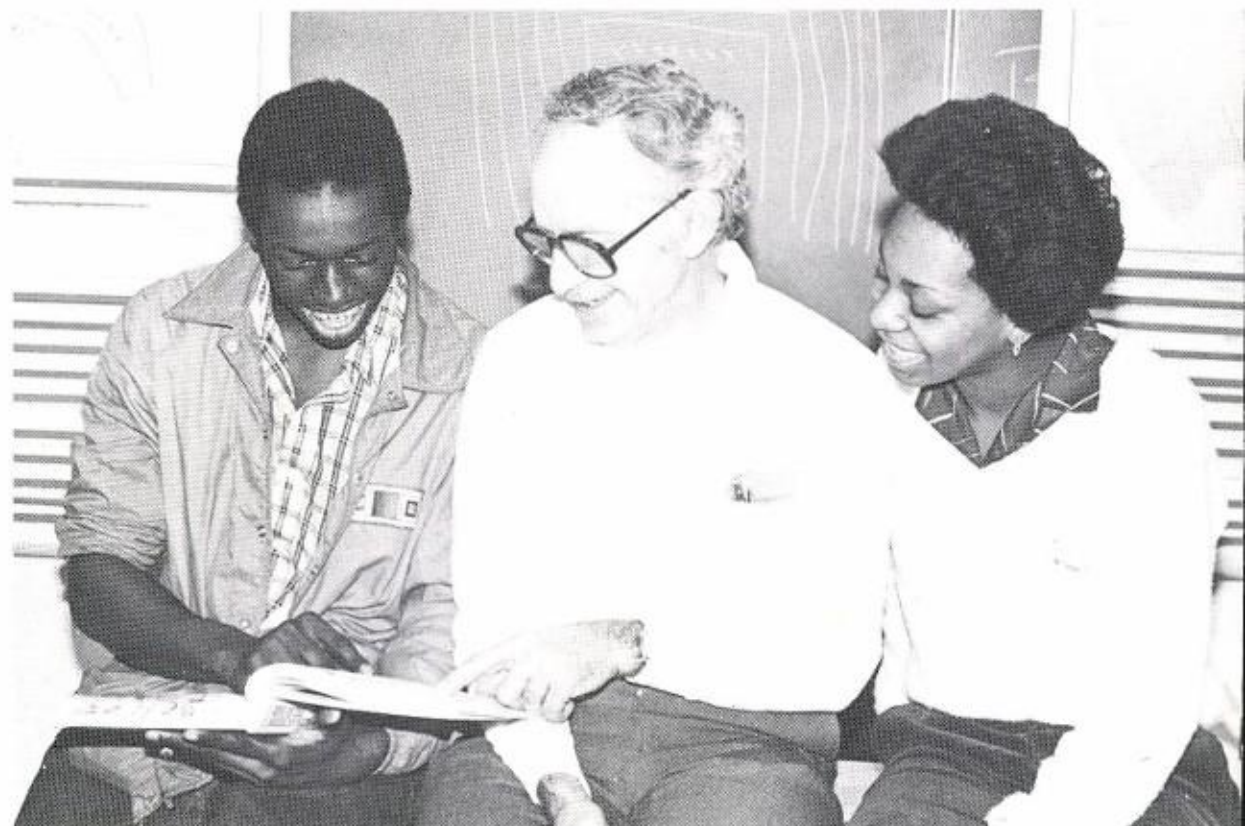

The major complaints Social Studies teachers have are first of all the requirement for Social Studies, one year is not enough and second teachers were forced to change to different departments. Next year the Social Studies department will lose more teachers to different departments.

As Ms. Stevens goes over the paper work, Benny Dodd, Joyce Goff, Michael Dorsy and Laghton Scott give their full attention.

Science — The Way to the Future

Take a look at the want ads. Pick a job, any job. Do you realize that almost any field one decides to go into requires some type of education in science? Almost all college demands a general science for its requirements. The science courses offered at Proviso East are aimed towards this need. According to Mr. Ward Haselhorst, chairman of the dept., "The Physics program and Sr. Science class are directly related to this necessity. Both classes contain material colleges ask for. This gives the student a little taste of college life plus experience with working related problems." This year's new addition to the faculty is Mr. Tramm, teaching physical science. The department also experienced the return of Dr. Lindstrom.

No Business Like Proviso's Business

This school has a wide variety of business classes. They consist of Typing 1, 2, Steno 1, 2, Business Law, Consumer Education, Data Processing, Marketing, Office Practice, Office Education, and Accounting 1, 2. Mr. Olney, the head of the business department, said Data Processing seemed to be the most enjoyed business class. While enrollment is dropping, business classes are up because the student interest has not dropped.

There are many fields one can go into with a good business background, such as Program Analysis and a Computer Operator. Mr. Olney said, "I feel we have a very friendly and cooperative staff. Everyone tries to help each other out . . . best department."

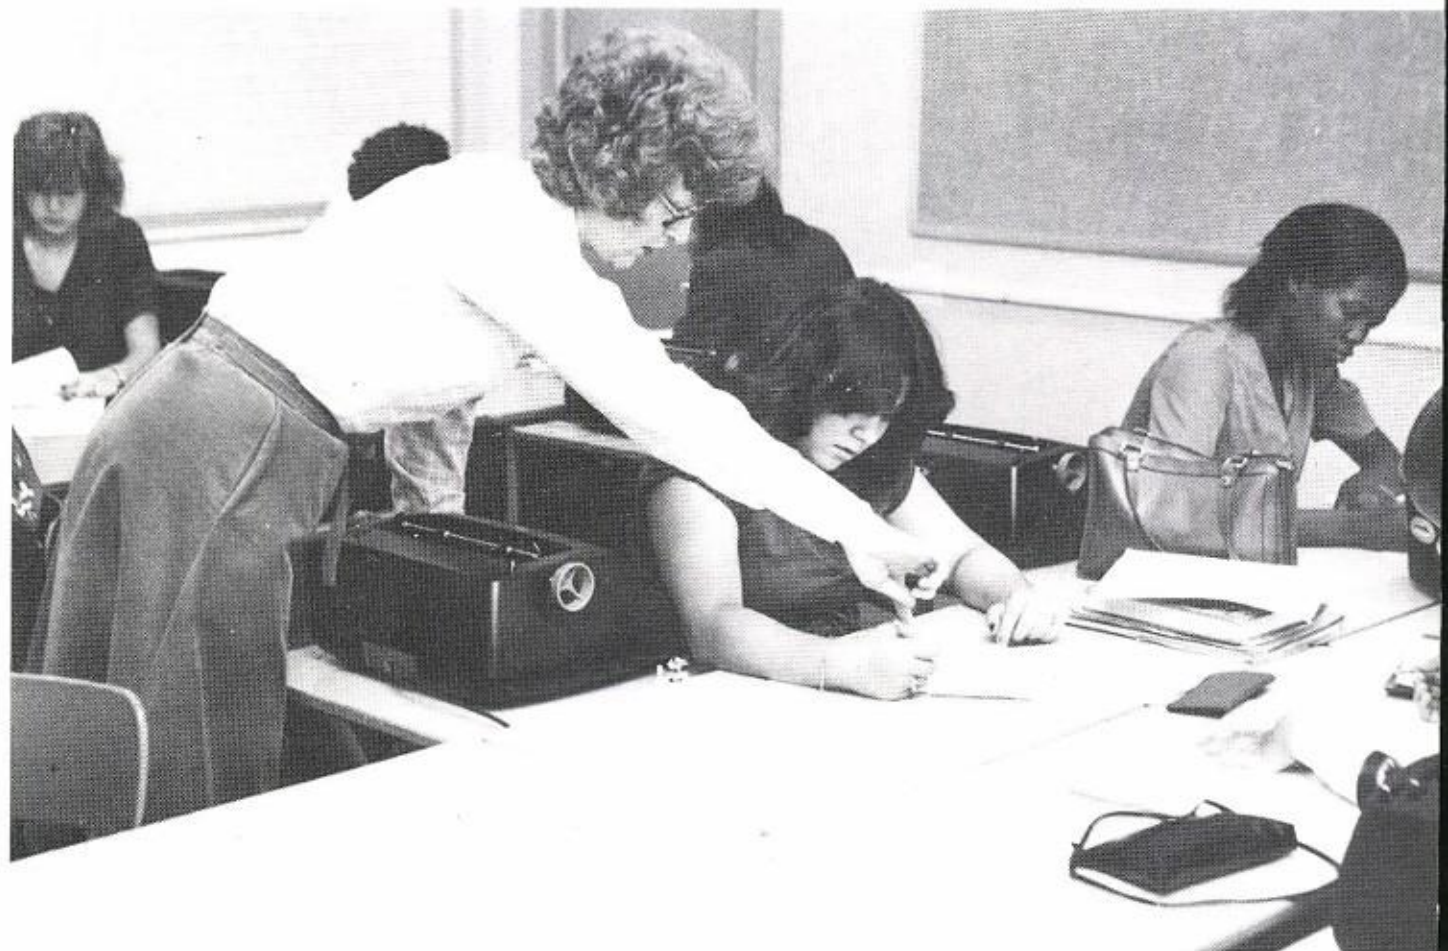

This year the business department has a new teacher, Ms. Coyne. She spent four years at Highland Park and worked on her masters at Northern University.

Speaking of the Language Dept. . . .

What's happening in the world of language? According to department chairman, Mrs. Aldrich, no drastic changes have been made. Although many changes in the department have not been made, the enrollment is constantly increasing. Spanish is the language which has the most students enrolled. Besides the increased enrollment this year, the language department has added a couple of new teachers to the staff. The new additions were Mrs. Geier, Spanish bi-lingual, and Mr. Hitt, Spanish. Along with the addition of some new teachers, the department purchased two new texts, Spanish II text Plazas y Paisajes and French IV Ensemble, which is a combination of 3 books. One of the highlights of the school year for the dept. was the hosting of the Foreign Language Olympics. Last year the competition was won by the Germans with the Spanish a close 2nd and the French in 3rd. Some 500 people come to watch these Olympics each year. Some future goals of the language department are to 1) educate the students better 2) help students to appreciate other people who speak another language, and finally, helping students realize that pursuing a language coupled with another skill will be a very important plus in the future because of international demands.

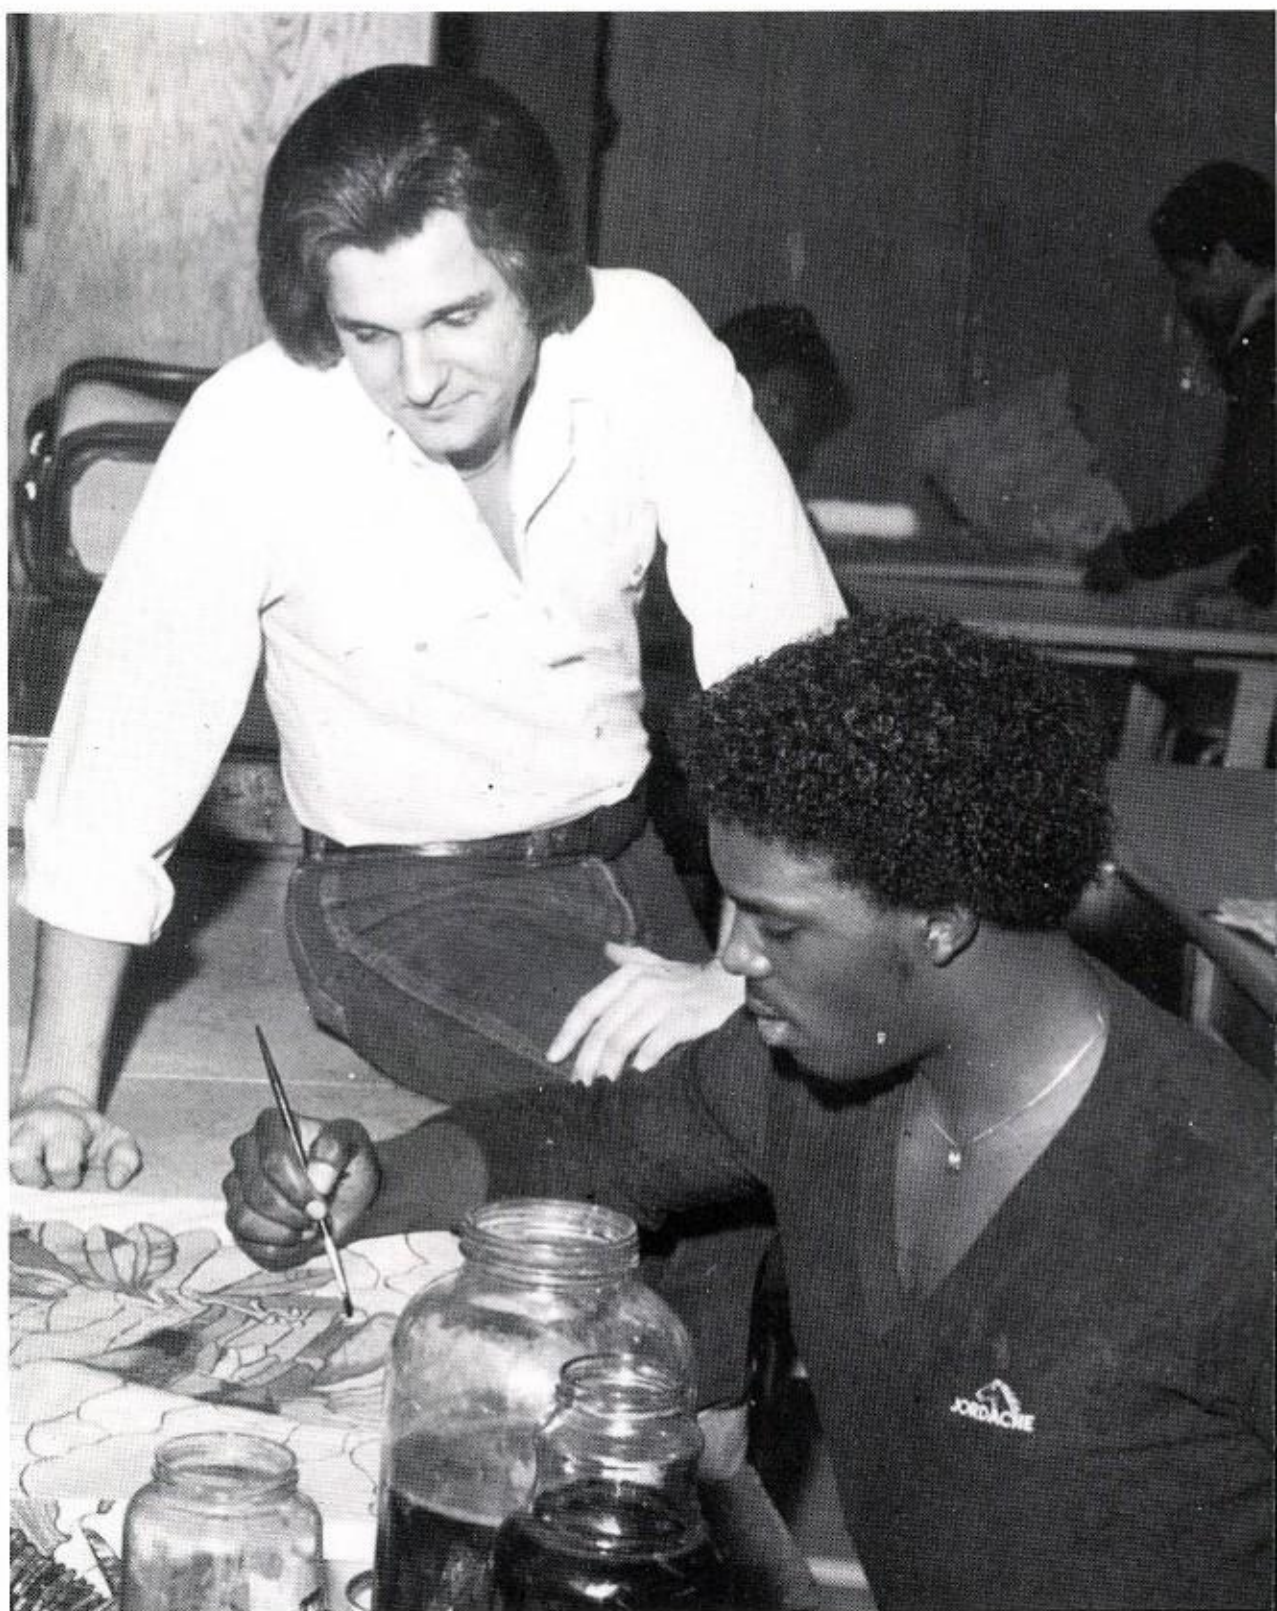

Here, Mr. Martinez explains the next day's assignment to the class.

Art Department Paints Tomorrow's Future

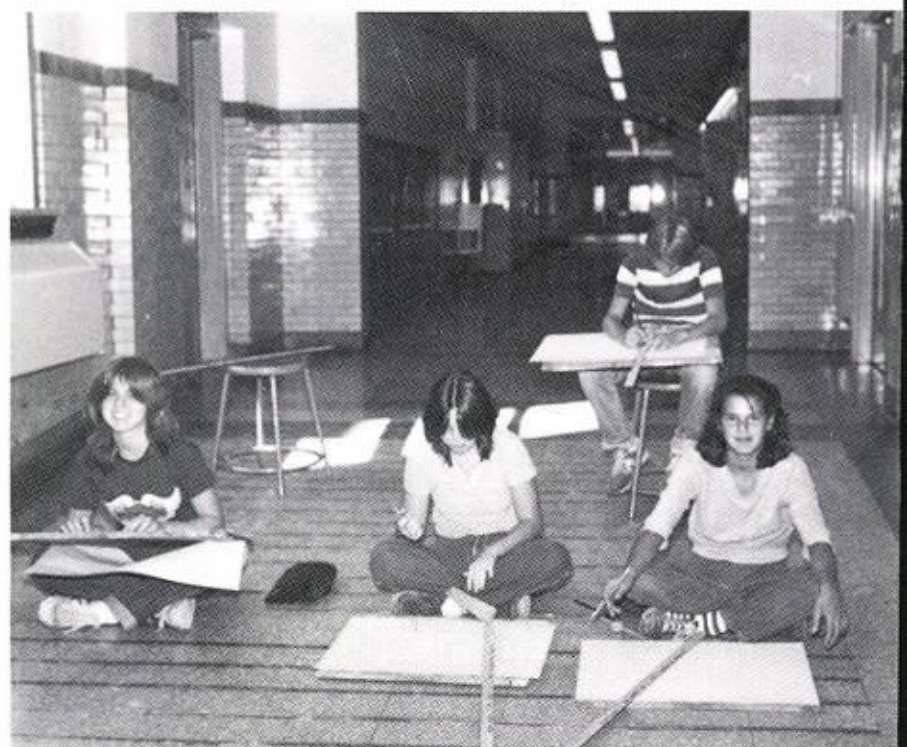

The Art department has undergone a few new changes. The teaching staff has been expanded by the addition of Mr. Fryckholm, who is a part-time art teacher. Mr. Fryckholm teaches 3 English classes and 2 art classes here at East. The other addition to the teaching staff was Mr. Margita. Mr. Margita taught previously at East for 3 years, then went to Proviso West for 8 years, and now finds himself back at Proviso East as the new department chairman. Each year some students in the art department are entered in the National Scholastic Art Contest. Last year Proviso fared very well finishing with 3 national winners, 2 medal winners, and 1 $100 Hallmark winner. The Hallmark winner's art work tours the U.S. with other student's art across the U.S. Previously, the National Scholastic Art Contest was sponsored by Wiebolt's, but Wiebolt's decided not to this year. Through Mr. Jaunsem's efforts the National Scholastic Art Contest is now sponsored by a group of big name shopping centers. This year Proviso's students were entered in the district at the Fox Valley Center. With the increased number of faculty members and the increased interest in the field of Art, the art department is destined to become one of East's more popular departments.

Music: Combining Harmony

Yes! There's a change in the music department. There are no new staff members this year in the music department. However, Mr. Kelly had been assigned for the first time to take the string classes. Now he teaches Proviso East and West and is the conductor of the Township Orchestra. Next year the department teachers and students hope the board will take action by letting students take Carnegie and receive credit. This had been the policy in all area schools for sometime.

Considering the needs of the music department, the school board is considering the purchase of new marching band uniforms for next year.

Interested community organizations and fund raising activities furnished funds for scholarships to deserving students. The scholarships are used for summer music camps or private study. For instance, the Twentieth Century Women's Club had contributed several thousand dollars through the years for Proviso East and West music departments.

The percentage of students participating in music classes has dropped significantly in the last ten to fifteen years. Some reasons for this are: there were difficulty scheduling conflicts with SDL classes for several years; work study programs cut into music class enrollment. Dr. Devick, head of music department, was quoted as saying, "The happiest group in the department each year is the group that accomplishes the most."

Communicating to the class in his own way is Mr. Kelly.

Directing the band, Mr. Skolnik is always listening for imperfections.

What's Cooking in Home Ec.?

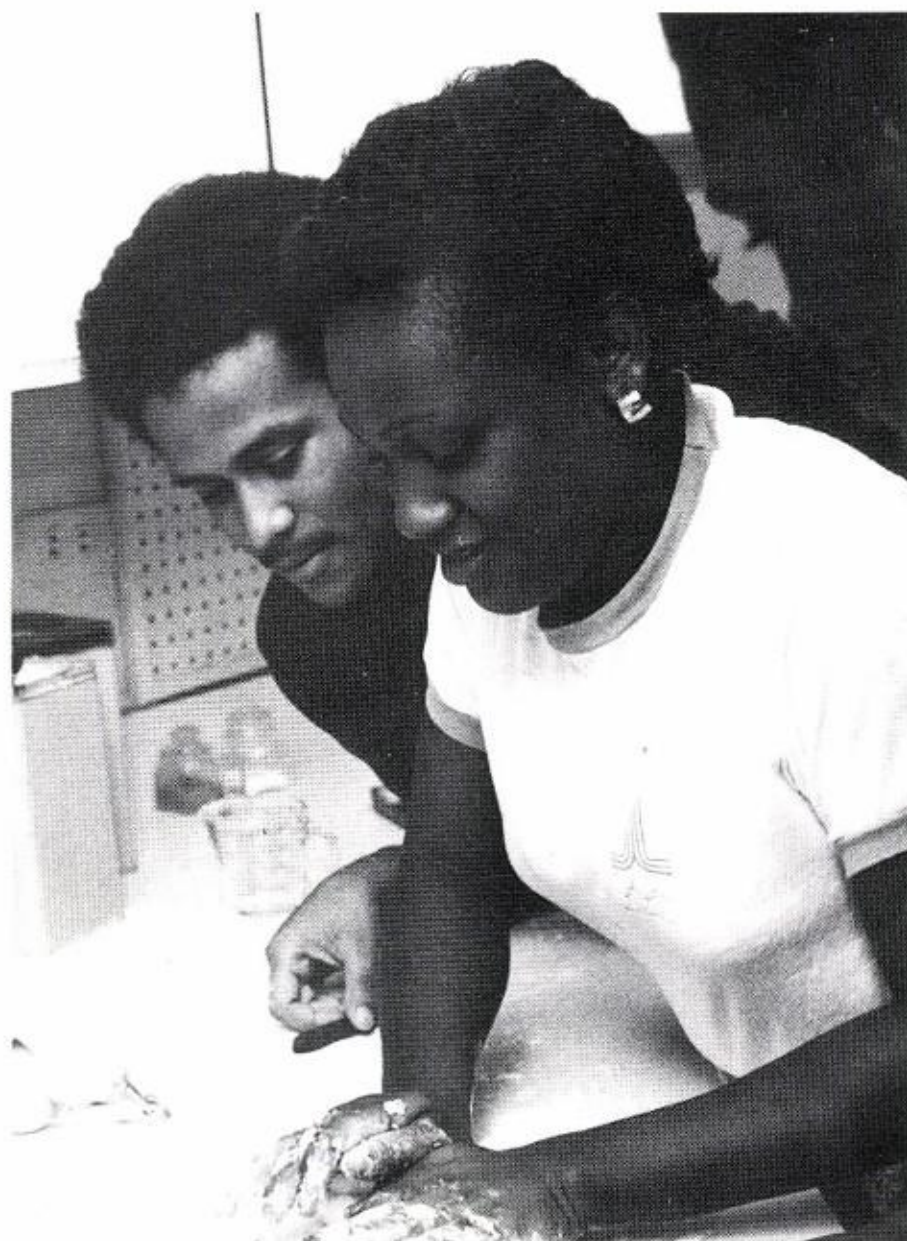

This year one of the first changes in the Home Ec. department was the appointment of a new department chairman, Mrs. Sturgis. Along with the appointment of the new chairman, the Home Ec. department experienced a couple of other changes. The curriculum changed a little by changing Family Living to a full year course. Marriage being the 1st semester and the 2nd semester Parenting. The department has been expanded by the addition of two new teachers, Mrs. Teresa Bruns and Wendy Kurczaba, who is a part-time teacher. The Home Ec. department offers many courses. Some courses offered are Foods I and II, Clothing I and II, Family Living and Hero. The enrollment of boys in the Home Ec. department had greatly increased in the area of Family Living and Home Environments. The purpose of Home Ec. courses is to develop the ability to handle responsibility in the home as well as in the world of work. Throughout the year many special activities were held in some of the classes such as, Family Meals — Thanksgiving Dinner for Administration, Clothing — Fashion Show, Child Development — pre-school lab, and in Foods a Christmas Tea. The department's goals for the future include helping students to develop lifeskills so that they are prepared for the future. As for being the new department chairman, Mrs. Sturgis said that it encompasses a great deal of responsibility and a great challenge which makes the job even more enjoyable.

Ind. Arts Makes Alterations

The Industrial Arts Department underwent a variety of changes this year. All vocational courses that ran three hours long in length and yielded two credits have been reduced to two hours and still surrender the same amount of credits. One for each hour of work. Advanced Electronics, Graphic Arts, Machine Tool, and Technical Drafting have been eliminated from the curriculum. Mr. Gablesen, department chairman explained, "These extra courses have been dropped in order for students to enroll in other vocational courses."

As inflation crept up on the nation, it has also hit this department. The cost of wood and paper nearly tripled!! Repairs on equipment have risen sky high!! . . . , explained Gablesen. He also stated that this may be the reason for a slight decline in enrollment, for all these costs are handed down to students.

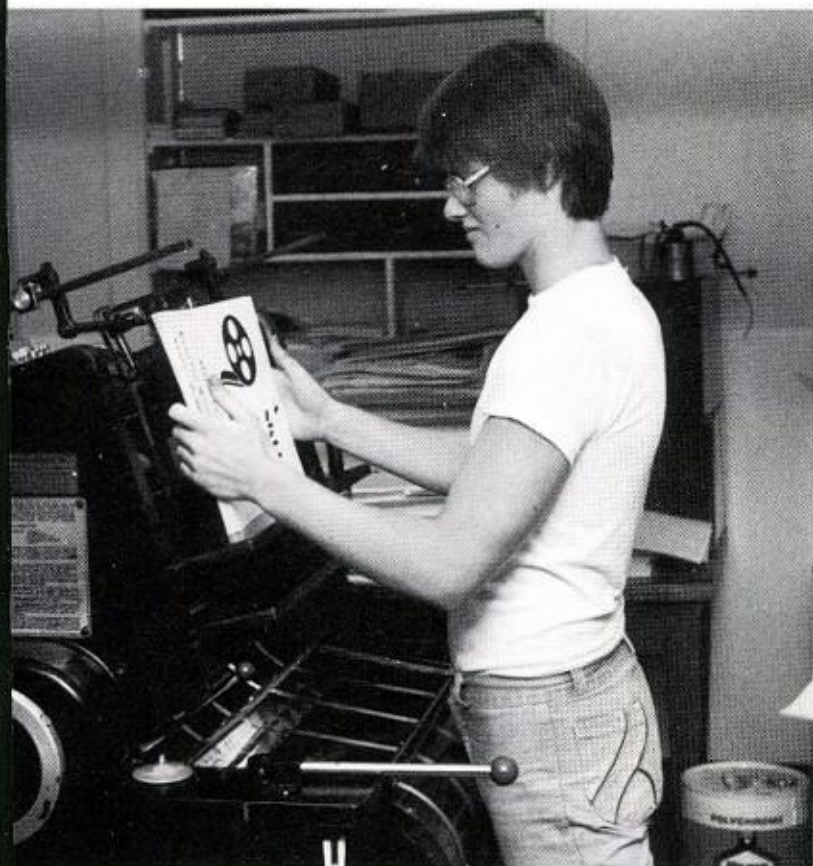

All courses offered at East are part of a vocational sequence by which students can major in a specialty area which leads into another course. If one is to follow this path, the hope of the department is to make the student employable after graduation.

Special Needs Fulfilled

The major event that took place in the Special Education Dept. this year was the four day camping trip to George Williams College Camp. It provided the students with an educational experience coupled with the social benefit of communal living. Classroom assignments are still demanded of the students during this trip. They focus on geology, lake study and weather forecasting. Nature hikes and lake investigations enrich the classroom experience. Students are also responsible in serving food and maintaining the upkeep of the lodge in which they reside in. It is the wishes of the faculty that Special Ed. not be viewed as a thing or a place. It is designed to help students with special needs. The new additions to the staff are Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. Dolesh.

Got a Problem?

Don't know where to go to college? Having trouble picking classes for next year? Do you meet graduation requirements? What type of jobs are available?

The counselors at Proviso tackle these and many more questions each and every day. The changes that took place this year made their job a little easier. The significant change was in the assignment of counselors to students.

Homerooms were alphabetized, mixing seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, for the first time. Students are no longer classified by year. Counselors were appointed students alphabetically. Now they deal with seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, all at once. Dept. chairman, Mr. Kosmal stated, "This system makes it easier for parents to communicate with the counselors. They only have to call one person in order to get information on all of their children. Identification of students is also easier on the counselor. "This makes him more efficient and better prepared. The counselors would like to remind everyone that they are here to serve the students in any way they can, in order to help them experience an enjoyable four years at Proviso.

Discussing the day's problems, Mr. Hall and Miss Bierly eat lunch.

Gym Classes Are "Shaping" Up

All in all the Physical Education Department has not experienced any major changes. This year there was only one new addition to the teaching staff, Miss Jamison. There also was one new addition made to the choice of classes. The new class that was offered was team handball. According to department chairman, Miss Gretchen Molter, the co-ed classes seemed to be running smoothly except for a few minor problems. The problems that arose in some gym classes were the size of the classes, and moving from one end of the building to the other. Although many major changes were not made in the P.E. department, a minor change was made. This year locker assignments were handed out at registration instead of in gym classes. This way gym teachers did not have to put up with the hassles that are involved. It was also found that more students would be issued locks through this procedure.

Library Nurse, and AV Provide Aid

Can you guess how many books are in the library? Well, there are 24,500 books. 99% of the books are purchased and others are donated. When Dr. Holt, superintendent, retired in June, he donated his old educational books. There are three main reasons for books being taken off the library shelf: first they are very old, second the information is out dated, and last new additions are better. The old books are offered free of charge to students but mostly to faculty members. There were about $6.50 per student spent on buying new materials and books for the library. The head, Mr. Baburek, said, "Most of the credit should be given to the student assistants, because they do much of the work in the library."

This year the Nurse department has a new assistant, Ms. Joyce Moss. She is a registered nurse and a graduate of DePaul University. There were about four student assistants who were there most of the time. Each day Ms. Rita Arrow, the head of the nurse department, along with the assistant, treated about 100 students a day. The most common complaints were headaches and stomach pains. This year the state law had required that students must be immunized or they could not register for school. This was required October 15, 1979.

This was Ms. Russell's first year being the director of Audio Visual. Last year she taught all English classes but this year A.V. was added to her agenda. The class of '80 gave money to A.V. to purchase equipment such as a copy stand with lights and a drying bag for film. In addition, A.V. has purchased five new 16mm projectors, five new overhead projectors, and new carts. There were 16 student members on roll to be in A.V. Other students often stop by and work. The main problems in showing movies in the auditorium were the house sound system and the audience behavior. Some of the popular films shown in the auditorium were Hero At Large and The Wiz.

Looking up information, Ms. Lewis uses the library's Readers Guide.

In August of 1980, Proviso area high schoolers noticed that an extended summer vacation might be possible. Proviso teachers never actually declared a strike, or even threatened one, in so many words. But things were tense. Words weren't needed to convey the message that Proviso's faculty wasn't going to put up with any more stalling. It seems that the teachers had reason to be uptight. They had been negotiating for over three months with still no results. Actually, their contract had only ended in mid-July of 1980, but they had submitted their proposal for a new contract in November of 1979.

Eventually, the teachers gained a pay increase, a better seniority clause, dental insurance, and a few other key items that finally persuaded them to accept the contract presented by the administration. The teachers gave some things up, and the administration had given in a little too. In the end, this year's contract was voted in by over 90%. The fact remains though, that negotiations ran far into August and teachers were pushed dangerously close to strike.

Hopefully, things will work out better next time. The present contract will last two years, and will be valid until July of 1982. The president of the teachers' union, Mr. Follmer, says that the teachers have already begun writing their contract for 1982, and will submit it to the administration by November of 1981. That means that negotiations will probably begin around April of 1982. Will the same thing that happened this year happen then? Will the teachers go a step further, and actually strike? It seems ridiculous to think that an agreement might not be reached in four months of negotiating. But if it's happened before, it can happen again.

of Helping Students

Proviso East is not just a place used to fill students' heads with enough material to get a diploma from high school. It does accomplish that, but it also helps teenagers grow, mature, and get their minds made up about their future.

Proviso's faculty works hard to get positive results from their pupils. By sponsoring clubs, coaching, teaching, and giving a little support or advice to someone who wants it, the faculty gives various benefits to their students. Besides giving the obvious eight hours of work at school, teachers give much of their free time. They of course must correct themes, tests, and homework papers. Anything that a teacher assigns to his or her students, he must correct. These things are all required of teachers. Then there are other tasks that many teachers choose to take on of their own free will. Teachers who take on coaching positions give up many Saturdays and after school hours with their team. Teachers that sponsor clubs, such as Speech Team, Pageant, or school services such as Audio Visual or the Library, put in much extra time also.

Perhaps a student can think of this the next time he or she is complaining that the teachers really dish out the work but never to any themselves. Whether students realize it or not, many teachers work harder than a good majority of the students.

A Day In the Theatre

The smell of the greasepaint, the roar of the crowd, once it's in a man, it never leaves him.

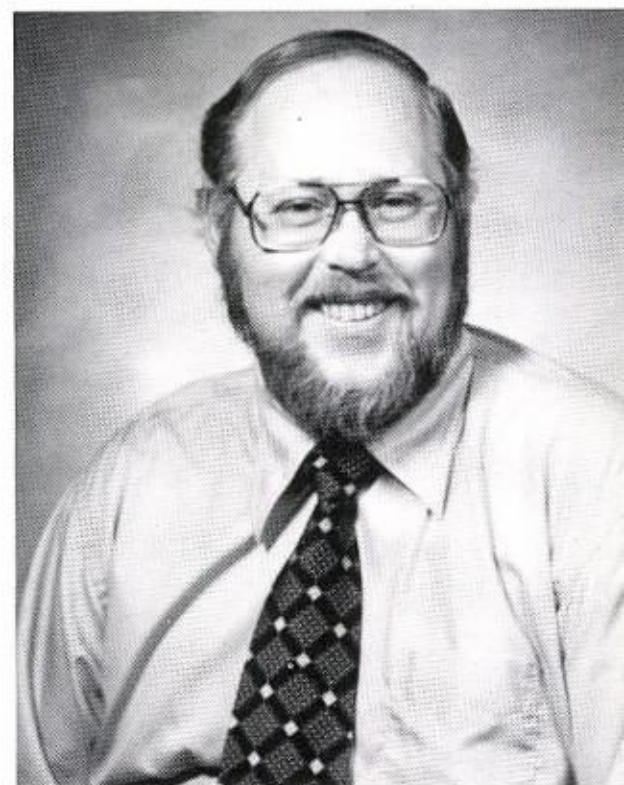

More than just this love for theater, Mr. John Toth has a love for teaching. For as long as he can remember, Mr. Toth has always wanted to teach. Our own resident theater expert is a man of many varied talents and accomplishments. He has an undergraduate degree in Social Studies and a minor in Speech and is a Certified Library Scientist. For nine years he worked as a high school librarian, five years in Whiting, Indiana and four years in Munster, Indiana, along with directing many extracurricular activities.

In the Fall of 1971, Mr. Toth came to Proviso East. During his ten years here Mr. Toth has been Thespian sponsor, Individual Events coordinator for the Speech Team as well as coach, Contest Play and Fall Play director, Madrigal Dinner co-director, and the Frosh Soph Tennis coach. He feels that keeping busy keeps you mentally and physically fit and, by all means, Mr. Toth is proof of that.

Mr. Toth's interests are not limited only to Proviso, though. He is always working with theater in one way or another, whether it is directing or performing. He has acted in limitless plays including "Guys and Dolls," and "The Odd Couple" in Indiana, "Fiddler on the Roof," for Tempo Players, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "Barefoot in the Park" and most recently, "Mr. Scrooge's Christmas" in Bolinabrook. All of this proves Mr. Toth to be a very active and versatile performer.

Tennis is another activity Mr. Toth enjoys. Along with being an expert player himself, he is also a certified umpire for the United States Tennis Association. Being a professional umpire gives him a chance to umpire professional games and this year Mr. Toth certainly umpired the professionals. At the Chicago Challenge of Champions Tennis Tournament, he umpired games that included John McEnroe and Vita Gerulaitis. This thrill for him mounted when he umpired the semifinals game between John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors. Also he umpired at the Avon Tennis Championship held in Chicago. After all this Mr. Toth says that his main goal as an umpire is to work at the U.S. Open within five years.

(Above) Mr. Toth is very happy with teacher. He passes on to his students the things that he knows and loves, drama and tennis.

All in all, Mr. Toth is extremely happy with how his life is turning out. He said that after his first nine years of teaching he wasn't too sure that teaching was right for him. He looked around for other jobs, but when he came to Proviso it was a sort of rebirth for him. It gave him new life and so he decided he'd stick to it. Next year is his 20th year teaching and he feels good with what he's doing. Mr. Toth says, "In high school, our speech team had become the State Champs and I didn't hear about it until the next year. I feel good that I'm affecting kids and hope that I can direct them in the right path." And as for his encouraging words to one and all, "Break-a-Leg!"

Do, Re, Me, Fa, Salotti

Tchaikovsky, Schubert, Salotti, Beethoven and Bach. What do these names all have in common? They all belong to great musical virtuosos. But which name truly stands out among the rest? Daniel Salotti, because he is Proviso's own musical genius.

Mr. Salotti has a true musical background. When he was in college, he knew he wanted to teach music, but he didn't know he would be teaching choral music. He had wanted instrumental music, but he didn't know how to play any instrument, so the instructor put him in choral music. This was at Roosevelt University in Chicago. He graduated in June, 1969 with a bachelor's degree, and as he was looking for a job, he enrolled to go for his master's degree. In the Fall he got a job in District 89 and worked there for a year before starting at Proviso in 1970. Then, in the Summer of 1971, he finished his masters' degree. While at Proviso, Mr. Salotti has started a tradition with the Annual Madrigal Dinner. He had heard of the Madrigal Dinner and decided to look into it. He went and watched various ones and he decided he should start one. The first Proviso Madrigal Dinner was in 1973 and ever since they have been presented with beautiful singing, a wonderful atmosphere and a feeling that time has been reversed to the period of Lords and Ladies. Mr. Salotti's knowledge of the Madrigal Dinner has brought him much recognition. In 1977 and 1978, he had two articles about the Madrigal Dinner published in the American Choral Review, and he had been asked to teach a course at Roosevelt College.

Mr. Salotti's knowledge of the Madrigal Dinner was also noticed by Triton College. Two years ago he was asked to be the consultant and artistic coordinator for their first Madrigal Dinner. This year, he was the dramatic director and Choreographer, and he had a ball. Since 1973, he has been conducting the Triton Touring Choir. With them he has done much travelling, which he loves. They went to Europe four times, three times to Mexico and once to Hawaii. Also, for Triton, Mr. Salotti directed the first Triton College Do-It-Yourself Messiah. The basic idea for it was his and he got it initiated.

Outside of school, he has conducted community theater orchestras for Tempo Players and Entertainment Unlimited. Also, Mr. Salotti is a one time director of the Chicago All City Chorus.

He was a summer replacement for the director and was offered a permanent job, but he turned them down.

Mr. Salotti's credits go much farther than the presenting of music. He has written a few musical compositions. One was titled "Threnody: A Canticle for Doomed Youth." He also put three Emily Dickinson poems to music.

Asked what was his favorite type of music? He said he liked all music, except Country and Western, because it's dull, and Punk Rock, because he just doesn't understand it. His favorites are classical and disco and he loves boogie and folk music also.

Besides music, though, Mr. Salotti does have other interests. He loves travelling and the water, and would like to have his own ship to go sailing. He also has dreams of someday learning to fly a plane or to sky dive, and he would love to write a book. Looking at all of Mr. Salotti's accomplishments, there is no doubt that he can do most anything.

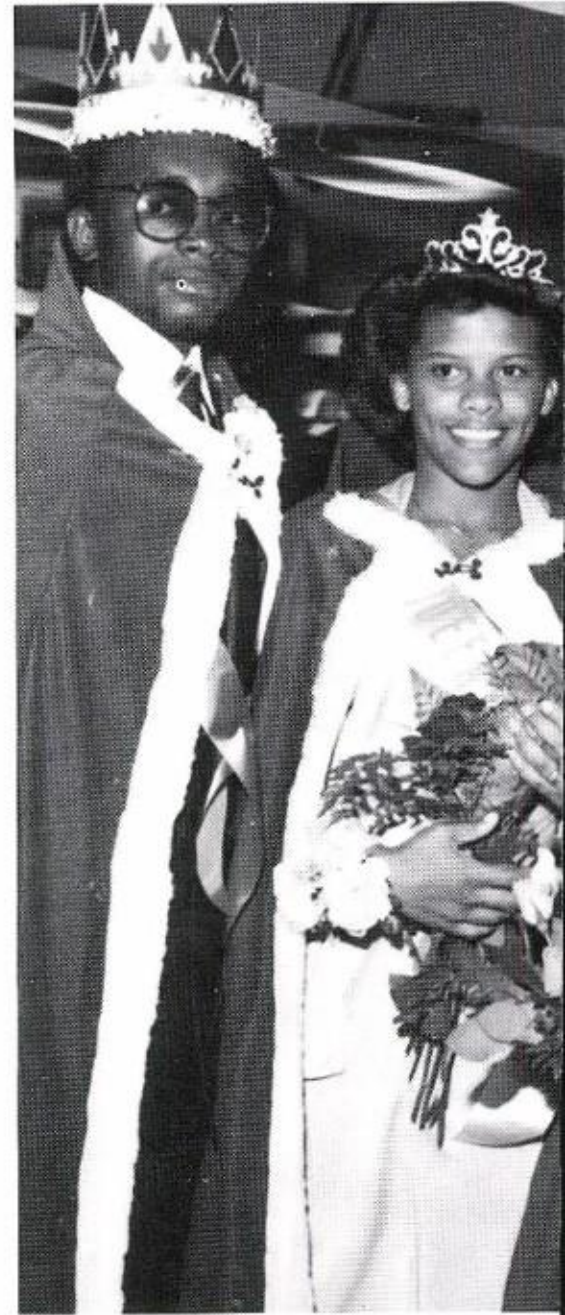

Salotti's first love is music, but he also loves writing and travelling.

Imagination sparked the minds of the Senior Advisory Board as they constructed their class float for Homecoming. In spite of the hard work that went into building the float, whose theme was "We Don't Need A Hand to Beat the RB Empire," the Freshman float took all. A small controversy arose over the judging of the floats, but to no avail. Things remained the same. However, because of the problems concerning the rules and regulations of the judging, new guidelines were laid out for the judges and the entries to be followed in future Homecoming Parades.

With the rise of inflation, Prom tickets were much higher this year. Nevertheless, the fund raising activities proved to be a great aid in cutting the price. These activities included a bake sale, the selling of key chains, t-shirts, a car wash, and Christmas stockings. There was also a Halloween Dance and a Senior dinner with the Booster Club. Class officers were President — Marsha Eaglin, Vice President — Donna Kubis, Treasurer — Sheila Esco, and Secretary — Toni Gray. Each did a fine job in organizing the Senior Class and making 1981 a year to remember.

Senior year, although some of us might not want to admit it, is both a sad and reflective time in our lives where we must say good-bye to a period we shall never be able to return to again. Farewell to a "security blanket" that has gently covered us for four years. It is both a beginning and an end, and with mixed emotions, bountiful memories, laughter, and tears, each of us takes one last look at yesterday before facing the challenges of tomorrow. None of us can forget that fateful day four years ago, when as scared freshmen, we walked the long halls of Proviso. So many different faces to encounter, so many challenges to meet. We were afraid, yet excited. This was to be our new "second home" for the next four years, and from day number one each of us would begin to grow as individuals each in their own way.

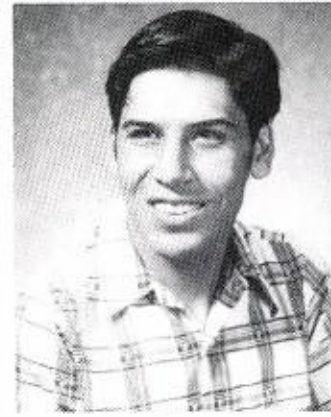

Soon demerits, truant officers, hall passes, and room 180, became all too familiar. The routine had begun to set in. We experienced dances, plays, athletic events, and many other school activities, each in our own way. Time somehow seemed to be flying by and none of us could stop it. In a blink of an eye, four years had suddenly turned in to two, and adulthood and its responsibilities were right around the corner.

When we became juniors, so many things started happening at once. Class rings, the constitution test, and even a thing called "Prom" were topics of conversation. Now we were the ones giggling at the lost freshmen, we had now grown very accustomed to Proviso, and the daily occurrences were still exciting, but they were commonplace to most of us.

Then, in what seemed to be a small moment in time, we were finally the "big seniors" who would "rule the school." The class of '81" was now having to look ahead to a work outside of Proviso's walls, to college, work, and possibly marriage, and a life of our own. Soon gone would be the 8:20 bell, morning announcements, and the famous food fights in the cafeteria. There would be no more worry about getting caught ditching a class or smoking in the bathrooms. We all wonder at one time or another, how well we will handle all this new found freedom.

It's almost over now. Soon the diplomas will be placed in our hands as a symbol of our achievements at Proviso. It will be a memory now that will hold a special place in our lives forever. We now say "good-bye" to Proviso and "hello" to the future, but always remembering the many wonderful things it taught us on our road to adulthood.

So long Proviso — Thanks for the memories!

Juniors

Junior Float Takes Second

With a lot of hard work and effort, the junior class put approximately 44 hours into their second place homecoming float. Miss Sandra Fredrickson (the junior class advisor) said, "I thought our float was very nice and creative, never having built a float before." A lot of problems occurred while making the float. Two major problems were transportation for the students and finding a place to actually build the float.

The Advisory Board does more than just build homecoming floats. They have various fund raising projects, a tee shirt sale and many more exciting events. Advisory Board also plans for the upcoming class of 82 senior prom.

This year Charlotte Grimes and Andre Jordan represented the junior class in the homecoming court. Good luck to you both in next year's election.

The Advisory Board Staff would like to give special thanks to the entire football team for their help and support.

SOPHOMORES

On hands and knees, a few of the advisory board members construct their sophomore float.

Ten long-hard days were needed to build the sophomores' float entitled: Pirates Strike Back. The advisory board began to put the pieces together for the float about October 8 until 10:30 P.M. October 17. Donna Henderson and Felicia Ellis were just a few of the active members on the sophomore advisory board. There were many contributors. About two days before the float was completely finished, some of the football players came to lend a hand. Ms. King, the sophomores' advisor, said, "The sophomores that worked made the decisions . . . they were responsible students and I had little to say." Ms. King thought the reason their float didn't win was because it did not have enough to do with the theme of the homecoming. You might wonder who decides on the design of the float. Well, about a month before the float was constructed many people got together their ideas and designs. After the different ideas were narrowed down the best design was voted in. The sophomore advisory board does many things besides building floats for the homecoming. They had many fund raising activities such as selling luck-o-grams, valentine grams, and bake sales. The money they raised was to help provide for their 1983 prom.

The Freshman Advisory Board triumphed over all this homecoming, by winning first place in the float competition. Mrs. Wendy Donald, sponsor, exclaimed that the goal of all the members was to win and that's exactly what they did. She explained money had been a big problem for these newcomers, so a car was decorated instead of a trailer. This dedicated group of people held elections for officers in the Fall. Dorshell Traylor was elected President, along with Desiree Webb as Vice-President. Tausha Trent had been voted Secretary and Zelneta Vernell, Treasurer. Several fund raising activities, such as selling Christmas ornaments were planned in order to raise enough money to get a head start on four great years at Proviso.

Long hours of hard work are put in by Kathy Antos, Dorshell Traylor, and Mrs. Donald.

The library is often a place to study, however, Maria Alverado and Yolanda Barret show it's a place to catch up on all the news.

Hearts and Flowers

Playing his cards right, Eric Sims became this year's "King of Hearts."

Love can happen anywhere you are, but when it's at a Sweetheart Dance, it can be even better. This year, many "brave" girls had the opportunity to ask the guy they wanted to go with. For some it ended in disappointment, but for others it was a night to remember.

Held in Memorial Hall, this year's Sweetheart Dance was a big success. With the help of the Junior and Senior Advisory Board members, red and white streamers and balloons decorated the gym in the Valentine spirit.

Also on hand was our own Rodney Walker. Rodney was D.J. for the night of the dance, taking requests and dancing along with the crowd. Disco, Rock, and even a little punk filled the gym with music that made you want to dance.

At the dance, our 1981 King of Hearts was named. After a close race for second was decided, the announcement came. Eric Sims had taken first place and Bruce Baker and Ernest Ashford were the runners-up. Eric was happy and a little surprised. He had heard he won a few days before, but didn't quite believe it until the announcement was made at the Dance.

Using one of the decorations from the Dance Joclyn Court's escort asks her to be his valentine.

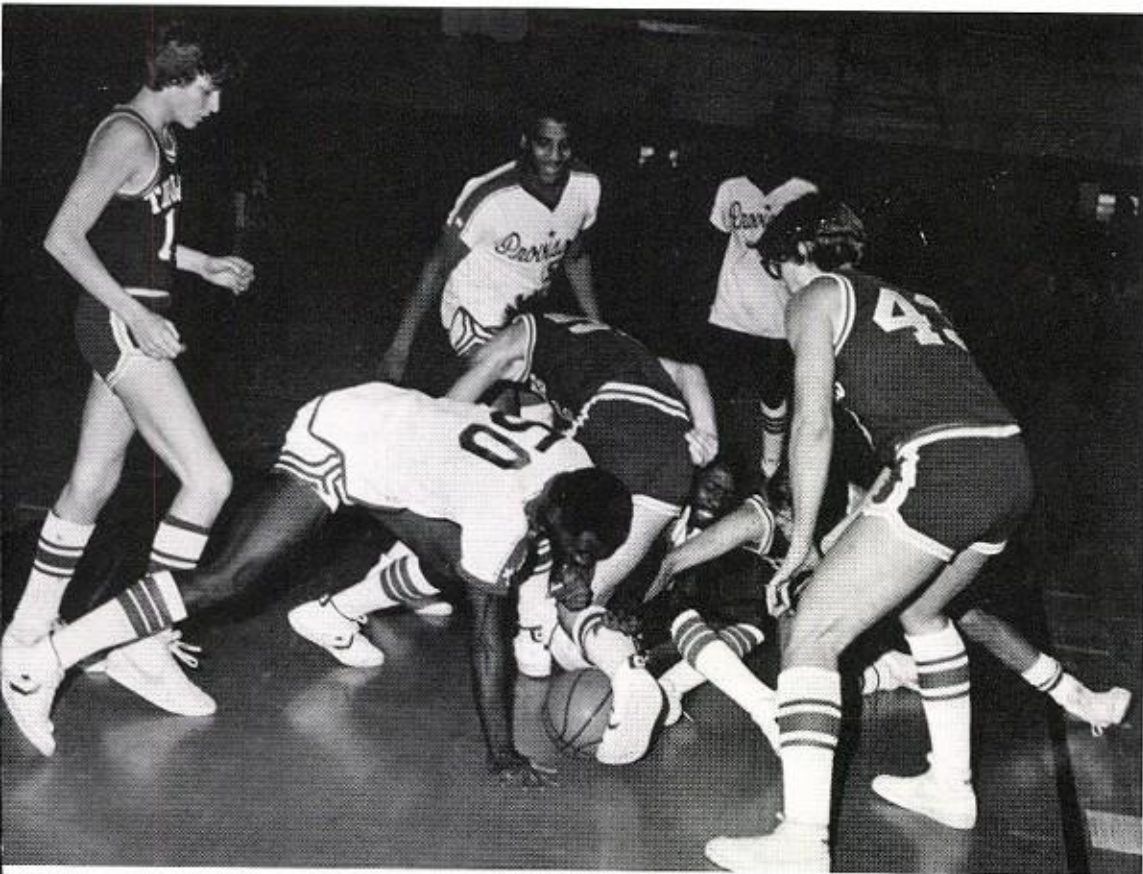

Finding a spot away from the crowd for a moment alone together is Diane Hardin and her date Carl Puccio.

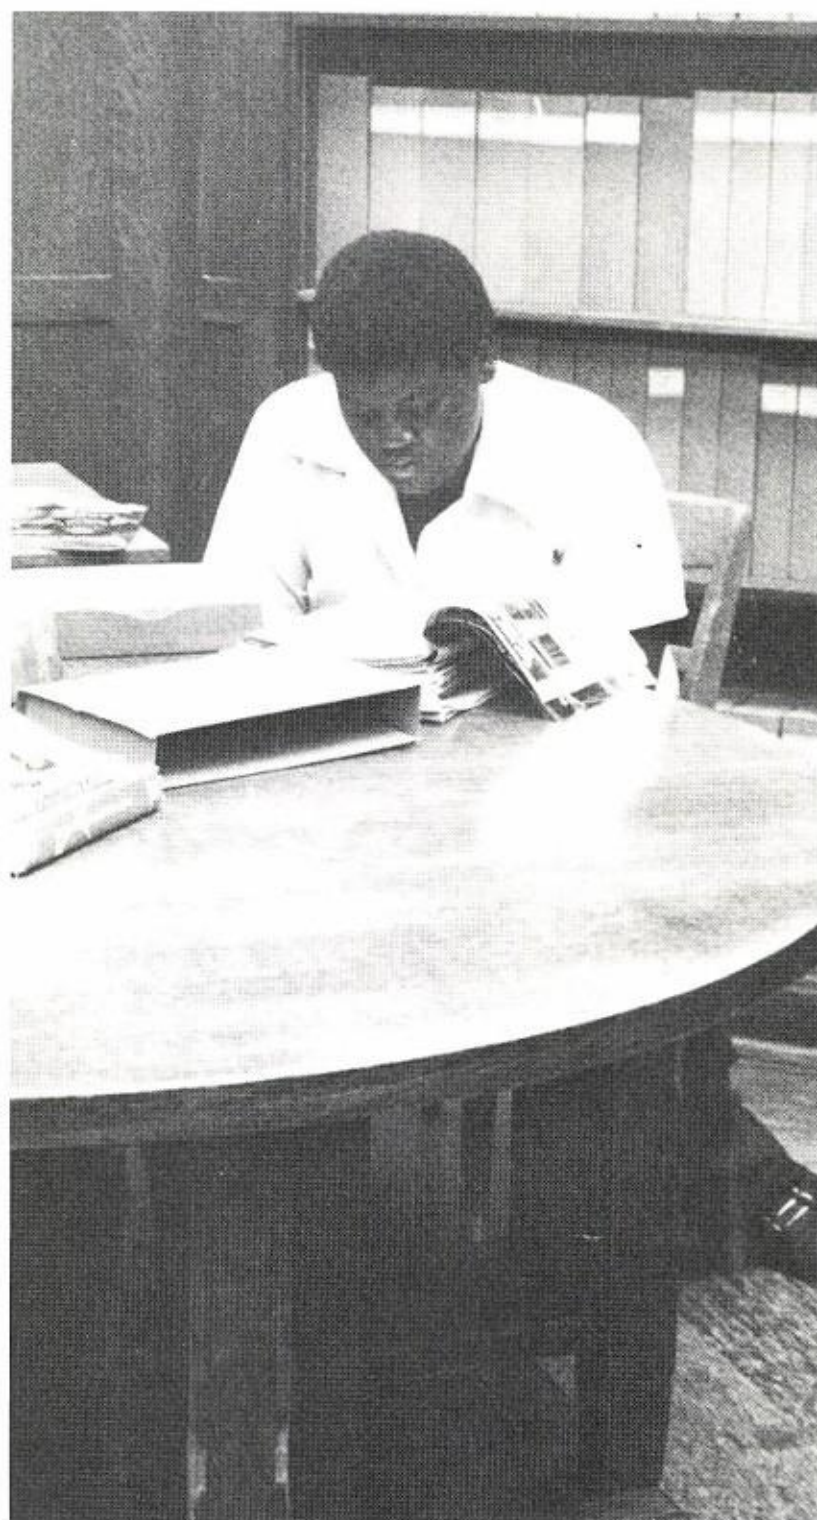

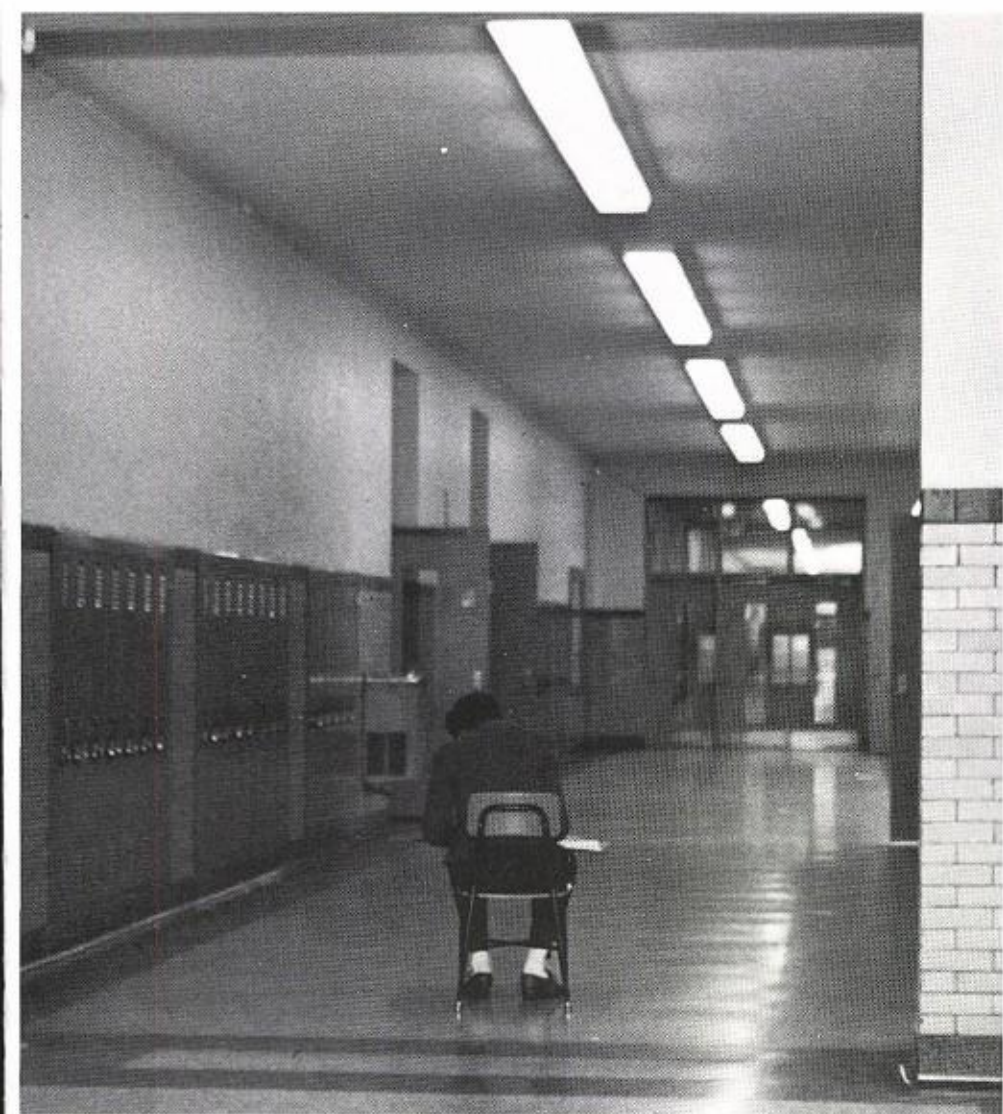

This year's "backwards" dance had the girls playing the man's part as Mark Gorrey gets pinned.

We've Got the Spirit!

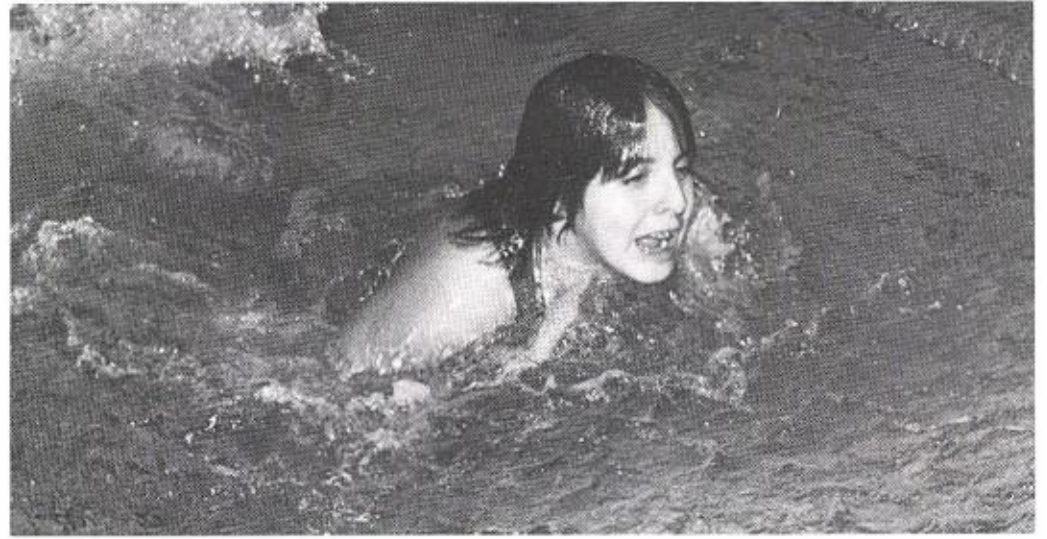

To Be by Himself

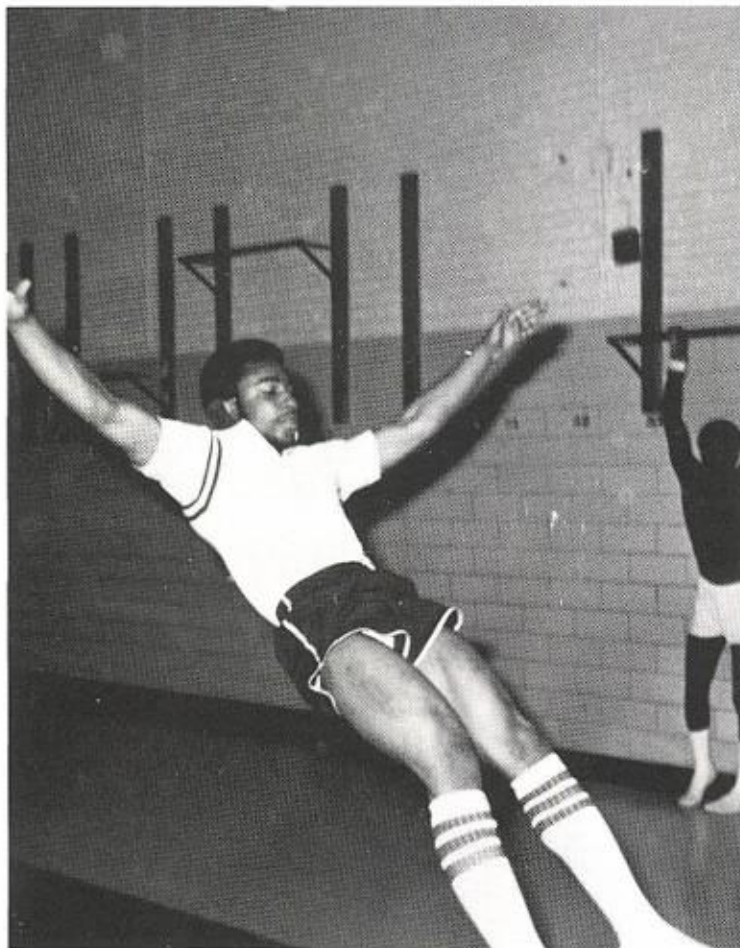

Showing his team how its done is Coach Terry Ryser.

Showing her best form, Heidi Cuesta strives for record time.

Doing the final move in a routine, Steve Gilbert shows his great ability.

Giving it a little extra is Pam Preyer.

Striving for the perfect angle to make his shot.

Success is Senior Dave Nauls.

With determination, Senior Donna Kubis sets up for a fantastic spike.

Watching the ball carefully, Senior Roy Manson makes an excellent forearm shot.

Succeeding in making this putt, Frank Bruno shows the ability to concentrate.

Patience
To my best friend
seems a student ever.
You are a gentleman - sense of humor and are very good natured for your age. It was a pleasure to be your teacher - I hope I have you again

Sincerely,
Mr. Lill
